Introduction

- 1.1 Hearing 16 related to all the submissions received by the Waikato District Council (Council) on matters concerning Raglan other than zoning, including the objectives, policies and rules in the Proposed Waikato District Plan (PDP) and its planning maps.
- 1.2 Submissions on the Raglan Navigation Beacons were also included in this hearing; however, we have issued our decisions on these submissions separately.<sup>1</sup> The Raglan Navigation Beacons' provisions are not considered in this report.

Hearing

- 1.3 The hearing was held on 2 and 22 June 2020 by Zoom. We issued a Minute on 28 April 2020 setting out the Zoom hearing arrangements and availability of Council's computers for the public to access the hearing.
- 1.4 All the relevant information pertaining to this hearing (i.e., section 42A report, legal submissions, evidence and our directions) is contained on Council's website.
- 1.5 At the hearing, we heard from the following parties on Raglan provisions of the PDP:

Overview of issues raised in Submissions

- 1.6 In the section 42A report, Ms Salmon set out the full list of submissions on the subject matter of the hearing. In brief, the key matters raised by the submitters were:
  - a) Raglan's special character;
  - b) Specific elements that contribute to and promote Raglan's special character;

- c) Raglan Navigation Beacons (see separate decision);
- d) Beach access for horses;
- e) Miscellaneous matters; and
- f) Amendments to correct drafting errors.<sup>2</sup>

Overview of submissions

1.7 The key themes of the submissions were:

- a) Raglan special character - submitters considered that Raglan has a special character and sought inclusion of provisions in the PDP to protect that special character;
- b) Built environment – these submissions related to Raglan’s character and focused on higher-density building forms, the Raglan Community Plan and housing options in Raglan;
- c) Raglan Town Centre – these submissions also related to Raglan’s character but the submitters advocated for more or fewer development controls to manage town centre character;
- d) Beach access for horses - submissions sought access for horses to Ngarunui Beach and the removal of horse restriction signs on the access track; and
- e) Miscellaneous matters - submitters referenced issues including holiday accommodation, roading standards, view protection, notification of applications, support for Raglan Naturally and changes to planning maps’ notations.

Overview of Evidence

- 1.8 Mr Phil Stickney for Kāinga Ora highlighted the National Policy Statement on Urban Development Capacity 2016 and the Waikato Regional Policy Statement, which he argued envisage growth and change over time, whilst promoting the efficient use of land and infrastructure. He sought that these higher-order documents to inform Council’s assessment of other submissions seeking to protect the status quo.
- 1.9 Mr Stickney also submitted that the Raglan Town Centre Character Statement be deleted and replaced by a suite of provisions (drawn from the Character Statements) which could guide the future form of Raglan Town Centre.
- 1.10 Mr John Lawson for Whaingaroa Environmental Defence Society advocated for Raglan’s special character to be recognised and protected in the PDP. He said Raglan has a seaside village character which is valued by residents and visitors and adds to the economic prosperity of Raglan. He gave examples of out of character developments on Wainui Road and in Lorenzen Bay, as types of undesirable development that the PDP should control. Mr Lawson also supported submissions asking for a bed tax to address the lack of affordable housing.
- 1.11 Ms Gabrielle Parson for Raglan Naturally spoke about the community planning work already undertaken for Raglan. Ms Parson said that the community is concerned about the impacts of growth on character. She said that the PDP should be supporting outcomes identified by the community and that Council should develop a structure plan for Raglan.

- 1.12 Ms Angeline Greensill for Tainui o Tainui said that the special character of Raglan was the sight, sound, and smell of the sea. She described the town as a “colonial development.” She noted the town was mainly low-rise and sought that any two-storey development needed to be in the right place, not near the foreshore. The only undeveloped land belonged to hapū and the PDP would reduce the range of activities permitted there. Ms Greensill indicated support for submissions from Mr Lawson and Ms Parson.
- 1.13 Ms Carolyn McAlley for Heritage New Zealand supported other submitters asking for greater recognition of the historical character of Raglan. She considered that the historical character setting needed to be better recognised in addition to the component elements that contribute to character and said that more detailed design guidelines would be beneficial.
- 1.14 Mr Aaron Mooar spoke of the general diversity and human scale of development in Raglan. He called for the PDP to have a descriptive and enabling approach instead of including prescriptive rules. He referred to a Housing NZ paper on designing communities as an approach to follow. Mr Mooar said that the recent development on Wainui Road was out of character because of its bulk, which made it highly visible from many directions. He also called for the PDP to address the housing crisis and the lack of affordable housing for workers in Raglan.

Further evidence on Raglan Character

- 1.15 Further evidence on Raglan’s special character was received after the hearing, as detailed later in this decision.

Panel Decisions

- 1.16 The section 42A report addressed 48 submissions and 94 further submissions. The section 42A author analysed these and made a recommendation for each submission to be accepted or rejected by the Panel, along with some changes to the proposed plan text and planning maps. The author amended some recommendations in rebuttal and hearing documents. Unless otherwise indicated in this decision, we agree with the section 42A report recommendations and accept or reject submissions accordingly, for the reasons given by the section 42A report author.

Raglan structure plan

- 1.17 Four submitters asked for a Raglan structure plan to be added to the PDP. Submitters anticipated a variety of outcomes from this, including the retention of Raglan’s character. The section 42A report recommended that these be submissions be rejected, as they would be better addressed as part of a subsequent process. The author commented that a structure plan might be a valuable tool in reconciling tensions between growth and retention of existing character, while engaging the wider Raglan community meaningfully in the development of such planning tools.

- 1.18 It is not feasible to develop a structure plan in the current process, nor do we have the jurisdiction to direct Council to promote a structure plan through a plan change. Accordingly, we reject the submissions seeking this particular relief. However, we do see value in the Council developing a structure plan for Raglan in the future. We consider that a structure plan could be an effective way to reconcile character with growth and other competing considerations. Raglan character which is indirectly linked to the structure plan issue is considered separately later in this decision.

Notification of resource consent applications

- 1.19 Notification of all resource consents was requested by 14 submitters, with 13 further submitters supporting and nine opposing. Section 77D of the Resource Management Act 1991 (RMA) enables district plans to specify activities for which applications must be notified, but the PDP does not do this, leaving the decision to notify an application to the step-by-step process under sections 95-95G of the RMA. The section 42A report rejected these submissions as unreasonable, inefficient and imposing significant costs on developments, in turn impacting on social, economic and cultural wellbeing and potentially reducing the expansion of the housing stock.<sup>3</sup> We agree and reject the submissions for those reasons.

Holiday accommodation

- 1.20 Nine submissions sought to restrict short-term accommodation through various means.<sup>4</sup> We understand that the underlying concern of the submitters is that short-term holiday letting of houses reduces the supply of long-term rentals, worsening the housing shortage and increasing rents in Raglan.
- 1.21 We heard similar submissions on the Residential Zone (Hearing 10) and rejected them, as they do not raise issues within the scope of the RMA.<sup>5</sup> We reject the submissions in this hearing for the same reason. In our view, short and long-term residential activities' effects on the environment which are controllable under the RMA are largely the same. There is no basis to further control holiday accommodation in the PDP.
- 1.22 We also reject submissions proposing a bed tax (or targeted rates) on short-term rentals because rating or collection of a bed tax is not a function nor policy of the PDP.<sup>6</sup>

Walkways, cycleways and bridleways

- 1.23 One submitter<sup>7</sup> asked for additional routes for walkways, cycleways, and bridleways to be added to the Planning Maps to fully implement the Waikato District Council Trail Strategy 2016. Another submitter expressed opposition to a trail shown at Cox Bay.<sup>8</sup> We heard other submissions on the indicative trails in Hearing 22 Infrastructure and have decided to delete all indicative trails shown on the planning maps, for reasons given in that decision. Reference to the trails strategy will be retained in the PDP in the policies of the Open Space zone chapter.

Raglan Naturally

- 1.24 One submitter asked for the PDP to adopt guiding principles from the “Raglan Naturally” community plan for all future decisions on development of Raglan.<sup>9</sup> We heard other references to Raglan Naturally from those who gave evidence at the hearing, and we accept that this community plan has significance and value to Raglan communities. However, we consider that it has not been developed through an RMA lens and it cannot be incorporated into the PDP directly. We received no evidence as to any specific provisions that might be turned into plan provisions. For these reasons, we reject the submission.

Beach access for horses

- 1.25 Seven submissions sought access for horses to Ngarunui Beach and the removal of horse restriction signs on the access track.<sup>10</sup> The section 42A report recommended that these be rejected because access for animals, including horses, on any area of a reserve is regulated by Council’s Reserves and Beaches Bylaw 2016 and not the PDP. We agree that this is not a district plan matter and reject these submissions.

Franchise signs

- 1.26 One submitter asked for policies to discourage and prevent the use of widely used franchise signs and symbols to maintain Raglan’s image of freedom from mass development. The Council’s rebuttal evidence recommended that this submission be rejected and also noted that the PDP does not control the establishment of franchises, so it would be inappropriate to control their signage.<sup>11</sup> We reject the submission for the same reason.

Miscellaneous

- 1.27 Requests for changes to Planning Map zone shadings to improve clarity are accepted in part, to the extent that this will be addressed by implementing standardised shading from the National Planning Standards. A submission asking for changes to existing roads (including changes to and revoking part of State Highway 23), road standards and speed limits, is rejected as outside the scope of the PDP. Several other submissions did not seek a decision, so they are rejected for reasons of uncertainty.
- 1.28 Affordable housing was raised in the submissions which supported the Whaingaroa Raglan Affordable Housing Project and they advocated for the PDP to enable affordable housing.<sup>12</sup> The Whaingaroa Raglan Affordable Housing Project submissions were heard in Hearing 10 Residential Zone, and our decisions and reasons are stated in our Residential Zone decisions. The supporting submissions included in the Raglan hearing are decided accordingly. Generally, our approach has been to enable a variety of living options and provide opportunities to intensify development on residential sites.

- 1.29 Affordable housing was also mentioned by submitters on the Raglan character topic. This issue is referred to below.

Raglan Special Character

- 1.30 Twenty-three submitters asked for protection of Raglan's special character in a variety of ways. They were supported and opposed in 28 further submission points. At the hearing, submitters described Raglan's character in various ways. Reference was made to seaside village character; the sight, sound and smell of the sea; and the diversity and human scale of development. Submitters called for more controls on the bulk and location of buildings.
- 1.31 The section 42A report was accompanied by a desktop Raglan Character Study by Isthmus Consultants (Isthmus), which had been compiled after engagement with submitters. Isthmus found that Raglan has special character and that the PDP does not go far enough to protect that special character. Isthmus recommended that as a district plan matter, the PDP should better recognise the special character, protect the contributing elements of character, and ensure that future development does not undermine that character.
- 1.32 The section 42A report supported the submissions' points in principle but due to matters of scope and fairness to other submitters, recommended that the submissions advocating for a Raglan Special Character zone be rejected. The reasons given were that there was no analysis at a level of detail corresponding to the scale and significance of the changes sought, and the risk that people affected by those changes were denied an effective opportunity to respond due to the lack of specificity of the submissions.<sup>13</sup> The section 42A report author suggested that we, as the Hearings Panel, consider recommending that Council address character protection in a future variation or plan change, based on the Isthmus findings and further community engagement. However as mentioned earlier, we do not have the jurisdiction to direct Council to promote such a variation or plan change .
- 1.33 After the hearing and to assist us to address the special character issue, we requested further engagement between Council staff and submitters to explore what the special character of Raglan entails and how it might be addressed in the PDP.<sup>14</sup> Our intention was to give the parties who addressed special character issues an opportunity to work together to develop objectives, policies and rules that could be incorporated in the proposed plan and report back to the Panel. The group was not asked to define a character area, but to consider the character of the Raglan urban area, with a focus on the Raglan Town Centre.

Post-hearing process and report

<sup>14</sup> Hearing Commissioners Directions dated 8 June, 22 June and 14 August: available on council website, and summarised in Attachment 4.

- 1.34 The final report received by us from the post-hearing process records the meetings which were held with submitters Gabrielle Parson (Raglan Community Board, Raglan Naturally); John Lawson (Whaingaroa Environmental Defence); Aaron Mooar; Phil Stickney (consultant for Kāinga Ora), along with Council staff and landscaping consultant Brad Coombs.<sup>15</sup>
- 1.35 The report states that the participants saw that the special character of Raglan was due to topography and the informal (and eclectic) mix of architectural styles of existing buildings, which are mainly single houses with low density and relatively small scale. They saw character protection as a broad objective that might drive controls on building mix, typologies, scale and density, affordable housing and view protection.
- 1.36 The report recommended some new plan provisions, leaving out matters the parties did not agree on and matters where implementation through district plan provisions did not seem feasible. Matters not agreed on were:
- a) a location for medium density development;
  - b) rules requiring the protection of defined viewshafts;
  - c) affordable housing; and
  - d) provisions to ensure a diversity of building designs and styles.

Our decision

- 1.37 We accept that Raglan has a special character that can be protected to some extent in the PDP. The main elements of this were identified in the Isthmus report. The post-hearing process gave us limited assistance. It was inconclusive on some relevant points, leaving gaps that can only be filled through further plan development, and we suggest that Council investigate this matter in the future via a plan change process. Some submitters called for a structure plan for Raglan (which could recognise and protect character) and we are supportive of Council developing a structure plan for Raglan in the future.
- 1.38 We have decided to add an objective, policies and some rule amendments to the PDP to address aspects of character for which we have sufficient evidence. These new provisions apply to the Raglan urban area, defined as the Business, Business Town Centre and Residential Zones in Raglan township, excluding Rangitahi Peninsula. We considered it unnecessary to create a “Raglan Special Character Area” and reject the submissions calling for that.<sup>16</sup>
- 1.39 The objective and policies are summarised below and set out in full in Attachment 1. We based these on the draft provisions recommended in the post-hearing report, with changes reflecting the overall evidence and drafting improvements.
- 1.40 The new objective reads:

<sup>15</sup> Response to the Minute from the Hearings Panel (December 2020): available on council website, under Hearing 16 / Response to Panels Direction

Objective 4.8.1: Raglan Urban Area

The key characteristics and attributes that define or support the character of Raglan Urban Area are maintained.

Policy on Raglan character

- 1.41 Two new policies implement Objective 4.8.1 to address Raglan character and view protection.
- 1.42 The first new policy calls for management of development to ensure that listed key characteristics and attributes of the Raglan urban area are not compromised.
- 1.43 We have not attempted to define Raglan's special character comprehensively but have identified elements that were clear from the evidence. The new policy takes the characteristics from the Isthmus Raglan Character Study:
- a) The visual and physical relationship between the township and the harbour, the coast and Mount Karioi;
  - b) The outward-facing nature of the underlying landforms;
  - c) The arrangement and layout of the township across peninsulas connected by causeways and bridges;
  - d) The sinuous tree-lined coastal edge formed by the peninsulas;
  - e) The scale of development in Raglan township which provides a sense of openness within the settlement; and
  - f) The informal character of the settlement pattern.

Policy on views

- 1.44 The PDP as notified included some view protection. Policy 4.2.2(a)(ii) is to ensure that residential development in the Residential Zone promotes views and vistas from public spaces of the hinterland beyond; and Policy 4.5.14 (Business Town Centre Zone) is to maintain some views towards Raglan Harbour. Other policies in Chapter 4 support maximising views, view sharing, and recognise views of natural features in several urban zones.
- 1.45 We have decided to add a new, Policy 4.8.3 – Public Views, to augment the existing policies by listing “locally important viewshafts” and defining six views in Raglan to be protected. These listed views are described in words but are not mapped, as mapping requires additional field work and public engagement beyond the current process. The listed views are to be maintained to the extent practicable, recognising that there will be value judgements in the application of these provisions. The views are to the harbour, coast and/or Mount Karioi over the Raglan Urban Area from:
- a) State Highway 23;
  - b) Main Road, Bow Street and Norrie Avenue;
  - c) South and west views from Bow Street between Norrie Avenue and Bankart Street;
  - d) Raglan Town Centre; and
  - e) Wainui Road between the Bryant Reserve and the Bible Crusade Camp.

- 1.46 Submissions also asked for rules to protect these views from various zones.<sup>17</sup> Further submitters opposed all those submissions. These were heard in Hearings 9, 10 and 16, and in each case the section 42A report author recommended rejecting the submissions, largely because there was not enough detail in the submissions as to the location of the proposed viewshafts, the level and means of protection, or the wording for the applicable rules.<sup>18</sup> These gaps were not filled by evidence at the hearings.
- 1.47 Rules controlling views must precisely describe the extent and location of the relevant views. Clarity is important to the landowners affected by and also to Council staff implementing the rules. The evidence in this hearing from Mr and Mrs Wheeler illustrates how the burden of view protection can fall heavily on individual landowners.
- 1.48 The section 42A report author concluded that there was not enough information to support the submissions asking for rules on views and recommended that they be rejected.<sup>19</sup> We consider that there is sufficient basis to add some matters of discretion, to enable effects on views to be assessed in resource consents, and to that extent the submissions are accepted in part.

Matters of discretion

- 1.49 To support the new policies on character and views, we have decided to add matters of discretion applicable to resource consent applications for new buildings that are restricted discretionary activities. In the General Residential Zone, restricted discretionary rules apply to any buildings that contravene the permitted setbacks, coverage and the height control plane. Buildings that contravene other standards are discretionary activities, automatically assessed by reference to policies.
- 1.50 The matters of discretion require consideration of effects on the matters covered in the policies, as well as the appearance, scale, form, massing, materials, setbacks, relationship to the street, and effects on views. The full text is set out in Attachment 1.

Medium density

- 1.51 The location of medium density development is addressed in a separate decision.<sup>20</sup> In defining that zone, we considered the character evidence we heard in this hearing. Accordingly, the land rezoned for medium density is at least a block back from the harbourside, and we have included a two-storey height restriction on Raglan medium-density development. We reject a submission in the Raglan hearing calling for an area of high-density development near the cement silos, as this is too far away from the town centre shops, community facilities and public transport.

Raglan Town Centre

- 1.52 Eleven submissions were made about the Raglan Town Centre, mainly focusing on the character of that area. Eight called for changes to Policy 4.5.14, which shapes development in the town centre and adopts the Raglan Town Centre Character Statement set out in PDP Appendix 10.1.

- 1.53 Kāinga Ora sought to remove reference to the town character statement. Instead, this submission sought to include in Policy 4.5.14 the desired outcomes sought from the relevant town character statement. Mr Stickney said in his evidence that this would avoid duplication for an applicant having to address assessment criteria, character statements (and urban design guidelines) as well as relevant objectives and policies. In his view, developing robust statutory assessment criteria that govern new buildings, drawn from the urban design guidelines and the character statements, would represent a clearer and more concise structure for the PDP provisions.
- 1.54 The section 42A report recommended that the submission be accepted, saying that this will make the PDP more user-friendly and strengthen the policy. Amendments to Policy 4.5.14 were recommended accordingly. We agree that it is better to consolidate the key outcomes in the policy. This simpler and more direct approach will strengthen the PDP regarding the Raglan town centre character. We accept the submission and recommended amendments.
- 1.55 Kāinga Ora made similar submissions in respect of the other town centres in the district, which were heard in Hearing 3 on Strategic Objectives.<sup>21</sup> Our decision is similar for all the town centres.
- 1.56 Attachment 1 contains our amendments to Policy 4.5.14. The new text no longer refers to the Raglan Town Centre Character Statement. Instead, the text of the policy now includes the key points from that statement. The Raglan Town Centre Character Statement is deleted from the PDP, as it is no longer referenced in the provisions.
- 1.57 One submission, seeking changes to the character statement, has become redundant, as the character statement is now to be deleted from the PDP. However, we would have rejected the submission in any case, for the reason given in the section 42A report, being that the statement already recognised the characteristics expressed in the submission.<sup>22</sup>
- 1.58 Five submissions on Raglan Town Centre either oppose or seek to delete that part of Policy 4.5.14 that imposes an obligation for new buildings on street corners to be two-storied. The section 42A report rejected these submissions, saying that corner sites are ideal for mixed-use developments, provide an opportunity to define the street corner and reinforce the adjacent public space through their overall form and façade. We agree, and reject the submissions for those reasons, making no change to the two-storey policy. Also, we note that the Raglan Town Centre Character Statement as notified supported corner buildings more than two storeys.<sup>23</sup> By deleting the character statement as discussed above, we have removed that inconsistency.

- 1.59 We also reject a submission calling for three-storey buildings to be permitted generally in the town centre, as we consider that the current 10m permitted height control (equivalent to two storeys in a commercial context) best fits the character of the area. For the same reason, we reject a submission calling for notification of all developments over one storey, which we interpret as a call for the permitted activity height limit to be changed to one storey. We reject the call for inflexible notification in that submission for the reasons given in the discussion on notification earlier in this decision.
- 1.60 Other submissions on the town centre, calling for the plan to encourage the provision of a youth hub, art space and conference venue, and to discourage widely used franchise signs, are outside the scope of the district plan and are accordingly rejected. Submissions calling for retention of Policy 4.5.14 generally, or parts of it, are accepted, subject to the amendments discussed.

Built environment

- 1.61 The built environment outside the town centre attracted eleven submissions. Some of the issues raised in those submissions overlap with the Raglan character submissions as well as other matters which we have discussed above.
- 1.62 Seven submissions specifically mentioned a recent multi-unit dwelling development on the corner of Wainui Road and Stewart Street, calling for that kind of development to be avoided in future. In evidence, we heard criticism of that development as being out of character because of its bulk, which made it highly visible from many directions and was too close to the harbour.
- 1.63 The section 42A report described the Wainui Road-Stewart Street development as 11 three-bedroom apartments within three separate blocks, 7.45m high. The author noted that consent had been obtained in 2018 for an average net site area of 128m<sup>2</sup> per dwelling where 300m<sup>2</sup> was the standard. The submissions were recommended to be rejected, because the development had been assessed and considered to meet the tests under the RMA.<sup>24</sup>
- 1.64 It is not our role to evaluate the design nor assessment and consenting process for that development. However, we did view the property and consider that the development is generally unremarkable. We note that its height is within the Residential Zone permitted activity standard of 7.5m and buildings of the same height are common in Raglan. The buildings are set back from the harbour by the width of the road plus some open space, and the apparent bulk has been moderated with open spaces between the three groups of attached dwellings.
- 1.65 While the development may appear bulkier than the submitters have been used to, we do not agree that this building style should be avoided. We consider that two-storey attached dwellings will become more common in future. These are clearly enabled in the PDP: Objective 4.1.1 calls for sustainable and efficient communities, contemplating growth; Objective 4.2.16 calls for a range of housing options and higher density near town centres; Policy 4.1.16 provides for Raglan to be developed to ensure infill and redevelopment and a variety of housing densities; and Policy 4.1.17 is to enable multi-unit development.

- 1.66 Multi-unit developments can have positive environmental effects by accommodating growth without increasing urban sprawl. A location near the town centre has benefits in terms of easy access to the facilities there. Any adverse effects will be assessed case by case, as the rules require consents to be obtained for multi-unit developments as restricted discretionary activities. Assessment will include the matters of discretion for Raglan character as discussed earlier in this decision. For those reasons, we reject the submissions on restricting further multi-unit development.
- 1.67 One submitter sought to amend Objective 4.2.16, to ensure the character of Raglan is not compromised.<sup>25</sup> This objective promotes housing options, including higher density residential living near town centres. As discussed above, we support multi-unit development near the town centre and we consider that the character outcomes sought are addressed to the extent possible in our policy changes and additional matters of discretion. The submission is rejected for those reasons.
- 1.68 Some submitters sought provisions to be included in the plan to provide for affordable housing. What is affordable has many variables and is difficult to quantify. We consider affordability can be addressed in the PDP by allowing for future housing supply to meet demand as well as a variety and choice of housing including a variety of densities.
- 1.69 The National Policy Statement on Urban Development 2020 (NPS-UD) is also a factor in relation to multi-unit developments in future. While we do not wish to anticipate the Council's strategic responses to the NPS-UD, increased provision for multi-unit development is clearly an option.
- 1.70 Several submitters sought to avoid all multi-storey buildings. The section 42A report rejected these submissions, saying that one to two-storey buildings are characteristic of buildings both in the town centre and in the wider town, where the topography of the land and the desire for sea views promote the construction of multi-storied buildings. Multi-storey buildings have positive effects, in that they utilise space efficiently (noting that Raglan has limited space) and help to maintain a walkable, compact town. We agree and reject the submissions for those reasons.
- 1.71 Another submission sought to restrict buildings to two storeys specifically in the town centre and within coastal strips in Raglan. The notified height controls (measured in metres) are equivalent to two storeys in all zones in Raglan (which we conclude must encompass any "coastal strips", although the submitter did not identify these). No change is required to the plan and that submission is accepted.

Conclusion

- 1.72 We accept and/or reject the section 42A report and the evidence filed by the submitters, which collectively forms the section 32AA assessment informing this Decision.

- 1.73 Overall, we are satisfied that the Raglan planning provisions as amended will provide a suitable framework for maintaining the coastal character of Raglan while allowing for future development including the provision of housing choices.
- 1.74 The final planning provisions specific to Raglan forming part of Chapters 4 and 13 of the PDP are set out and attached as Attachment 1.

Chapter 4: Urban Environment

4.5.14 Policy – Raglan Town Centre

- (a) Development maintains and enhances the role of the Raglan Town Centre by:
  - (i) Maintaining wide footpaths and high-quality public space, prioritising and providing for pedestrian movement and safety;
  - (ii) Maintaining a pedestrian focus by discouraging vehicle access across footpaths;
  - (iii) Maintaining built form framing views towards Raglan Harbour;
  - (iv) Providing for a building height and scale appropriate to the town centre; and
  - (v) Protecting and enhancing the character of existing buildings through new built form being sympathetic to the existing main street built form and the surrounding context, whilst still promoting the eclectic and artistic nature of the town consistent with the outcomes of the Town Centre Character Statement for Raglan Town Centre (Appendix 10.1), in particular by:
    - A. Promoting traditional roof forms (hipped or gable ends) and symmetry through window design and placement;
    - B. Providing continuous post supported verandahs sheltering footpaths;
    - C. Promoting recessed shop fronts;
    - D. Providing parking, loading and storage where rear access to buildings exists;
    - E. Promoting active street frontages by developing up- to-the-street boundaries;
    - F. Reinforcing the street corners by ensuring the design is two storey and is transparent on both sides of the street corner;
    - G. Encouraging the preservation and promotion of cultural features’.
  - (vi) Focusing retailing activities along Bow Street and Wainui Road with new development on these streets designed to: A. Appear small in scale (one or two storeys); B. Contain active frontages and transparent facades at street level; and C. Generally build out to the street boundary.
