Comment on the success of your event/project and describe the benefits for those involved:

(Please provide photo documentation of project undertaken)

Attached is a pdf version of the book, which was covered and bound before being sent out.

The student writing booklets are the first time our students have seen their own writing in print. They are not the kind of people who had their writing published in the school magazine. Because of this the booklets are a source of pride and encouragement, creating a sense of self-worth and achievement. The booklets are also able to be used as early reading material for other students. Easy-to-read adult interest material is hard to source and the booklets are ideal for this.

How did your project contribute to the community's wellbeing (ie social, economic, environmental and/or cultural wellbeing) (See overleaf) Our project contributes to community social wellbeing and individual economic wellbeing.

The book and resources contribute to our ability to be able to provide our service effectively. Our service provides to the community's wellbeing Most of our students are parents who want to help their children at school, and by helping the parent, the whole family has improved access to education and the children's chances of educational success are greatly enhanced, leading to greater employment opportunities and breaking the cycle of benefit dependency.

Saleyards

I met Dad out at the run off, and I had the sheep locked up in the pen ready when he arrived, and we loaded up 8 of the fattest sheep and took them to town - and two Wally Smiths - and after unloading them we went off to the sale yards. We looked around and ended up buying 10 more older lambs and took them home.

The next day, today, I met Dad at Farmlands and I jumped in with him, off to the saleyards to buy some cattle. So, I ended up bidding on some scruffy steers and got them for $2.65 a kilo. About 34 in total.

This is the first time I have done everything for myself.

Dolphins

As a little girl I always loved dolphins. I don't know why. Over the years I have collected different dolphin things like soft toys, jewellery, post cards and ornaments. My ultimate dream one day is to go swimming with dolphins.

At the age of 21 I got a dolphin tattoo on my ankle.

It did not turn out the way I wanted it to so one day I will save up enough money to get it fixed up and made to look how I want it to.

School or Home?

There are different ways of teaching our children for their development. We can teach either at home or at school. In this essay I am explaining why teaching children at school is better than teaching them at home.

One of the advantages of teaching children at home is one-to-one teaching, where students will get an opportunity to learn individually. That would not be possible at school. There is no risk of transfer of communicable disease from other students at home. And the environment of home is more hygienic than at school.

On the other hand, there are several advantages of teaching children at school as well. In school, they can learn from teachers as well as from friends. They can meet friends.

Funny Game

I used to go to the kindy around the corner from Holeproof. When Dad came to pick us up, he used to see mum walking in the middle of the driveway and he would drive down and put his foot on the brake so he just missed mum by a smidgen. He used to play around and pretend to run mum over at home too. It was a game they both played together. I was told he used to do this all the time. Another game was mum hanging washing on the line and Dad's playing Speedway rider. Riding his motorbike on the back lawn throwing the bike sideways and missing mum by a fraction.

My New Country

It was a big and brave decision I made to leave my country and set up a new life in Auckland, the place that I'd never known before. I just got information about this country from the books I read and from my friends.

As you know, starting a new life in a new country is not easy, with a different culture and language and also the difficulties of finding a job. I have two children. They are in secondary and primary school. They also have trouble with English and I remembered they cried on the first day they went to school as they didn't understand what the teachers said. They felt nervous and stressed. After six months, they adapted to the new situation and they are happy to study in Auckland.

When my daughter finished intermediate school she even got a high achievement award, and about two weeks ago the school sent her to the Casio Mathex Competition. It made me so proud of her. My son also enjoyed joining the choir and doing a lot of sports at school.

My husband also got a job and finally after ten months in Auckland, with my coach's help giving me a very good recommendation, I found a good job.

Billy

When I was about ten years old, I had a cat called Billy. He was black and white and skinny looking. He had a real tomcat face and a pointy tail. For a cat, he had a real good personality and I liked that.

One of the things he would do was to jump on the table or bench and when you got him off, he would try to get back up. This would upset my mother. The only food he would eat was fresh meat and you had to cut it big. Otherwise he would not eat it.

Unfortunately, he got hit by a car and died and that was a sad day.

My Uncle Visits Us From America

My uncle is called Charlie. He stays with us when he comes to New Zealand. He usually cooks for us every day. Most of the time he likes baking cakes. He usually drinks grog every day with my father. He tells me to set the table every day. He is going back to America this afternoon. He might come back maybe June or July. When he was in Fiji, he bought some cashew nuts and he buys some Twisties when he comes to New Zealand. Charlie is saying that he misses us very much.

Ursula is Charlie's sister. She lives in Fiji with her family. She is an auntie now. She likes baking cakes and she likes selling cakes to the shops. She sold one cake for $25. I hope she might come to stay with us. Charlie told me that I was a helpful girl when I was at home. Uncle Charlie has one son and one daughter. She is about 22 years old and the son is about 21 years old now. My uncle might see us again. We went to the airport to drop off Uncle Charlie. I don't know what time he left us. He usually comes to live with us for 4 months and we go shopping anywhere like Foodtown or the Warehouse.

Bar Smoke a Risk for Workers

To whom it may concern

I am writing to tell you my opinion. I think that smoking should be banned in restaurants and bars, from my point of view of being a chef and in the hospitality industry. I refrain, myself, from sitting around people who smoke. I think it is disgusting, horrible, unhealthy and it makes me feel uncomfortable and sick.

I feel that people should be considerate to others and give them a choice of places where to go to enjoy the pleasure of fresh air or cool down. I think that smokers should think of others who are non-smokers and respect them as individuals in this society.

I Passed My Very High Frequency Marine Radio Exam

I went to Auckland, to see my Auntie, and on the way up, I stopped at Papakura to sit my VHF Marine radio exam.

A VHF marine radio is what you use, when you are out in your boat, on the water, to talk to the coastguard, or other boats, if there is an emergency. In an emergency, you use channel 16, to ask for help. You say "MAYDAY, MAYDAY, MAYDAY," and then you have to give your boat name, call sign, and nature of the emergency, location, number of people on board, and assistance required.

There are two types of marine radio, a handheld, and a fixed mount. The fixed mount is what you have in your boat, or at home as a base station. The hand held is what you use if you don't have a fixed mount, it's a portable radio.

The coastguard station is a 24 hour, monitored facility located right near the water. As boats come in and go out, they have to let the coastguard know how long they're going to be out for, and how far out to sea they'll be going as well. Also, the coastguard broadcasts marine weather warnings. They use a base radio, that monitors various marine channels, channel 16 for distress calls, channel 21 for constant weather monitoring, channel 80 and 83 for duplex communication with sea traffic (boats). There are a lot more channels, and only some are listed here.

Duplex channels operate through a repeater, located on top of a hill, all boats can operate on duplex, meaning you talk on one frequency, and receive on another. On simplex channels, you can just talk from radio to radio without a repeater.

Marine radios are useful tools, because if your cellphone goes flat, or if you drop it in the water, by accident, you always have some form of communication, in case of an emergency.

This is all my own work.

Alex

Abby

Once upon a time along time ago their was a little girl called Abby. Abby had been told time and time again not to go down the end of the road by the forest.

Now, one day Abby was playing on her driveway and her mum was inside doing same work on the computer. One of Abby's toys rolled all the way down the driveway. Abby ran to save it before it went onto the road. She got to it just in time. Abby looked over at the forest. She knew she was not allowed down there, but Abby had been down there before and she thought she was fine. So Abby went down the end of the road and into the forest. Abby saw a butterfly. She followed it deep into the forest. Abby stop and looked around and saw smoke. She went towards it. She came to a little old house so she went up and knocked on the door. By this time Abby was lost and hungry. An old lady came to the door. Abby was crying and told the old lady she was lost. The lady said for her to come in and have something to eat. Abby ask if, after she had something to eat, if the lady would take her home? The lady agreed that would be a good idea, so the old lady went and made her something to eat.

By this time a man came home to the house. Abby asked who he was. The old lady said it was her partner. The old lady went into another room with the man but Abby couldn't hear what they were saying. The old lady then came out of the room and said to Abby, "Should we take you home now?" Abby was very happy to be going home. She missed her mum. "OK, let's hop into the car and take you back to your Mum's!" So Abby hopped into the car, but the man drove. Abby didn't think that anything would go wrong. They had been driving for a long time and Abby was going to sleep. When she woke up she was in a dark room. It didn't look like her room. Abby went to the door but it was locked. Abby started to cry. She knew this wasn't right. She went and sat on the bed, looked around for a way out, but this room had no windows. Abby sat on the bed and it felt like days before someone came into the room. When the old lady came into the room, she brought some food for Abby.

Abby thought to herself that she had to get out of there but didn't want them to get mad at her or hurt her in any way. It had been two weeks since she went missing and Abby had been waiting for the right time to get away. One night Abby couldn't get to sleep so she looked around the room for a way out. She came across a loose floorboard and she pulled and pulled until it popped up, but it made a loud noise and she heard footsteps so she placed a little rug over it and hopped back into bed. A man came in to check on her and thought she was asleep. He left the room and went back to bed. Abby stayed in bed for about an hour and then got up and went back to the loose floorboard. Up it came and under it was a little box. She opened a box and inside it was a key and a piece of paper. On the piece of paper was a drawing of the room with a secret door Abby looked at the piece of paper then looked at the room she was in. To her they looked the same so she went to where the secret door was and there was an old set of drawers over it she moved the drawers very quietly and there was the door. She used the key because the door was locked. It worked - with a bit of force the door opened. It was very dark inside but she had a candle that was lit. She went into the tunnel. It was dark and dirty but Abby just wanted to get out of there. The tunnel was very long and she finally saw the end of the tunnel. The moon was shining very bright and her candle went out but she could see now because Abby was at the end. The tunnel came out at the end of a road so she ran and ran until she came to a car coming down the road. She hoped that the people in the car would help her and not hurt her. The people in the car were very nice and took her to the police station. The police station helped her find her Mum and the mean people who took her away from her Mum. Abby was so happy to be at home with her Mum and she listened to what her Mum said and never left the house without her Mum knowing.

Celebrated Māori author makes surprise Word Café appearance

Published on July 6, 2017

Imagine your surprise when the "dream" guest who's declined an invitation to your event turns up after all – and from miles away.

Organisers' jaws dropped last weekend at Raglan's biennial Word Café when pioneering Māori novelist Witi Ihimaera paid an unexpected visit to the Saturday morning sessions at Raglan Town Hall.

"I just came along for the ride," he told an intrigued audience at the start of the second session as he made an impromptu introduction of one of the guest speakers – his cousin, Haare Williams, a poet, painter, scriptwriter and lyricist whose collaborative book with photographer Michael Krzanich has made waves overseas.

"I had nothing to do at five o'clock this morning," Witi elaborated on his about-turn. "Also my daughter and her child, my mokopuna, are considering living here so I thought I'd suss you all out and see if it (Raglan) is okay."

The 73 year old said he was delighted to be in the company of writers, acknowledging the three local authors – Bernadette Gavin, Jacqui McRae and Stephanie Philp – who featured in the morning's first session about books in the making.

"I wrote my first short story at 11 ... when it was raining and we had to stay inside and write," he reminisced of his school days.

He praised the new photo book, 'Someone's Mana', revealing he'd put Haare and Michael in touch with each other early last year for the collaboration. "Haare is the physical embodiment of mana," he said.

Witi Ihimaera has many short stories or novels to his name, among them 'Tangi', 'Pounamu, Pounamu' and 'The Whale Rider', the book which spawned the film.

Ironically, even without the drawback of a household name, Raglan's third readers and writers festival was bound to be a success in terms of numbers well before the town hall doors opened.

Pre-sales of 60-odd weekend passes were more than triple those at the last event two years ago, revealed local writer Sarah Johnson who was one of seven organisers behind the event. Added to that were the many tickets sold singly for the dozen or so Word Café sessions.

1 Comment on the success of your event/project and describe the benefits for those involved:

The Word Café Raglan 2017 Readers and Writers Festival was highly successful with attendance more than twice that of the 2015 festival. The festival provided a platform for the local and wider community to experience entertainment, receive and give information and allow for the sharing of ideas and the skills of the writing craft. All sessions were well-attended (ranging from 35 to over 100), book sales were numerous and over 100 entries were received for the writing competition, with some young winners from local school reading their winning works to the audience. The writing workshop was full. There was even a surprise visit and presentation by Witi Ihimaera.

2 How did your project contribute to the community's wellbeing (i.e. social, economic, environmental and/or cultural wellbeing)

Social: WCR2017 supported a sense of belonging and pride and offered a voice in the community for local authors – current practitioners readily sharing their expertise with the audience, both formally and informally. The venue of the Town Hall so close to food facilities meant that many continued to socialise after the sessions. The organising committee formed strong networks with schools, other writers groups in the Waikato and beyond, and with local businesses.

Economic: Numerous visitors stayed in town for the occasion and ate locally, purchasing souvenirs, food and services from local businesses. All who responded to the evaluation sheets or spoke to organisers mentioned their overall experience as very pleasurable. Many expressed their intention to return to Raglan and to subsequent festivals. All criticism was positive and constructive.

Culture: The festival offered the occasion for shared, supported creativity and expression, further affirming Raglan and this area as a desirable cultural destination and experience, both for locals and those from further afield. There is a continued Word Café presence on Facebook and there were two front page articles in the Raglan Chronicle.

3 Which of the nine Community Outcomes for the Waikato District did this project contribute to and how:

The WCR2017

- Offered recreation and leisure for the community - ACTIVE WAIKATO
- Fostered life skills of reading, writing and public speaking - EDUCATED WAIKATO
- Produced minimal environmental impact/waste through the use of sustainable resources and a focus on recyclable materials and composting - GREEN WAIKATO
- Provided a gentle and nurturing environment through careful and strategic planning and close supervision - SAFE WAIKATO
- Primarily sourced materials and services through local businesses and offered experiences of public service for volunteers - THRIVING WAIKATO
- Showcased many local writers (past, present and future), co-ordinated with Tainui iwi representatives, offered free sessions to the public and free entry to the writing competition for schools. Ceremony respected (tikanga Maori) - VIBRANT WAIKATO

Word Cafe helped inspire children's books sister act

Published on July 20, 2017

Four Purple Dragonfly first-place awards for four children's books – it's the kind of success local illustrator Margery Fern and her author sister, Jennifer Somervell, never dreamt of when starting out on their Tales from the Farm series four years ago.

And they say how inspiring literary events like Raglan's biennial readers and writers festival can be to a fledgling team like themselves.

The pair had just published their first book "with much trepidation" back in 2013 when the inaugural Word Cafe was staged at the Old School in Stewart Street.

"It was significant for us – we lapped up all the ideas and enthusiasm," Jennifer recalls.

"Now here we are four years later with four books."

When they attended this month's Word Cafe in the town hall they'd just had news of another Purple Dragonfly win for their latest title, 'A Very Greedy Tale'.

Published last year, the story is about two errant pet pigs from the sisters' childhood in the 70s on the family farm in Hawke's Bay.

It won in the animals/pets category of the US-based awards recognising excellence in children's literature, also picking up a second place in interior design and honourable mentions in best cover design and picture books (6 and older).

"We were delighted," says Margery, whose graphic designer daughter, Ezra Andre, pulls text and drawings together.

Margery trials the tales on her pupils at Waitetuna School, where she is principal, while Canterbury-based Jennifer travels around schools trying out the books and enticing children into some dramatic role-play.

She wasn't sure if city children would be interested in their childhood farm stories but was proved wrong. "They loved the drama of the Greedy Tale and were hooked into learning about pigs and electric fences. And 'The Day Dad Blew Up the Cowshed' amazed them – they couldn't believe it happened!"

The cowshed story and 'The New Old Truck' have been reprinted three times, and 'The Eel Hunt' is getting low in stock.

Buoyed by their success, the pair are now working on a fifth book which has something to do with "a very stinky leg".

Te Whare Toi o Ngaruawahia

Purpose

Over the month of Matariki we hosted a series of creative workshops with our local kura, a Matariki community festival, a bus tour event in Ngaruawahia and a Matariki exhibition to celebrate the traditions and knowledge of Matariki.

This included Lantern making with our 7 local schools as well as a rangatahi workshop and an adult evening class. An Art exhibition involving local tamariki and artists, wearable art creation, Musical and kapahaka performances, Matariki Story Telling by Joe Harawera and a street parade for the local tamariki to exhibit their lanterns.

- The workshops in our kura. We engaged with approximately 300 tamariki and rangatahi via a series of school based workshops, youth programmes and holiday programme.
- The Matariki festival. This was an extraordinary culmination of the month's mahi, which included the creation of wearable art costumes by volunteers, and the parade of star lanterns by tamariki and whanau.
- The exhibition of Matariki artworks created by our schools, local whanau and local artists.
- The completion and blessing of the Matariki community mural worked on by approx. 300 local people.

Outcomes

- Educated whanau and wider community on customary knowledge relating to the meaning and celebration of Matariki. Through, workshops, performance, storytelling, visual arts, kai, displays and resources.
- Achieved a significant increase in engagement and participation by local whanau in the workshops and events by engaging a wide range of people in led up activities and promotion.
- Strengthened the collaboration between local community organisations, Iwi, community volunteers, Kura, funders, council, and regional event's organisers by working together in the organisation and hosting of Matariki events in our community.
- We achieved development in the learning and use of our customary toi including whakiro, raranga, performance and oral traditions by providing opportunities for whanau to learn, to perform, and to experience the applications of toi in relation to Matariki.
- Growth in cultural expression, community pride, collaboration and resilience.
- Development of local people's skills relating to working collaboratively, relationship building, event organisation, working with tamariki, fundraising, mounting an exhibition.
- The understanding and celebration of Matariki has now become a well understood, well supported cultural taonga in our community.

This event cuts across many sectors within our community with entrants starting from very young to very mature representing many ethnicities. It gets our community engaged in creative activities and also has a large contingent volunteering their time for the event having been supported by up to 50 volunteers at its conclusion.

The whole event teaches skills like team work, an appreciation for artistic talent and how clever members in our community are.

Recognition for a cross section of artistic styles and interpretations of themes.

It creates a feel good factor watching people have success and achieve, and it is an event that is highly anticipated every 2 years.

The business community gets behind it and sponsorship is never usually a problem. We have locked in our main sponsor for next year already.

The event provided an opportunity for all wearable artists from the Huntly community and Waikato to come together and showcase their talents.

The event also provided a platform for artists to be involved and have a say in how they wanted their own costume modelled on the catwalk.

The Judges commended the participants for the high calibre and tremendous effort that was put into the creating of each costume. They also commended the show organisers for the professionalism of the whole event.

Let's Get Together is very grateful for the funding support given by the Discretionary and Funding Committee for the event.

Which of the nine Community Outcomes for the Waikato District did this project contribute to and how:

Vibrant and Thriving – by creating a unforgettable show of talented artists work that the public from a cross sector of people were able to come together in one place and share in the enjoyment of the event. The Huntly Wearable Arts Competition is a popular event that has become a key biannual celebration of our local designers. It is always a highly anticipated and valued event for the community.

If I gain support to fund this issue, I will work with a business mentor to establish advertising for the next. N&N takes on on-line advertising and there is potential to grow both hard copy and on-line.

There is a real need for a physical publication of quality content in this area – not everyone is on-line and many miss out on community information.

It would also help build profile for N&N which makes everything more viable. Please find enclosed supporting documentation and an early copy of the N&N news. It can only get better.

Friends keep reserve on track

Pukemokemoke Reserve has a lot of friends – Keith Holborow is the new co-ordinator for the group who beaver away, rain or shine, at the little bush reserve. Keith has started a new column for N8N.

"MOST VISITORS to Pukemokemoke head up to the lookout for its 360 degree views of the North Waikato. On a crisp clear day they might even catch a glimpse a work day to rebuild the lower flight of lookout stairs. A brisk southwest wind was delivering regular showers, but in between there was sunshine.

The group was Bob Dawson, Jack Brinkman, Malcolm Watkins and me. All of us are supposed to be retired. In fact, we are all still workers, but strictly volunteers now.

The lookout tower at the summit was built a long time ago by the enterprising originators of Pukemokemoke Bush Reserve and it has withstood the battering of the wind, rain and sun ever since. The top of the hill is a tough spot on a bad day and the years had taken their toll on the lower stairs which now needed a new set of treads.

Preparation is important for jobs in remote locations. The new treads had been designed, pre-cut and pre-drilled off site, ready for their final assembly and fitting at the summit.

Wide stairs need long treads and long treads are heavy. They had been carried, one by one, from the car park up the track. Sherpas also carried the ladder, the steel anti-skid mesh, the brackets, the bolts and the tools. Today was the culmination of more than a week's work.

The first task, no small matter, was to remove the old treads. Wire cutters sliced through the anti-skid mesh, a hand saw cut the wooden treads in half and a pinch bar, block and lever were used to remove those halves from between the runners.

When Jack paused to check his progress and tentatively smiled I called for a tea break. The sun was shining, the tea was hot, Malcolm ate his signature hot cross bun and we all relaxed out of the wind for a few minutes.

Ruakura's Melody Childcare Centre kids arrived. They were having their weekly day in the bush and, as usual, were keen to come up to the summit. The job settled into a steady rhythm. The next tread, the next shower, the next burst of sunshine.

With just one tread to go we took a short lunch break. We kept warm by laughing at Jack's stories from his lifestyle block days. Bob, a retired dairy farmer, was both amazed and horrified by them. Malcolm and I vowed never to leave the suburbs.

Finally the last tread slipped easily into place and Malcolm bolted it home. We tidied the site, loaded up and began the slow trek down, weary but satisfied.

It was good to know that the lookout was being kept in good shape. Everyone who walks up through the regenerating bush and climbs the tower gazes out at the view and marvels at the beauty of this special corner of the country. Long may they continue to do so."

Clearing the swamps

Smith travelled the country with large pieces of equipment, over rough roads on horseback, in carts, or by train. The scant the patriarch of the Waikato Fows, was a blacksmith about this time, could this chap be associated in that realm?

It becomes apparent after a short time that photos such as this ask more questions than they give answers. At any rate, the information we have says the location is Gordonton so it's right in Number 8 Network territory.

of Ruapehu way to the south.

It wasn't a clear day and it was more soggy than crisp as the four of us slogged our way up the bush track to the summit. We were heading for records accompanying this photo suggest this chap may have belonged to or worked for the Fow family. I doubt the Fows owned this land, but as JR Fow,

Winter warmer at Woodlands

WOODLANDS Café's Stu Robinson is a good listener. Not long after he took over the café in January he put up a suggestions board, and it was a good move, he tells Number 8 Network's Annette Taylor.

"It helps stay in touch with what matters, it means I can solve problems and improve."

It has now been six months and he is thoroughly enjoying being at Woodlands café. "The locals have been wonderful; they're a very friendly bunch here."

Before he got into hospitality, Stu was a banker. "I went into banking after school, at age 18, and stayed until I hit that magic age of late 30s, early 40s."

He decided he wanted to do something different, totally out of his comfort zone. Now he runs two eateries, Cafe Fresca in Hamilton and Woodlands Cafe.

"Fresca is a busy, bustling place, with a nice outdoor area and great food. It's taken six years to build up to where it is now."

Living in Rototuna, Stu divides his time between the two. "It's quicker to get to Woodlands, and it's so peaceful once I get here."

Raised in Puriri, between Thames and Paeroa, he is fond of Gordonton.

CHEERS: "We'll be concentrating on the basics of good food and service."

"It's a small community, in many ways very similar to what I was used to. You can talk to people, have actual conversations."

And, coming from a farm, he appreciates fine food. "I've always been into food. Keep it simple, keep it fresh, old-fashioned basics. I spent a lot of time in good cafes when I was banking, and knew what I liked."

Former owner Judy Cole did a grand job, he says. "Look at what she's done with the alterations and renovations – just amazing. But she deserves to be off on her trips now, and to enjoy life."

As for Stu, there are things to ponder about what is next for Woodlands cafe. "Maybe we'll incorporate a little bit of Fresca or go in a different direction – but we'll be concentrating on the basics of good food and service."

Sharing the stories

COMMUNITY website Number 8 Network is very excited – we're a finalist in this year's Australia and New Zealand Internet Awards (ANZIAs).

There are 22 finalists in six categories and N8N is one of five finalists in the Leonie Dunbar Memorial Award for Community Websites. It's quite a coup – we're there with two other New Zealand websites -

Tamahere Forum, run by Philippa Stevenson, and Motueka Online run by David Armstrong – and two from Australia.

Winners will be announced at a gala evening in Auckland on August 27. The only troubling aspect will be finding a cocktail dress!

N8N was also honoured to receive a grant from Gordonton Country Market, which will help cover the costs involved in running the website – thank you Market Committee.

Here's a selection from the last few weeks on Number 8 Network, but there's way more on-line as well. Go and check it out. You can also sign up to a weekly emailed news bulletin to ensure you stay connected.

And if you have a story, please get in touch. It's good to share.

Visit www.number8network.co.nz for many more stories. You won't believe what's happening in our neck of the woods.

Bienvenue Vicky

Tucked along Taylor Road is a little shop of eclectic and collectable wares, operating out of an old woolshed. N8N welcomes Le French Quarter's Vicky den Hertog to Gordonton.

IT all came about because of the husband, Vicky says. "He said 'Vicky, we have a three-car garage and I can't get the car in. You're going to have to do something about it.'"

Tea cups, glassware, pottery, fabrics, vintage treasures had been mounting up – she has always been an avid collector. "It has always been a dream of mine to run a shop, then a friend rang and said he'd just seen an old barn and to come take a look."

This was the old Taylor woolshed on Taylor Road, which had been used by Rustic Furniture's David Houghton. "I just stood there thinking, this is me. It was perfect."

She approached Kay Taylor and set to. "It had been closed up for a long time, and was full of boat motors and car motors, bits of table here, a couch there but I could absolutely see the potential. David has been great; we share the woolshed out the back and he continues to make his dovetails and furniture."

Over Christmas she and her small team of willing workers started cleaning, painting and weeding. "I'm a very practical-minded person, we got stuck in. There were a few late nights, and one evening I was painting by myself and had this feeling someone was watching me. I'm not used to all those country noises and started to feel a bit anxious and suddenly this possum was staring at me through the window."

She reacted with style and grace

and not too much paint was spilt. "He got more of a fright than me. I'm getting used to it and absolutely loving the rural aspects now. Bill (Taylor) will turn up and say he's moving the cows down the road, to stand in the driveway and wave my hands so they don't come down here... The Taylors are truly special people and have been so kind."

Gordonton is a great place, she says. "It's a lovely little community, with a great market happening and wonderful people. I've gone from knowing no one to really feeling part of it."

"I get people travelling in their camper vans on their way to Hawkes Bay and stopping for a chat as well as the locals who are starting to find out that I'm here. All good things take time."

The name came from her love of French design. "Beautiful soaps from Provence, delicate glassware, textiles. You can combine beautiful vintage pieces and collectables with something gorgeous and new and it all just works and adds interest."

And husband David is also happy. "It all came together so well. I came out from town the other morning and there were peacocks in the paddock, it's so beautiful."

• Le French Quarter is open Wednesday to Friday, 10am to 4pm, and Saturday 11am to 2pm.

Market musings

Caz Warner contemplates the joy of Gordonton Country Market from her special vantage point next door.

Scents and sounds drift through the window. Delicious smells rumble the tum. There's chatter in the air and gentle guitar playing wends its way through mighty oaks across the park.

It's the second Saturday in May and our Gordonton Country Market is under way. The House in the Park is surrounded! And it's good. Really good. I remember the day a few years back when Peter knocked on the door. He asked if we'd have any objections to a market being held so close to our living space.

Objections? You're kidding. Wonderful idea. And it came to pass.

Now I'm not an early riser. The misty morning sun pokes its tongue at me. But that first flush of market day with the sound of stall holders arriving at 6am had me up and at it.

Food, flora, furniture, face painting and fundraising. Beautiful funky handmade clothes and jewellery. Spinning wheels. Pasties and perfume. Crafty crafts, candles, coconut ice and cappuccinos. A cosy corner for Devonshire teas. And so much more.

By 2pm, this lovely park is once again quiet and serene. It's odd; they've all gone. The switch has been turned off and the view from my window is back to 'normal'.

Sadly, this will be the last market day until September. Fair enough. To everything there is a season and winter is not kind to such outdoor communal delights.

I will miss the view from the window. Wake me up when September comes!

• The next market is on Saturday 12 September, Caz. Not many more sleeps!

Getting fit in Gordonton

"STRETCH... hold it... and relax!" Since March Deanna Paton has held fitness classes for women at her house on Gordonton Rd. Annette Taylor finds out more.

Stretched out on blue mats the group have been hard at it for the last half hour, undertaking a mix of cardio and strength training. They are soon to troop in for breakfast, which today is homemade walnut and cinnamon granola with slightly cooked blueberries, and a splash of Greek yoghurt.

"I like them to start the day with a healthy, tasty breakfast and my policy is no refined sugar and lots of protein. Every week there's something different – many say it's the best part!"

Three 45-minute sessions are held

"The more we talked, the more I heard reasons not to train or look after yourself; Gordonton was too far from a gym, they didn't have time, wouldn't know anyone and that they weren't fit enough. I felt I could create a safe, friendly environment for women, so asked a few over to give it a try and tell me what works and what didn't. It took off from there and the feedback has been amazing. One woman said the training makes her feel alive for the rest of the day, which is just great to hear."

FEELING ALIVE: "I want them to say they were fitter, had less injury and were able to do more."

each week, two in the morning at her home near the golf course, and one at Gordonton School in the afternoon.

Deanna gained personal training qualifications in Australia and has always been interested in health and fitness.

"The women who come are generally involved in farming or are mothers, and they need to be strong and fit in order to be effective. This is especially so with calving season coming up, when many will be busy. I want them to say they were fitter, had less injury and were able to do more. That's the goal of being fit and the goal of these sessions as well."

The idea came about following conversations with mothers at school.

Around 30 women currently take part, mostly in their 30s or 40s. "It's all flexible; if they can't attend on a Wednesday they can come on Friday. The $15 morning sessions include breakfast and every two months I'll give them a fitness test."

"And we have fun. It's a great way to start the day."

• Women's fitness sessions are held at Deanna's home on Wednesday from 9.15am, and Friday 9.45am and at Gordonton School on Wednesday at 4pm. Sessions are $15.

To find out more, phone 021 057 3345.

Ginger gems a winter winner

Aunt Vera lived in an old railway cottage at the start of the Karangahake gorge and only in the last decade or so used an electric oven. When I met her and husband Bill (my relative) – she did all her cooking on a Shacklock coal range.

Keen conservationists, I believe the pair were founding members of what they called Bird and Forest. Together they raised thousands of native trees for planting in the gorge. They ate wild pork and deer and trout out of the river, served with vegetables from Vera's wonderful garden.

When visitors called she would whip on an old apron and make a batch of delicious ginger gems, in the coal range. In no time the linen table cloth would be on the old table Bill had made himself and we'd get stuck in.

Vera's ginger gems

60g warm butter
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 heaped Tbsp golden syrup
¾ cup milk
1 tsp baking soda
1 ½ cup flour
2 ½ tsp ground ginger

Preheat oven to 220 degrees. Place the gem iron inside to warm up (or use a muffin tin).

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add the egg and beat well, then add the golden syrup.

Warm the milk gently in a small pan on the oven, and dissolve baking soda in this.

Stir in the flour and ginger and beat the mixture well.

Take gem iron from oven and grease lightly with butter. (Put a small dab in each cavity and spread with a pastry brush.)

Spoon mixture into each cavity, Bake 10 minutes until the gems have risen and are beautifully golden.

Allow to cool and serve sliced in half with lashings of butter. And a piping hot cup of tea.

Gordonton's glorious rugby history

- Perry Rice, Hamilton Central Libraries

The Gordonton Rugby Football Club. The year is 1912 and the grand occasion is the senior team winning the Hamilton Rugby Union Championship.

This team reigned supreme in 1912. Gordonton does indeed have a glorious past. But whatever happened to the club? Little is known to us of the Gordonton Rugby Club – we have no jubilee or centennial booklets as we do for so many other clubs around the country.

Back Row: Geo Welch (President), J. Roach, H Farrelly, W McLeod, P Flynn (Referee), R Miller, W Clarkin, W Welch, A Peacocke (Secretary).

This is another photograph posing questions about our past. What happened to the club? Where did all the people go for so many years? The flax industry died; farms became mechanised; roading improved; transport improved and smaller communities like Gordonton lost out to these elements – what a loss to the country.

Flying start for market

The sun shone at the first-ever Gordonton Country Market and crowds of people strolled around the vibrant and colourful stalls. The weather couldn't have been better behaved had driven out, and at that point it was torrential rain and incredible winds – 120k winds had been forecast."

It was hard to estimate exactly how many turned up for the inaugural event held in Hukanui Park, but Peter, who was on parking duty with 12 volunteers, thinks it was about 2000.

More than 70 stall holders turned up on the first day, about half of them locals, and applications are increasing.

The market was modelled on Tamahere's Country Market, and is run by a committee of five, all from the Oaks Christian Centre.

"The space is perfect," Peter says. "It has such a rich history behind the old school house. There's something magical about it."

Gordonton Country Market is held on the second Saturday of every month, rain or shine.

Vet flies to PNG

Andrew Gore had a surprise call recently - would he pop over to Papua New Guinea please. There were some cows that could do with his expert assistance.

After arranging cover for his Gordonton practice - and Hamilton Zoo where he also works - the veterinarian packed his bags and was away, eager to renew his acquaintance with the Melanesian country where he was born.

"I was only a wee fella when I left, so I have very few memories. My parents had lived there for some years and my father would return throughout his life, but I never had. It was a wonderful opportunity to see the country I was born in."

He was there for six days in early September, near Mt Hagen, the third largest city.

The farm he was sent to was part of a training college with a university status. In earlier years it had been one of the few dairy operations in the country. "They had their own milking and pasteurisation plants, but it hadn't been functional in the last 10 years so everything had degenerated and it had converted to beef. They'd had ongoing health issues that were not being dealt with, management problems - things were going backwards."

There are very few vets in Papua New Guinea, he says. "There is virtually none of the skill base for large animal work, which is what I specialise in."

Andrew visited the country with

They've just had an election, and they were happy because only 35 political candidates were killed - that's considered a good outcome. In the last election 105 died."

Corruption is rife. "We were told of one province where there were more votes counted than the entire population. People buy villages. We went into town and there was a burnt-out shack on the side of road - that was where a rival politician lived who was murdered."

A New Zealand farmer would be astonished at the potential for dairy farming.

"The highlands are a unique ecosystem, perfect growing conditions every day of the year, with hugely rich soil, very deep and fertile. The climatic conditions are typically 23, 25 degrees, all year round, and it rains every day."

He would love to go back to Papua New Guinea.

"If I ever got the chance, I'd climb Mt Wilhelm, the highest mountain. I'd also look for some of the native wildlife, it's one of the more fascinating countries on Earth in terms of fauna and flora."

his son, who is a sociologist. "He absolutely loved it and was very interested in talking with locals. We met some truly wonderful people, they were hugely friendly and helpful."

The country itself is not in a good way. "Sadly, over the last couple of decades things are getting worse."

Downton star's Gordonton connection

Downton Abbey star Hugh Bonneville came to New Zealand for a lightning visit recently and sprinkled a few surprises around.

He was the mystery guest at a High Tea fundraiser for Starship Children's Hospital. The winner of the charity auction had no idea who she was meeting until he walked in.

Twenty years of Wairere Nursery

It's more than 20 years since Wairere Nursery first began in Gordonton. Give or take, says Lloyd Houghton.

"How long? I have no idea. A long time. Twenty years or thereabouts."

It's a rare moment for Lloyd - he's not wrenching roses out of the garden, carting perennials or dashing off after a customer inquiry - but sitting at his desk having a cup of tea.

Lloyd and partner Harry Janssen are far too busy to really notice things like anniversaries, but Harry, when provoked, says they've been adding a gay touch to Gordonton for two decades. "out a few herbs with an honesty box," Lloyd says.

Alarming, they find themselves now selling plants and trees to the children of their original customers, which shows how the years have clipped by.

But it's good to see the younger generation coming through and gardening.

"It's interesting. Our generation want more maintenance-free gardens, requiring less work, and their kids are right into colour - perennials and trees."

These days they employ someone to do research for them and write descriptions for their labels.

"If we get sticky questions about plants from customers, we go to Chris, who has retrained in horticulture and is particularly interested in botanical nomenclature."

There's also a case for abandoning old knowledge. "Both of us were trained, and we believed, that apples had to be self-fertile. But it's not the case. We've since found that there's such a predominance of apples in the environment that the need for pollination is not there. Unless, of course, you live in a really remote area. So sometimes, what we've been taught isn't always right, and we're still learning."

"Nothing is cut and dried. That, for me, is one of the neat things."

Technology is also always changing and requiring getting one's head around - and Lloyd says the biggest area of growth is mail order, all around the country.

"We have on-line shopping, and the on-line card, data lists - but we still get our regular clients calling in and stopping to have a chat. We love it."

ades.

Close enough. There's been a few changes since they bought the land, at the south end of the village, which back then was amply supplied with blackberry, privet, honeysuckle and other unpleasant weeds. Now it is stunning garden, with landscaped ponds and a highly successful nursery, selling mail order plants throughout New Zealand.

"And it all started with us putting

Couple's Cambodian dream

It's not what you'd call a holiday for Yorng Dul. The co-owner of Gordonton's Food Connection has just returned from a three-week trip to Cambodia where she spent time in Pilan (or Pailin).

It is Cambodia's poorest region: the average salary there is just $1 a day - and with husband Mich she owns six hectares of land on which poor families can try to support themselves.

They have also bought land in Battambang, Cambodia's second largest city where they intend to build an agricultural training centre where families from nearby slums can be taught skills to help them find employment or be self-sustaining. Eighty-five per cent of Cambodians hold no formal job, and 28.3% live on less than $1.25 a day.

"Our dream is that people will study and learn how to work," Mich says. "The couple came to New Zealand from a Cambodian refugee camp in 1986. They took over Gordonton's fish and chip shop about three years ago and very soon started to sell second-hand clothes and items to raise money for their projects, including a children's home for orphans and abandoned children in Battambang."

Every year Mich and Yorng travel separately to Cambodia to work towards their goals.

Gordonton's wall of fame

It all just sort of happened, Chris Smith says of the Trading Post's Wall of Fame which once graced downtown Gordonton.

Actually, it was two walls, the glass frontage, sides and roof of the tearooms, and spilled over into the neighbouring furniture shop. It might have grown even more, over time.

The eye-catching, colourful mural that depicted life and the locals of Gordonton was painted by Chris in 1999 and lasted about 10 years: a real-life monument.

"The old hall had been demolished a year before, and I felt it would be good to remember that, it was a huge part of the community. I also wanted to paint some of the local characters and what they got up to."

Tearoom owners Bruce and Cherie

Thornton were chuffed at the project. Cherie told the Waikato Times at the time she was honoured an artist of Chris' calibre wanted to turn his skills to enhancing the look of the tearooms.

"They gave me total free rein, which was great for an artist. I'd do sketches and stick them to the wall, and they trusted me."

Originally from Herefordshire, Chris arrived in Gordonton with wife Jenny in 1982. He used to work for Hereford Fine China and, after leaving, continued with his own art, making a range of china native birds, which were sold in the Trading Post.

Painting the wall was a thing of joy, he said.

He used whatever paint he

"I remember one young guy who looked like he might come back and graffiti it later so I gave him the paint brush and got him to do a bit on the corner. I said 'that's your bit.'"

A friend was down in the South Island and someone mentioned the wall, and knew where it was, he said. "Word got around, which was pretty impressive."

Everything depicted on the wall was true, he said, but he gave the truth a bit of a 'stretch'. "It's my sense of humour. I painted a sign saying the golf club was down Garfield St and people used to pick me up on that. But in the early days it really was, behind the back of the school, across a swing bridge. That's what I was told. That's history and history is all round us."

The mural was painted over when new tenants moved into the building. The cartoon of a greedy gnome on the tearoom's window was particularly stubborn to remove, he recalls.

"It took them ages to scratch that off. I was chuffed."

could get – all up it cost about $500. "I'd buy a few tins of anything on special. Roof paint, water-based, whatever. I'd mix it all together. It was a bit challenging, the bricks were all uneven, but I managed."

No-one ever graffitied the wall, he said.

Our marvellous market is back!

After a relaxing break over winter, the Gordonton Country Market is back in all its glory. Hukanui Park will again come alive to the sounds of market bustle on Saturday 12 September, from 8.30am to 1pm.

The Spring market offers everything from seasonal fruit and vegetables to imaginative art and craft, talented buskers, face painters and delicious cooked food.

There are still a few spots for stallholders – so if you've been thinking of selling at the market, get in touch with a committee member to find out more. Volunteers would be useful for the tearoom and barbecue but otherwise it's all looking good to go.

Here's to our market!

Have a go at FootGolf in Gordonton

FANCY a round of FootGolf? The new sport – a blend of soccer and golf – was played for the first time in the Waikato at Gordonton's Wedderburn Hukanui Golf Course in August but you can still give it a go for free on Sunday 13 September.

Secretary Linda Broughton says FootGolf is taking America by storm and when she first heard about it knew she wanted to try it at Hukanui.

"It started in the Netherlands, has been played throughout Europe but the Americans love it – 400 courses are doing it. Instead of having a golf club and ball, you have a size-5 soccer ball and the hole is half a metre wide."

The new 18-hole course is possibly the first of its kind in the Waikato and upper North Island, she said.

The other initiative on offer is Snag Golf – which essentially uses an oversized plastic golf club and tennis balls lined with Velcro.

"Instead of holes we use targets. It's fun and teaches the basics of golf. The Snag driving inflatable will be set up on the two days, so people can play a have to be forward thinking, she says.

"We need to bring different ages to the game. I want families coming here, young and old, everyone having a go. It's very exciting having these two new sports happening at our little local club."

"People can come and pay to play just like Green Fee players on the golf course, it's just $10.00 for adults and $5 for children up to 15 years. They can come and play now, they just need to check nothing is on at the club. They can call or check on the website."

• Try FootGolf and Snag Golf for free at the Hukanui Golf Club on Sunday 13 September, 10am – 2pm.

Keeping it in the family at Willow Glen

It's just over four months since Willow Glen opened its doors for business on a cold May morning. Annette Taylor shares a cup of tea and finds out how it's gone.

"The first week was slow, and we thought, okay this is what it will be like – then a few stories were written and word got out – and it's been great. We've been way busier than we thought we'd be, especially over winter when it's hard to get people out," says Karen Neal who runs Willow Glen with husband Jeff, daughter Kylie Lundy and Kylie's husband Richard. Karen's sister Lyn from Te Aroha also helps to run the kitchen.

They've just had their busiest weekend since opening at 7am on 18 May. At the time Jeff said the feedback was great, locally and Waikato-wide. "Everyone is delighted to see the place reopening, and are very cheerful and supportive."

That trend has continued, with regulars dropping by, groups making a trip of it and folk stopping on their way to the airport, says Karen.

"One neighbour comes over every morning for coffee, and another has made a little gap in the fence and walks through the garden with their grandson. One gentleman from Cambridge books, and comes with his wife every week.

"And on Tuesdays we have the girls – a group of parents who drop their children off at school and then come in for coffee. We get a similar group on Wednesdays."

Karen says everything is home-made: the cakes, scones, slices and savoury items.

"People like that. We'll come out and chat with them, as well. It's a nice ambience and they keep coming back."

The property, on Gordonton Rd, used to be owned by TV personality Eion Sorrow,

who designed and planted the garden, but she says previous owners Keith and Hilton really put Willow Glen on the map.

"They turned it into a wedding venue and it really took off. They came and saw us the other day, and I think they liked what we're doing. After nine years, Keith's son ran it for a year, then it was sold to a new owner who had it for five years, but for the last two years it's been closed."

It took a lot of work to get it operational, she says. "I spent three solid weeks in the kitchen alone. We've painted, wall-papered, re-floored, scrubbed and cleaned. It's looking good now.

The kitchen had great bones and is wonderful to cook in."

Karen and Jeff are enjoying life in Gordonton. "It's lovely here. Richard, our son-in-law, farms at Tauhei so knows many of the people in the district, but it's a new experience for us. Everyone has been welcoming and friendly."

Working as a family really works for the team, too. "We all have our own tasks and keep to them."

This extends to her six-year-old grandson Cooper who comes in and helps stir the scone mix. "He loves cooking; we've cooked together since he was 18 months. It's a family thing."

Karen and Jeff live on-site – walking to work takes seconds, she says.

Daughter Kylie, who was a hairdresser, is on front of house.

"I've worked with people before so it's not too different, and sometimes I'll do a little cooking. I really enjoy it here, we're all on the same page."

There are still some changes to be made ("We're putting in some sound proofing") but they're looking forward to summer.

• Willow Glen is open seven days a week, from 8am to 4pm. Phone 824 3691.

Bags for Africa sorted

ESOL tutor Gayle Pearson wanted help making fabric bags to be taken to Africa. She was overwhelmed at the response to a story on Number 8 Network, reprinted in Hamilton News.

"I was overwhelmed and delighted with the response – more

She came in three or four times a week to help teach English to former refugees where Gayle works at English Language Partners.

"She had been teaching English and health studies to young students living in a rural village in Malawi, loved it and decided to return in July. She had been truly outstanding helping me in my class, and I wanted to do something for her in return.

"She said the children needed bags to put their school books in."

The students, aged from eight to 13, shared bags, which meant all the books went than a dozen more people have offered their skills and time, it was very exciting. We'll easily make the numbers required."

She has picked up the first finished bags – "And I have another eight ready to collect. I've also dropped off lots of fabric and instructions.

"Our stitching group met this evening and two of us threaded cords and tapes through the top of some bags."

It came about because Gayle wanted to do something for a young volunteer who had helped in her class every week for about nine months.

The volunteer was Abby Fisher, who was 19 at the time.

home with one individual. Simple fabric bags would make all the difference.

Gayle said she could make some and asked how many were needed. "And she said 80! So I needed 80 bags before the end of September for Abby's mother to take with her in October."

During a catch-up with Number 8 Network's Annette Taylor Gayle mentioned this – and a story was written for the website and shared with the Hamilton News. And the offers of help flooded in.

"It has been fantastic. It's lovely to see there are so many people wanting to help."

Tea Bread anyone?

This cake-like tea bread has a fresh lemon taste and is drizzled with a sweet citrus glaze. Perfect with a cup of tea any time of the day.

Perfect lemon tea bread

1 tbsp grated lemon rind

170ml milk

Preheat oven to 180°C. Grease a loaf tin. (Pop it in the oven a few minutes with a knob of butter inside, then use a pastry brush to coat the sides.)

Prepare the lemon rind. In a large bowl sift together the flour, salt, baking powder and sugar.

Warm butter in the microwave then, using your hands, rub it into the mixture. Add the lemon rind.

Beat the eggs then add at the same time as the milk. Stir gently until the flour is just moist.

Pour into the tin and bake in the oven about 1 hour, 20 minutes or until cooked – test with a knife.

Glaze

5 Tbsp lemon juice
30g caster sugar

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the members of Ngaruawahia RSA Memorial Club Inc

Opinion

We have audited the special purpose financial statements of Ngaruawahia RSA Memorial Club Inc, which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 March 2017 and the statement of financial performance, trading accounts and statement of movements in equity for the year then ended, and notes to the special purpose financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

In common with other non-profit organisations, our work was limited as control over donations, fundraising and fees, before being recorded, is limited and there are no practical audit procedures to determine the effect of this limited control.

Qualified Opinion

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion paragraph, the financial statements on pages 2 to 14 present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Ngaruawahia RSA Memorial Club Inc as at 31 March 2017, and its financial performance for the year then ended.

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (New Zealand) (ISAs (NZ)). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Club in accordance with Professional and Ethical Standard 1 (Revised) Code of Ethics for Assurance Practitioners issued by the New Zealand Auditing and Assurance Standards Board, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other than in our capacity as auditor we have no relationship with, or interests in, the Association.

Emphasis of Matter – Basis of Accounting and Restriction on Distribution

We draw attention to Note 1 of the special purpose financial statements, which describes the basis of accounting. The special purpose financial statements are prepared to assist the Committee in complying with the special purpose framework referred to above. As a result, the financial statements may not be suitable for another purpose. Our report is intended solely for the members of the Club and the Department of Internal Affairs, and should not be distributed to other parties. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

The Chairperson
Ngaruawahia RSA Memorial Club Inc
PO Box 74
Ngaruawahia 3742

Dear Sir

Audit Management Letter for the Year Ended 31 March 2017

1. Introduction

We have completed the audit of Ngaruawahia RSA Memorial Club Inc for the year ended 31 March 2017 and enclose the financial statements with the audit report attached.

This letter provides a summary of:

- the audit scope
- the audit opinion
- the issues arising from the audit

You will appreciate that while our audit is carried out in accordance with International Standards on Auditing, it cannot, and should not, be relied upon to detect every instance of misstatement, fraud, irregularity or inefficiency.

The responsibility for the implementation and monitoring of internal and management controls rests with management and the Committee.

2. Audit Scope

The audit aimed to:

- provide an audit opinion on whether the financial statements fairly reflect the Club's reported financial results and financial position.
- assess and report on aspects of the Club's financial management and controls.

3. Audit Opinion

We have issued a modified audit opinion on the financial statements for the year ended 31 March 2017, which is normal for organisations where raffles, donations and fees are received.

4. Issues arising from the audit:

Going Concern

We have included an emphasis of mater paragraph in the audit report covering the issue of the going concern uncertainty.

5. Financial Situation

The Club achieved a surplus after depreciation of $30,195 this year, which is the highest for a number of years. The working capital situation (current assets less current liabilities) is still negative. The Club will need to continue closely monitoring cash flows to ensure that the budgeted surplus for the 2018 year is achieved.

6. Discussions with Management

Under the NZ International Standards on Auditing (NZ ISAs), we are required to tell you, as the governing body of any disagreements we had the management.

We are pleased to tell you that we had no such disagreements. We have not noted any significant risk or exposures that are required to be separately disclosed in the performance report.

We have not identified any instances of fraud involving senior management or any other frauds that have caused a material misstatement in the performance report.

We reaffirm we are independent of your Club and that we have no relationship with your Club that impairs our independence.

7. Conclusion

We wish to acknowledge the friendly assistance provided by your staff during the audit. If there is any further information you require, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours faithfully
OWEN McLEOD & CO

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

Opinion

We have audited the special purpose financial statements of Ngaruawahia RSA Memorial Club Inc, which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 December 2017 and the statement of financial performance, trading accounts and statement of movements in equity for the year then ended, and notes to the special purpose financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

In common with other non-profit organisations, our work was limited as control over donations, fundraising and fees, before being recorded, is limited and there are no practical audit procedures to determine the effect of this limited control.

Qualified Opinion

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion paragraph, the financial statements on pages 2 to 14 present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Ngaruawahia RSA Memorial Club Inc as at 31 March 2017, and its financial performance for the year then ended.

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (New Zealand) (ISAs (NZ)). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Club in accordance with Professional and Ethical Standard 1 (Revised) Code of Ethics for Assurance Practitioners issued by the New Zealand Auditing and Assurance Standards Board, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other than in our capacity as auditor we have no relationship with, or interests in, the Association.

Emphasis of Matter – Basis of Accounting and Restriction on Distribution

We draw attention to Note 1 of the special purpose financial statements, which describes the basis of accounting. The special purpose financial statements are prepared to assist the Committee in complying with the special purpose framework referred to above. As a result, the financial statements may not be suitable for another purpose. Our report is intended solely for the members of the Club and the Department of Internal Affairs, and should not be distributed to other parties. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Emphasis of Matter – Going Concern

In forming our opinion, we have considered the adequacy of the disclosures made in the financial report regarding the use of the going concern assumption.

The financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, the validity of which depends on future cash flows meeting budgeted levels. The financial report does not include any adjustments that would result from a failure to achieve budgeted income. Details of the circumstances relating to this matter are described in Note 8.

Responsibilities of Committee for the Special Purpose Financial Statements

The Committee is responsible for the preparation of the special purpose financial statements in accordance with the special purpose framework and for such internal control as those charged with governance determine is necessary to enable the preparation of special purpose financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the special purpose financial statements, those charged with governance are responsible for assessing the Club's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters relating to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless they either intend to liquidate the Club or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Special Purpose Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the special purpose financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (NZ) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these special purpose financial statements.

A further description of the auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located at the XRB's website at https://xrb.govt.nz/Site/Auditing Assurance Standards/Current Standards/Description auditors responsibilities.aspx.

The committee has reached this conclusion having regard to circumstances that they consider likely to affect the Club during the ensuing year and which may affect the validity of the going concern assumption.

Notes to and forming part of the Financial Statements

For the Year Ended 31 December 2017

1 Statement of Accounting Policies

Reporting Entity

The financial statements for Huntly RSA Inc. are general purpose financial statements which have been prepared according to Generally Accepted Accounting Practice in New Zealand

Statement of Compliance and Basis of Preparation

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Practice in New Zealand (GAAP). They comply with Financial Reporting Standards and other applicable pronouncements, as appropriate for profit-oriented entities as set out in the External Reporting Board Standard A1: Application of the Accounting Standards Framework.

The accounting principles recognised as appropriate for the measurement and reporting of the Combined Statement of Financial Performance and Statement of Financial Position on a historical cost basis are followed by club, unless otherwise stated in the Specific Accounting Policies.

The information is presented in New Zealand dollars. All values are rounded to the nearest $.

Going Concern

Club is dependent upon the continued support of its lenders. The going concern basis assumes continued support of these parties in following financial periods. The members of the committee in determining that the financial statements be prepared on a going concern basis have taken into account events subsequent to balance date.

Specific Accounting Policies

The following specific accounting policies which materially affect the measurement of the Combined Statement of Financial Performance and Statement of Financial Position have been applied:

(a) Income Tax

Club has charitable status and is exempt from income tax.

The income tax expense charged to the Combined Statement of Financial Performance recognises the current year's provision adjusted for timing and permanent differences between taxable and accounting income. Deferred tax is calculated using the comprehensive basis under the liability method and future tax benefits are not recognised unless realisation of the asset is virtually certain.

Income tax is accounted for using the taxes payable method. The income tax expense recognised in the Combined Statement of Financial Performance is the estimated income tax payable in the current year, adjusted for any differences between the estimated and actual income tax payable in prior years.

(b) Goods and Services Taxation (GST)

The entity is registered for GST. The financial statements are therefore prepared on a GST exclusive basis. Receivables and payables are stated as GST inclusive.

(c) Goods and Services Taxation (GST)

Revenue and expenses have been recognised in the financial statements inclusive of GST.
