Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.2 Land Use – Effects > 16.2.4 Earthworks > 16.2.4.1 Earthworks - General
Summary of Decision Requested	No specific decision sought, but submission recognises that the importation of fill to enable residential development is appropriate in Rule 16.2.4.1 Earthworks - General, and questions whether this would be a permitted activity (P2) or a non-complying activity (NC1).
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • These provisions seem to be workable but the submitter is interested in the thoughts of other submitters. • Cleanfill may be required in residential zoned sites to enable greenfield land to be developed for residential purposes. It is unclear whether this is a P2 permitted activity or a NC1 non-complying activity. NC1 would be too restrictive and needs to be more lenient to enable greenfield development within residential zones.

Plan chapter

Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.2 Land Use – Effects > 16.2.5 Hazardous substances

Summary of Decision Requested

Add a clause to Rule 16.2.5 Hazardous substances, as follows:

16.2.5 Hazardous substances

(a) The use, storage or disposal of any hazardous substance where:

(i) the aggregate quantity of any hazardous substance of any hazard classification on a site is less than the quantity specified in the Residential zone in Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances).

(ii) 16.2.5(a)(i) excludes the fire stations and associated fire service operations.

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan to make further or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 16.2.5 as while fire stations and associated firefighting activities involve the use and storage of hazardous substances at quantities that are considered minor, it is possible that the permitted provisions may not enable for this, and could affect Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to operate as effectively as needed.
- Fire and Emergency New Zealand's recent firefighting chemicals work has highlighted a number of challenges and limitations with the way the hazardous substances rules are written in district plans. Therefore, Fire and Emergency New Zealand requests that fire stations and associated firefighting activities are excluded from the permitted activity Rule 16.2.5 for the following reasons:
 1. The 8.3 Classification (Table 5.1 contained with Appendix 5-Hazardous substances) has only a 50L/kg limit in residential zones, and is quite low in other areas- lots of household products are eye corrosives from dishwashing powder to laundry powder. This would limit and potentially prevent Fire and Emergency New Zealand having a HAZMAT vehicle based in this zone because they carry neutralizing agents which are eye corrosives. A greater concern is that some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants and foams also have this classification and this limit could potentially require that Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a resource consent to hold a small amount or any of these chemicals on site, as a 50kg limit would be largely taken up by ordinary household chemicals used on site.
 2. The 8.3A classifications is for eye corrosion. A person is only affected by this hazard class if they come into direct contact with a product with this classification. This hazard is also managed under the health and safety at work and HSNO legislation usually via labeling and PPE requirements. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers that there is no logic in restricting the amount of these substances held as it relates to Fire and Emergency New Zealand operations, particularly if they are in enclosed for systems.
 3. Some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants are solids rather than liquids and the reasons for the limits specified in the plan do not make sense for solids. Fire and Emergency New Zealand current main fire retardant is a powder but Fire and Emergency New Zealand are also looking at new foams which come in bricks. As such, the higher restrictions for waterways do not make sense for these products as they do not leak or flow.
 4. Fire and Emergency New Zealand often requires the temporary storage of chemicals necessary for providing an emergency response, during an emergency and within a short period after the emergency, i.e. there is a small grace period for example is Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a truck to remove a container which has firefighting chemicals in it, Fire and Emergency New Zealand may need to wait for a few working days after the emergency has finished for a contractor to do that work. Not providing for this could restrict Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to respond to bush or other major events, e.g. large acid spills and other HAZMAT events. This could result in a breach of the RMA in order to bring in the necessary products to resolve the issue and prevent further harm.

Summary of Decision Requested

Delete Rule 16.2.5 – Hazardous Substances.

AND

Any consequential amendments or further relief to give effect to the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed provisions are opposed and the submitter seeks the deletion of all proposed hazardous substances controls relating to storage, use, disposal or transportation of hazardous substances at service station sites (as broadly defined) or refuelling sites.
- The submitter also supports the deletion of all rules pertaining to control hazardous substances where such controls are inappropriate, unnecessary, ineffective, inefficient and unable to be justified via a Section 32 analysis.
- These rules are all designed to address risk associated with hazardous substances. Risk is appropriately managed via other legislation and the Section 32 Report fails to identify why additional controls are required.
- The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 removed the explicit function of district and regional councils to control adverse effects of the storage, use, disposal, or transportation of hazardous substances under sections 30 and 31 of the Resource Management Act 1991 (RMA).
- The changes came into effect on 19 April 2017 and are intended to ensure councils only place controls on hazardous substances where necessary to control effects under the RMA that are not covered by Hazardous Substance New Organisms Act 1996 or Health and Safety At Work Act 2015.
- The purpose of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act is to protect the environment, and the health and safety of people and communities, by preventing or managing the adverse effects of hazardous substances and new organisms. The Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act covers a range of matters including:
 - a. site and building requirements for where a hazardous substance may be used, including requirements for storage and primarily requiring primary and secondary containment;
 - b. the safe transportation of hazardous substances;
 - c. emergency management requirements in relation to the substance in the event of a spill or other emergency; and
 - d. how the substance may be disposed of.
- The Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 provides a framework to secure the health and safety of works and workplaces and integrates the regulation of workplace use of hazardous substances.
- The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 followed the decision of the Independent Hearing Panel on the Christchurch Replacement District Plan. That decision was to reject Christchurch City Council's hazardous substance controls (which were based on an activity status table (AST) approach and to only retain controls relating to hazardous substances in close proximity to the National Grid.
- The Ministry for the Environment considers that in most cases the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act and the Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 controls will be adequate to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse environmental effects of hazardous substances and that RMA controls may be used if existing HSNO or Work safe controls are not adequate to address the environmental effects of hazardous substances in any particularly case. The submitter strongly supports the Ministry for the Environment's position in this regard.
- The submitter seeks that any proposed controls around hazardous substances do not duplicate those controls addressed under other legislation. Any duplication is considered unnecessary and inefficient.
- The section 32 report for Hazardous Substances acknowledges the removal of Council's functions in regards to hazardous substances and recognizes the "Resource Management Plans should not be in conflict with HSNO requirements and should not repeat them".
- The report further recognizes that "rationale for a higher level of protection through additional land use controls under the Act may be appropriate for substances both controlled by the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act or for issues which are not within the scope of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act, such as reverse sensitivity".
- However there is a significant disconnect between the overview and purpose sections of the Section 32 Report and the regulatory provisions in the Proposed District Plan.
- As an example, in regard to service stations the Section 32 Report concludes that, "the controlled activity status has been assigned to the storage and retail sale of fuel within service stations above a certain level in some zones to recognize that these substances are well managed through standards and industry practice. However, above these thresholds, the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered.
- No rationale/analysis is provided within the section 32 report to justify why specific volume thresholds apply to service stations or why the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered reasonable if quantities are above those limits.
- The Section 32 Report does not provide analysis to justify why hazardous substances associated with service stations are only addressed in certain zones and in what way the Council considers the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act to not adequately control potential adverse effects associated with hazardous substances at service station - for example, why the Council considers site design, layout and monitoring and reporting of incidents are matters that the Council should reserve control over.
- In light of the Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 and controls under other legislation and the lack of rationale/analysis within the Section 32 Report for hazardous substances, it is considered the proposed hazardous substance controls are largely unnecessary and should therefore be deleted.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.2 Land Use – Effects > 16.2.7 Signs > 16.2.7.1 Signs – general

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.2.7.1 P2 Signs - general to exclude any type of signage on Heritage Items and Maaori Sites of Significance.

AND

Amend Rule 16.2.7.1 RD1 to include signage on Heritage items and Maaori Sites of Significance.

AND

Add an advice note under this new rule to advise of the other heritage building related rules within the Chapter.

AND

Provide for any consequential amendments as required.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter cannot support the P2 Signs General where the zone rules that relate to signage, including on heritage items or Maori sites of significance are permitted activities with variations between the zones as to the permitted size and height of signage.
- While signs generally are not permitted in heritage buildings or Maori sites of significance, a sign of 3m2 on a heritage building could be permitted in some zones if the sign was for identification or interpretation purposes.
- The generic, zoned based approach does not reflect the need to assess the suitability of a signage proposal against the specific heritage values of the individual building or site.
- The generic approach has the potential to cause adverse effects of historic heritage and Maaori sites of significance.
- To avoid adverse effects to heritage items and Maaori sites of significance it would be more appropriate for any signage on heritage items and Maaori sites of Significance to be elevated to a restricted discretionary activity level of assessment and subject to the matters of discretion already included (i.e. (vi) and (vii)).

(a) Any real estate ~~for sale~~ sign relating to the site on which it is located must comply with all of the following conditions:

(i) There is no more than 1 sign per agency measuring 600mm x 900mm per road frontage of the site to which the sign relates;

(ii) There is no more than 1 sign measuring 1800mm x 1200mm per site to which the sign relates;

(iii) There is no more than 1 real estate header sign measuring 1800mm x 1200mm on one other site;

~~(iv) (y) The sign is not illuminated;~~

~~(v) (y) The sign does not contain any moving parts, fluorescent, flashing or revolving lights or reflective materials;~~

~~(vi) (y) The sign does not project into or over road reserve.~~

(vii) Any real estate sign shall be removed from display within 60 days of sale/lease or upon settlement, whichever is the earliest.

AND

Any consequential amendments and/or additional relief required to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The notified rules for real estate signs are too restrictive.
- Corner sites should be able to have additional sign opportunities without adversely affecting residential character and amenity.
- Allowance should be made for feature signs which are commonly used for properties going to auction or tender.
- Header signs should be able to be established on another sign (often on a high volume road) to direct purchasers to the site which is for sale (often on a low volume road).

(a) Any sign directed at road land transport users must:

(iii) Not obstruct sight lines of drivers turning into or out of a site entrance and intersections or at a level crossing;

AND

Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.

Decision Reasons:

- Signs erected in the City should not have an adverse effect on the safe and efficient functioning of the land transport network, including railways, and the health and safety of road users. Traffic on the railway network will grow, and with more trains the issue of minimizing driver distraction is important to ensure the efficient running of the land transport network.
- Further, signs should be restricted where they breach the level crossing sightline areas developed from the NZTA Traffic Control Devices Manual 2008, Part 9 Level Crossings as sought in KiwiRail submission 67.
- It is appropriate to restrict and prevent the placement of signs within required sight lines for vehicles access and intersections, and within the sight lines required for rail crossings.

Summary of Decision Requested

Retain Rule 16.2.8 D1 Indigenous vegetation clearance inside a Significant Natural Area.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter is supportive of indigenous vegetation clearance beyond permitted thresholds becoming a discretionary activity (D1).

Point Number	81.46
Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.2 Land Use – Effects > 16.2.8 Indigenous vegetation clearance inside a Significant Natural Area

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter supports the provision for sustainable clearance of regenerating Manuka or Kanuka for domestic firewood purposes or for arts or crafts in P2. However, the submitter does not support the removal of Manuka or Kanuka from wetlands or vegetation that is naturally short in stature. It is important to ensure that vegetation that is naturally short does not get included in the rules intended to provide for clearance of Manuka and Kanuka colonising pasture. Manuka, in particular, can be a permanent and important component of some types of ecosystems. These are generally wetlands, dunes and other coastal vegetation, but can be gumland vegetation that remains in the leached soils following kauri forest removal. These persistent shrublands are important habitats for lizards, orchids, mistletoes and a range of threatened species. Exclusion of permitted clearance of Manuka or Kanuka from wetlands and from the Coastal Environment is likely to prevent clearance of these ecosystems of concern The exclusion of Manuka and/or Kanuka clearance in the Coastal Environment from this rule would give effect to the 'avoid' direction in the New Zealand Coastal Policy Statement (NZCPS) and Policy 11.4 of the WRPS. Vegetation clearance within an SNA needs to be remedied to give effect to Policy 3.2.3(a)(ii).

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 16.2.8 P3 Indigenous vegetation clearance inside a Significant Natural Area by giving it restricted discretionary activity status. AND/OR Amend to provide tighter thresholds/ activity status in the Coastal Environment.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> P3 Provides for clearance of 250m² of indigenous vegetation removal within an SNA for building/access purposes if there is no alternative development area on the site outside the SNA. Natural values will not necessarily be evenly spread across the SNA and it is likely that some parts will be of higher natural value or of greater sensitivity than others. It is appropriate to retain discretion about the location of clearance in order to avoid as much as possible the adverse effects of the vegetation clearance. It is appropriate to require mitigation or offsetting to give effect to Policy 3.2.3(a)(iii) or (iv). As currently drafted this rule does not give effect to the 'avoid' direction in the New Zealand Coastal Policy Statement and Policy 11.4 for the coastal environment.

AND/OR Amend Rule 16.2.8 P4 Indigenous vegetation clearance inside a Significant Natural Area to assign a lower threshold than clearance off indigenous vegetation outside of SNA for the same activity. AND/OR Amend Rule 16.2.8 P4 Indigenous vegetation clearance inside a Significant Natural Area to provide an overall cap on clearance as a permitted activity. AND/OR Amend to clarify the location and extent of areas that might be subject to this rule in order to determine if it is likely to have a significant effect on indigenous biodiversity. AND/OR Amend to provide tighter thresholds/ activity status in the Coastal Environment.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> P4 provides for up to 1500m² of vegetation removal for marae complex, 500 m² /dwelling, 500 m² / building, as a permitted activity. Cumulatively this could be a large loss of significant indigenous vegetation and habitat without the ability to address adverse effects through avoiding, remedying, mitigating or offsetting. It is noted that this is the same amount of clearance is provided for non-significant indigenous vegetation. As currently drafted this rule does not give effect to the 'avoid' direction in the New Zealand Coastal Policy Statement and Policy 11.4 for the coastal environment.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The current rules for vegetation clearance within Significant Natural Areas fails to adequately protect or manage biodiversity values present in these areas. It is important to appropriately manage indigenous vegetation clearance to prevent further fragmentation and loss in the Waikato District. P2 describes a maximum volume of Manuka and kanuka that may be removed per 12 months outside of the coastal environment. A volume of timber is dependent on the size of trees and their density where 5m3 may be clearance of an area of a few 5m2, where a few large trees have been harvested. Summary of Decision Requested Delete Rule 16.2.8 Indigenous vegetation clearance inside a Significant Natural Area
Add provisions that will increase natural habitats.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports bush regeneration, such as that at Wainui Bush Reserve.
- The Proposed District Plan makes no attempt to indicate how much bush has been lost, or will be lost by these and other provisions in the Proposed District Plan.
- Screening with trees should be applied to improve and protect views from Raglan and its beaches.
- Much of the attraction of Raglan derives from its beaches and the north shore of the harbour having rural aspects.
- New subdivisions could diminish that attraction and an active policy of tree planting to establish belts of trees screening those views would help to protect the rural image.
- Alternatively, the Proposed District Plan could ban development which would detract from those views.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.3 Land Use – Building

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.3 Land use, so that the number of dwellings and the definition of a minor dwelling allow for more than one primary dwelling and one minor dwelling per site. The submission sets out some examples of possible amendments to rules, e.g.:
 Rule 16.3.1 P1

Two dwellings within a site where the combined floor areas do not exceed x percentage of the section.

New Rule 16.3.1.P2

Three dwellings within a site, if at least two of the dwellings are small houses each with a gross floor area of less than 45m².

Decision Reasons:

- Increasing building density in residential-zoned land can increase the availability of affordable housing.
- Increasing density requires building smaller dwellings or multi-unit dwellings.
- Rule 16.3 restricts the number of dwellings and therefore adds cost through requiring a resource consent.
- These changes enable affordable housing design to maximise the number of dwellings on a site without discretionary consent.

(b) Any activity that does not comply with a condition for a permitted activity is a discretionary activity.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter generally opposes the activity status for a dwelling that does not comply with Rule 16.3.1 P1. Provisions for building a second dwelling on site or multi-unit developments are restrictive and discourage the desired urban uplift sought in the district. It is found that any type of in-fill housing development (i.e. build a second dwelling on an existing lot) or multi-unit development will trigger a consent requirement. The Proposed District Plan permits one dwelling per site. Subdivision consent will be required first in order to construct an in-fill dwelling. One dwelling per site is unnecessary and overly restrictive regulation and will act to discourage any new residential development including any in-fill type developments to occur. It also does not encourage sufficient housing choice and variety in residential built form to support changing demographics, lifestyles, rising housing costs, future housing demands and population growth in the Waikato District. Amendments are required to the Residential Zone as a means of better enabling and incentivising residential development in the district. In doing so, Housing New Zealand proposes changes are necessary to triggers for consent and matters of discretion.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 16.3.2 (a)(i) Minor dwelling to reduce the minimum net site area 900m2 to enable Minor dwellings on smaller lots.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitters have experienced that minor dwellings are becoming more common for a variety of situations (e.g. investors, elderly parents, adult children saving for home deposit). Minor dwellings are often being constructed with new builds to provide an additional income stream for first home buyers and helping finance approval. In a new build situation, minor dwellings can easily be integrated into the bulk of the primary dwelling. In Tauranga, sections 500m2 and over are allowed. In Queenstown, there is no minimum lot size to be entitled to a Minor dwelling but the submitters are frequently building them on lots of approximately 400m2. Whilst the submitters acknowledge that Tauranga and Queenstown are quite different to Waikato, they believe that 900m2 is too restrictive. The 900m2 limit will rule out the majority of new-build/greenfield subdivisions, because the lots sizes are too small.

- As a result, there should be a smaller net site area requirement for a minor dwelling.
- Multi-unit development in the residential zone allows 1 residential unit per 300m². Such multi-unit development allows greater dwelling capacity.

Decision Reasons:

- The inclusion of a specific exemption for emergency service facilities and hose drying towers in order to appropriately provide for the operational requirements of Fire and Emergency New Zealand.
- Fire stations are single storied buildings of approximately 8-9m in height. Some fire stations also include a hose drying tower between 12-15m in height.
- The inclusion of an exemption would better provide for the health and safety of the community by enabling the efficient functioning of Fire and Emergency New Zealand.

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.3.3.1 PI Height - Building general, as follows:

PI The maximum height of any building must not exceed ~~7.5m~~ 8m.

AND

Any consequential amendments to Rule 16.3.5 Daylight Admission such as taking the recession plane angle measurement from an elevation of 3m (rather than the proposed 2.5m) above ground level.

Decision Reasons:

- The Operative District Plan provides for a permitted building height of 8m. There is no compelling basis for reducing the permitted building height by 0.5m.
- The submitter has been unable to find any section 32 analysis that provides justification for this approach.
- Consequential amendments may also be necessary to the daylight admission control Rule 16.3.5.

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.3.3.1 PI Height - Building general so the rule applies to that part of the building structure opposite the immediate ground level only.

AND

Amend Rule 16.3.5 Daylight admission as a consequential amendment.

Decision Reasons:

- The rule is suitably for flat sites.
- A development on a steeply sloped site is severely penalised.
- This would avoid giving neighbours perverse objection rights.
- Height in relation to boundary would need to account for the same.
- Subdivision design would need to ensure larger lots on steeper sites than the minimums to avoid solar access issues when development occurs.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Opposes the height control plane rising at an angle of 37 degrees commencing at an elevation of 2.5m above the ground level at every point of the site boundary for the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Inconsistency with previous Planning documents which are less restrictive. - Too restrictive for urban areas. - Adequate amenity and daylight for adjoining sites can be achieved with a less restrictive control plane. - The 37 degree angle is difficult to calculate.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 16.3.6 P1 Building coverage, to increase building coverage for homes from 40% to 50%.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The worldwide trend is for smaller lots due to costs Smaller lots are usually the first to sell The pace of life is much faster now Children do not play or use outside areas as much these days and often prefer to socialise away from their homes or undertake inside activities Homes now often cater for adult children who remain living with their families well into adulthood due to the high cost of renting or buying their first home so many homes are need 4-5 bedrooms and additional living areas Most people do not want large lawns or gardens anymore Very few homes in most cities in the western world would have the luxury of 60% their site being garden and not want it Many homeowners want media rooms, garages etc. but not large gardens or large lawns. Most states in Australia now allow much higher site coverage for homes to cater for the trend towards larger homes on smaller sections Land costs and developments costs have substantially increased over the past ten years and are likely to continue increasing.

Decision Reasons:

- The trend in most western residential areas is for smaller lots and smaller houses
- Children do not play outside nearly as often as they used to and inside activities seem to be preferred, particularly with the massive growth and popularity of social media
- Adult family members prefer using media rooms or having multiple inside living areas and often an office
- More time is being spent inside the home and this will continue
- Decreasing the minimum areas for living courts will not result in wholesale movement away from large gardens but would allow larger homes to be built on some of the lots available for sale
- Apartments do not need large outside living court areas – unless balconies are on the Northside of the building, they are seldom used
- If people do not want large living court areas they can buy a unit or apartment with a large outdoor living court if they choose – there is no need to regulate large living court areas
- The market will decide what they want and should have the option of choice
- Most people prefer more area inside their homes, not outside.

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.3.7 P1 (iii)- Living court by changing the 80m2 requirement to 40m2.

Decision Reasons:

- Decreasing living court requirements will enable more dwellings to be situated on a single site.
- Increasing building density in residential zoned land can increase the availability of affordable housing.
- Increasing density while meeting the height to boundary and other restrictions requires building smaller dwellings or multi-unit dwellings.
- Rule 16.3 currently restricts the numbers of dwellings per site and the size of those buildings therefore requiring discretionary resource consent adding to the cost of development.
- Amending Rule 16.3 as suggested enables affordable development design in residential zoned land to maximize number of dwellings on a site without discretionary consent.
- Other councils have made similar changes (e.g. Auckland, Wellington) to enable increased density by right within the rules of the plan.

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.3.7 Living Court so that an additional 10m² per bedroom be required for outdoor living space for 3 bedrooms or more, and that the 4m dimension be reduced to 3m.

Decision Reasons:

- There is no obvious need for such wide variations to occur.
- The minimum dimensions in the Proposed district Plan are difficult to achieve, particularly on narrow sites that occur in the District.

(ii) It is readily accessible from a living area of the minor dwelling;

(iii) When located on the ground floor it has a minimum area of ~~40m² 10m²~~ and a minimum dimension of ~~4m 2m~~ in any direction.

(iv) When located on a balcony of an above ground apartment, it must have a minimum area of ~~15m² 8m²~~ and a minimum dimension of ~~2m 1.6m~~ in any direction.

Decision Reasons:

- The Plan requires excessive outdoor living areas relative to 450m² lot size provision for residential Lots.
- While the Plan seeks some intensification and increased density to accommodate future growth the land use provisions in the Plan create a suburban form which is at odds with the strategic direction and objectives and policies for the urban environment.
- Excessive sized outdoor living areas will restrict the ability to develop the urban land. The size standards exceed the existing Franklin District Plan standard which requires 60m² of outdoor living area.
- The Perception of urban living is changing and people no longer need large outdoor areas. Smaller outdoor living courts have been adopted by Auckland Council to promote a more compact living approach and should be adopted by the Waikato District Council to achieve the strategic objectives.
- Reducing the minimum outdoor living court allows for variety in lifestyle and lower maintenance.

(b) Council's discretion shall be restricted to any of the following matters:

(i) Design and location of the building;

(ii) Provision for service court space.

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan as consequential or additional relief as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission as necessary.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter generally opposes the proposed service court provisions.
- The submitter seeks the minimum service court is reduced.
- This will enable better utilisation of the site for residential development.

- The submitter proposed changes are necessary triggers for consent and matters of discretion.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The current 6m setback is unworkable, particularly in the Raglan area Most land zoned for residential housing in much of the Waikato, particularly Raglan, is undulating with many lots being steep and often difficult to access. As a result of the rules in the Operative Plan it was almost impossible for many homes in the district to be built with a 6m setback from the road so dispensations had to be applied for which causes many time delays in the processing of consents and unnecessary cost increases Any rule that is clearly not workable for much of the terrain in our district should be changed If so many dispensations need to be applied for then it is proof that a rule needs to be amended Homes built closer to the road are more secure so this should be allowable and encouraged Homes built closer to the road allow for a larger area behind the home for recreation, which is much safer than having children play in front of the home, on driveways and near the road.

Decision Reasons:

- The addition provides an additional implementation method to protect the existing recognised intensive farming operations within Ngaruawahia. Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.3 Land Use – Building > 16.3.9 Building setbacks > 16.3.9.2 Building setback – Sensitive land use
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 16.3.9.2 Building setback – Sensitive land use as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief):

Building setback – Sensitive land use

P1 Sensitive land use

(a) Any new building or alteration to an existing building for a sensitive land use must be set back a minimum of:

(i) 5m from the designated boundary of the railway corridor

P2 Railway corridor

any new buildings or alterations to an existing building must be setback 5 metres from any designated railway corridor boundary.

OR

Retain Rule 16.3.9.2 P1(a)(i) Building setback -sensitive land use if the primary relief above is not accepted

AND

Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.

Decision Reasons:

- KiwiRail seeks that a 5metre setback apply to all new building development adjacent to operational railway corridor boundaries (i.e. not just sensitive land uses). Ensuring all new structures in all zones are set back from the rail corridor allows access and maintenance to occur without the landowner or occupier needing to gain access to the rail corridor- potentially compromising their own safety.
- Setting back buildings from the rail corridor boundary is a means of ensuring people's health and wellbeing through good design.
- Construction of buildings in close proximity to the rail corridor has significant safety risk if it is not managed appropriately in accordance with relevant standards.
- A 5m setback is not an acoustic setback. It allows for vehicular access to the backs of buildings (e.g. a cherry picker) and would also allow scaffolding to be erected safely. This in turn fosters visual amenity as lineside properties can then be regularly maintained.
- A setback is the most efficient method of ensuring intensification does not result in additional safety issues for activities adjacent to the rail corridor, whilst not restricting the ongoing operation and growth of activity within the rail corridor.
- The proposed provisions would require any development within the setback to obtain consent with matters of discretion relating to:
 - (i) location, design and use of the proposed building or structure as it relates to the rail network
 - (ii) impacts on the safe operation, maintenance and development of the rail network
 - (iii) construction and maintenance management.
- The relief provides for the rejection of the primary relief. This setback applies only to sensitive land use buildings which does not achieve the safety and amenity benefits sought throughout the district.

Decision Reasons:

- Wetland as described in the RMA includes permanently or intermittently wet areas, shallow water, and land water margins that support a natural ecosystem of plants and animals that are adapted to wet conditions.
- Without a size requirement or specification to indigenous vegetation, it is considered that this could refer to any intermittently wet area that has plant life and therefore careful consideration should be given to required setback.

Decision Reasons:

- A wetland as defined under the RMA is broad reaching and covers many features.
- Having a nominal 23m setback applied to such a wide variation of water features is inappropriate and introduces significant inefficiencies which is contrary to Part 2 of the RMA and the sustainable management of natural and physical resources.
- A lake can constitute a large array of waterbodies and therefore a starting point of 4ha should be used before the setback applies.

- It is important to also define a stream to avoid confusion with the definition of a river. Summary of Decision Requested

Add a permitted activity rule to Rule 16.3.10 to manage reverse sensitivity effects associated with noise, as follows:

P2

Activities sensitive to noise must be subject to a restrictive no-complaint covenant in favour of Ports of Auckland Limited.

For the purposes of this rule a 'restrictive non-complaint covenant' is defined as a restrictive covenant registered on the Title to the property or a binding agreement to covenant in favour of the Horotiu Industrial Park, by the landowner (and binding any successors in title) not to complain as to effects generated by the lawful operation of industrial activities from the Park. The restrictive no-complaint covenant is limited to the effects that could be lawfully generated by industrial activities at the time the agreement to covenant is entered into. This does not require the covenantor to forego any right to lodge submissions in respect of resource consent applications or plan changes in relation to industrial activities (although an industrial restrictive non-complaint covenant may do so).

AND

Amend Rule 16.3.10 RD1 Building-Horotiu Acoustic Area, as follows:

(a) Construction, addition to or alteration of a building that does not comply with Rule 16.3.10 ~~4~~

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan to make alternative or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The Proposed Plan enables the intensification of activities that are sensitive to noise within close proximity to the Horotiu Industrial Park.
- The RPS provides clear direction that the Proposed Plan should minimise potential reverse sensitivity effects
- The Proposed District Plan should provide clear direction on where and how sensitive activities should be enabled within the vicinity of the Horotiu Industrial Park to avoid and mitigate potential reverse sensitivity effects.
- Considers it is appropriate to require new buildings and the alteration of existing buildings within the Horotiu area to be subject to 'no complaints' covenants in favour of Ports of Auckland Ltd, and be subject to minimum acoustic insulation requirements which can be achieved through amendments to the Noise Control Boundary. This overlay should be applied to the entirety of the Horotiu residential area.
- Such measures will provide for the ongoing lawful operation and establishment of industrial activities.

The rule ignores the intrinsic heritage values of the whole of the heritage items. Alterations and additions under this rule as a permitted activity could cumulatively impact on the overall building, not just the significant features or specified facades. In addition it is incorrect to assume that works that are located out of public view or that do not involve significant features are unimportant and do not have the potential to adversely affect or undermine heritage values. Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.3 Land Use – Building > 16.3.11 Historic Heritage > 16.3.11.5 All heritage items – Site development

Delete Rule 16.3.11.5 PI All heritage items – site development.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter cannot support the permitted activity rule.
- While the parameters of the rule are clear for a permitted activity, it is unclear how this rule effectively protects each heritage item and its setting from the adverse effects of the proposed activity in every specific instance, as the nature of the site development is not defined and the special features of the heritage items varies from the whole item in some instances to particular facades or specific features for others.
- The protection of heritage items from potential adverse effects of site development would be better achieved through the case by case analysis of a restricted discretionary activity resource consent assessment.

Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.3 Land Use – Building > 16.3.11 Historic Heritage > 16.3.11.5 All heritage items – Site development

Summary of Decision Requested

Retain Rule 16.3.11.5 RD1 All heritage items – site development, except for the amendments as sought below.

AND

Amend Rule 16.3.11.5 RD1 All heritage items – site development as follows:

~~(a) Any activity that does not comply with a condition for a permitted activity. Site development is a restricted discretionary activity.~~

~~(b) Discretion is restricted to:~~

~~(i) Effects on the values, context and setting of the heritage item~~

~~(ii) Location, design, size, materials and finish~~

~~(iii) Landscaping~~

~~(iv) The relationship of the heritage item with the setting, including the area between the front of the heritage item and the road.~~

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports in part the restricted discretionary activity as this rule allows for the appropriate level of assessment of the possible impacts that site development could have on the heritage values of the heritage item and its setting.
- The trigger for the rule will be the activity of site development itself, rather than not meeting the permitted activity performance standards.
- The zone rules included the area between the front of the heritage item and the road.
- It is considered that all of the setting is important therefore this aspect should be deleted to ensure the entire setting is equally considered.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A 300m2 minimum net site area previously existed under the Franklin District Plan and provided choice and a range of housing typologies for Tuakau. 450m2 does not provide for efficient use of the residential land resource. The Discretionary Activity status for non-compliance will not attract confidence for applications or investment in Tuakau. Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitters support the removal of the 600m2 average lot size as in the Operative District Plan. The submitters do not consider a 600m2 average lot size enables the efficient use of residentially zoned land. It restricts the submitter's ability to provide affordable housing due to reduced yield, and less efficiencies gained in servicing and development of the land. The submitters consider a 450m2 average lot size to be beneficial to provide some range and variation in lot sizes, or for policy framework to support lot size variation if discretionary activity resource consent is sought, to promote a range of typologies .

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The change to require a minimum of 450m2 is onerous to landowners wishing to subdivide. Many lots are based on a multiple of 400m2, i.e. 800m2, 1200m2 and so on. Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some areas in Tuakau have limited wastewater and stormwater reticulation. There are many small individually owned lots. The costs to install infrastructure for smaller lots is prohibitively expensive. This would make the subdivision of these lots not viable. Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Due to the existing infrastructure and previous planning in place, this rule is inappropriate and unnecessarily restrictive for subdivision in Tuakau. The historic pattern of sections lend themselves well to subdivide in approximate half to provide 2 sections over 450m2 with a right of way to a rear site. This would mean most lots created would be a rear site. This rule would prevent this. Tuakau in these older area with existing 101m2 section is different to subdividing large open areas of farm land because certain infrastructure already exists.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The amendment to Rule 16.4.1(b)(ix) is proposed as referencing other documents such as structure plans or master plans not notified with the Proposed Plan creates uncertainty in terms of being able to effectively assess the issues associated with a particular project. Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.4 Subdivision > 16.4.1 Subdivision - General

Summary of Decision Requested Add matters of discretion to Rule 16.4.1 RD1 (b) Subdivision - General as follows:

The subdivision layout and design in regard to how this may impact on the operation, maintenance, upgrading and development of existing infrastructure assets;

The consideration of the nature and location of any vegetation to be planted in the vicinity of existing infrastructure assets.

Decision Reasons:

- To prevent assets becoming landlocked.
- Similar to Transpower rules.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.4 Subdivision > 16.4.1 Subdivision - General

Summary of Decision Requested Add a new clause (vi) to Rule 16.4.1 RD1 (a) Subdivision - General, as follows:

(a) Subdivision must comply with all of the following conditions:

(vi) Where the subdivision adjoins a Rural Zone, a buffer strip no less than 10m wide is to be provided along the boundary adjoining the Rural Zone.

AND

Add a new matter of discretion to Rule 16.4.1 RD1 (b) as follows:

(b) Council's discretion shall be restricted to the following matters:

(xi) measures to minimise and avoid reverse sensitivity effects on high class soils and any adjoining Rural Zone.

AND

Any consequential or additional amendments as a result of changes sought in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Given the significant rezoning of prominent horticultural land from Rural to Residential Zone, it is appropriate to include provisions which will assist in managing reverse sensitivity on high class soils and adjoining Rural zones.
- This could include requiring provision of buffer strips on Residential zoned land at the time of subdivision as an activity condition, and including reverse sensitivity as a matter to which discretion is restricted.
- This aligns with the proposed objectives and policies which seek to protect high class soils.

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.4.1 Subdivision - General, by reinstating the condition in Rule 21.69.1 (b) of the Operative Waikato District Plan which enables alternative methods of water supply and stormwater, land drainage and wastewater disposal that comply with the engineering standards in Appendix B.

Decision Reasons:

- On-site water collection and wastewater disposal are very feasible and this is often the most cost-effective and ecologically sound option for sections (currently an option for sections over 2500m²). It would be a shame to lose this option.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.4 Subdivision > 16.4.1 Subdivision - General

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.4.1 RD1 (b) Subdivision – General, by setting fewer matters of discretion as follows:

(b) Council's discretion shall be restricted to the following matters:

(i) Subdivision layout;

~~(ii) Shape of lots and variation in lot sizes;~~

(iii) Ability of lots to accommodate a practical building platform including geotechnical stability for building;

~~(iiii) Likely location of future buildings and their potential effects on the environment;~~

- (v) Avoidance or mitigation of natural hazards;
- ~~(vi) Amenity values and streetscape landscaping;~~
- (vii) Consistency with the matters contained within Appendix 3.1 (Residential Subdivision Guidelines);
- (viii) Vehicle and pedestrian networks;
- (ix) Consistency with any relevant structure plan or master plan including the provision of neighbourhood parks, reserves and neighbourhood centres; and
- (x) Provision of infrastructure.

AND

Any consequential amendments or further relief to address the concerns raised in the submission.

- Decision Reasons:
- It represents the most appropriate means of exercising the Waikato District Council's functions, having regard to the efficiency and effectiveness of other available means.
 - Some of the changes proposed are therefore not more appropriate in terms of section 32 and other provisions of the Resource Management Act 1991.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.4 Subdivision > 16.4.1 Subdivision - General

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.4.1 RD1 (a) (i) Subdivision – General, to reduce the minimum lot size as follows:
(a)(i) Proposed lots must have a minimum net site area of ~~450m²~~ 400m², except where the proposed lot is an access allotment or utility allotment or reserve to vest;

AND

Any consequential amendments or further relief to address the concerns raised in the submission.

- Decision Reasons:
- Greater residential density will better meet housing needs in the District and help avoid sprawl.
 - The Plan contains provisions to enable higher density residential outcomes, which is beneficial.

Summary of Decision Requested Delete the term "lot" from Rule 16.4.1 RD1 Subdivision - General, and replace with "site"

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.4.1 RD1 (a)(ii) Subdivision - General, as follows:
(ii) Where roads are to be vested in Council, they ~~must~~ should follow a grid layout;

AND

Any consequential amendments to give effect to the relief sought.

- Decision Reasons:
- It may not always be possible for roads to follow a grid layout as topography make require a curvilinear layout.
 - Use of the word "must" will result in forced failure of the performance standard and a resulting discretionary activity status.

(i) Proposed lots must have a minimum net site area of ~~450m²~~ 400m², except where the proposed lot is an access allotment or utility allotment or reserve to vest;

- Decision Reasons:
- A 450m² minimum lot size is too large and restrictive.
 - Smaller lot sizes are generally more popular now for easier maintenance and 400m² is still large enough to fit a decent sized dwelling.

Point Number 489.11

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.4 Subdivision > 16.4.1 Subdivision - General

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 16.4.1 RD1 (a)(iv) Subdivision – General, to have an area requirement of 1ha or similar before triggering a "rear lot" rule.

- Decision Reasons:
- The draft rule does not seem to be very workable for smaller infill subdivisions.
 - This rule should only be applicable to larger subdivision sites.

Subdivision consent will be required first in order to construct an in-fill dwelling. • The submitter considers the minimum net size area for subdivision to be high and will discourage any new residential development including any in-fill type developments to occur. It does not encourage sufficient housing choice and variety in residential built form to support changing demographics, lifestyles, rising housing costs, future housing demands and population growth in the Waikato District. • Amendments are required to the subdivision provisions as a means of better enabling and incentivising residential development in the district. • Additionally the submitter seeks the decision of the residential subdivision design guideline from the plan.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A minimum net site of 450m2 is too large to adequately reduce urban sprawl and provide concentrated areas of urban development. Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A rear lot percentage not exceeding 15% is unrealistic. If a site was to be subdivided to create 4 or more lots a requirement of less than 15% rear lots would mean that none of these lots would be able to be a rear lot. Summary of Decision Requested

Add a new matter of discretion to Rule 16.4.1 RD1 General Subdivision as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief);

Reverse sensitivity effects, including on land transport networks

AND

Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.

Decision Reasons:

- The design, location and service arrangements for new development carried out in the subdivision process cannot be separated from the future use of the subdivided sites. New buildings, including those containing sensitive or noise sensitive activities, their location and the design and location of access ways may all have an influence on the ultimate impact development has on existing and planned infrastructure. The potential for reverse sensitivity effects is therefore a relevant consideration at this point in the development process.
- KiwiRail seeks the addition of matters of discretion relating to reverse sensitivity effects on land transport networks to the subdivision consent criteria in the listed zones.

Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 16.4.3 Subdivision - Te Kauwhata West Residential Area AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to apply the standard residential subdivision provisions to this area.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Where land has been zoned for residential development, the applicable rules should promote the efficient development of that land for that purpose. Efficiently developing residential zoned land for housing limits the potential that urban development will spread into surrounding rural areas. • The Te Kauwhata West Residential Area proposed minimum and average lot size will not achieve the required outcomes defined for residential density under the Waikato Regional Policy Statement. As such the Proposed Plan will not be giving effect to the Regional Policy Statement, therefore the standard Residential Zone provisions are more appropriate. • Policy 4.7.13 – Residential Zone – Te Kauwhata Ecological and West Residential Areas (b) only requires that 'Subdivision is designed and located in the Te Kauwhata West Residential Area to achieve the minimum lot size ...' therefore the proposed average lot size, being significantly larger than the minimum is not supported by the applicable policy. • Notwithstanding, the outcomes identified in Future Proof and incorporated into the Waikato Regional Policy Statement of achieving a minimum residential density of 12-15 households per hectare in the Residential Zone, must be achieved in order to enable growth across the Region to be adequately managed and provided for. All other rules related to development must be aligned to this required outcome, thereby making development efficient in both the short and the long term. The minimum lot size of 650m2 in the Te Kauwhata West Residential Area will not achieve the 12-15 households per hectare required under the Waikato Regional Policy Statement.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend 16.4 4(a)(iv)Subdivision - Multi-unit development, to decrease all proposed minimum unit areas for multi-unit developments as follows: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Studio and 1 Bedroom units decrease from 60m2 to 50m2 2. 2 Bedroom units decrease from 80m2 to 70m2 3. 3 Bedroom units decrease from 100m2 to 80m2
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is little recognition in the Waikato District Plan that units and dwellings worldwide are downsizing. • Due to the high cost of land and building and borrowed deposits required for a home, the result is that a very large number of people are locked out of home ownership. • There must be options within a district plan to provide for smaller homes and units' that people can afford and there is not. • Often units only have one permanent occupant, regardless of the size of the unit. • 100m2 is a very large unit and larger than many standard homes so seems excessive and well outside the standard in most cities multi-unit developments • If people require larger units they can purchase them but the option should be there to purchase units of various sizes.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 16.4.4(a)(iii) Subdivision - Multi-unit development, to decrease minimum lot size per unit for multi-unit developments from 300m2 net site area to 200m2.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Raglan is a popular holiday destination with a shortage of accommodation of a good standard. • A large number of homes have converted their garages and sheds into sleep-outs which they rent out or rent rooms within their homes. These private dwellings often do not comply with many of the building or fire standards. • In many ways Raglan is similar to what Mount Maunganui was about 40 years ago and has now become a sort after tourism destination • The Waikato District Plan must allow for continued growth in tourism and unit development is sorely needed to provide short and medium term accommodation, especially in the township area. • The 300m2 minimum site area per unit is limiting and will increase the development costs, especially in areas close to the township. • In other holiday areas multi units can be built with a 100m2 net site area so 300m2 seem excessive.

 AND
Amend rules for multi unit development to enable them in all residential areas of the District where connection is available, or will be available to reticulated services.

Decision Reasons:

Amend the Proposed District Plan as consequential or additional relief as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission as necessary.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter opposes the minimum residential unit size in Multi-unit development.
- The provisions for residential subdivision are restrictive and discourage the desired urban uplift sought in the district.
- Subdivision consent will be required first in order to construct an infill dwelling or multi-unit dwelling.
- The submitter considers that the minimum residential unit size to be high and will discourage any new residential development to occur.
- The provisions do not encourage sufficient housing choice and variety in residential built form to support changing demographics, lifestyles, rising housing costs, future housing demands and population growth in the district.
- Amendments are required the subdivision provisions to enable and incentivise residential development.
- Reducing the minimum residential unit size will enable more units to be accommodated in a development and better utilisation of the site.
- The submitter seeks the deletion of the multi-unit development urban design guidelines from the Proposed District Plan, including any reference to such guidelines in a rule or policy approach.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter considers it unacceptable and nonsensical to include Contaminated Land in with notable trees, intensive farming and aggregate extraction areas, significant amenity landscapes etc. The provisions set out within the rules contradict those detailed within the Resource Management (National Environmental Standard for Assessing and Managing Contaminants in Soil to protect Human Health) Regulations 2011 which overrides any planning provision. Regulation 5(5) of the NESCS specifies subdivision as an activity to which the standard applies where an activity that can be found on the Ministry for Environment Hazardous Activities and Industries List has, is or is more likely than not to have occurred on a property. The regulations have a specific pathway to follow. In many cases, it is through the subdivision application that a report investigating and identifying the contamination on a property is identified. This may include several areas, large or small irrespective of proposed subdivision boundaries. For subdivision to be enabled, soil contaminant concentrations have to meet the soil contaminant standards set by the NESCS or the site has to be satisfactorily managed. It is considered most appropriate for potentially contaminated land to have a separate rule that reflects the requirements of the NESCS.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 16.4.7 RD1 Title boundaries – contaminated land, notable trees, intensive farming and aggregate extraction areas (the same as set out in the Village Zone in Rule 24.4.5 RD1) retaining only the rules relating to existing buildings and make consequential changes, as follows: (i) The boundaries of every proposed lot containing existing buildings must demonstrate compliance with the following building rules (other than where any non-compliance existed lawfully prior to the subdivision) relating to: A. daylight admission (Rule 16.3.5); B. building coverage (Rule 16.3.6); C. building setbacks (Rule 16.3.9). (iii) The boundaries of every proposed lot must not divide the following: A. a natural hazard area; B. contaminated land; C. Significant Amenity Landscape; or D. notable tree. (iiii) The boundaries of every proposed lot must provide the following setbacks: A. 300m from any intensive farming activity; B. 500m from the boundary of an Aggregate Extraction Area for rock extraction; and C. 200m from the boundary of an Aggregate Extraction Area for sand excavation. (b) Council's discretion shall be restricted to the following matters: (i) Landscape values; (ii) Amenity values and character; (iii) Reverse sensitivity effects; (iv) Effects on existing buildings; (v) Effects on natural hazard areas; (vi) Effects on contaminated land;

~~(vii) Effects on any notable trees and Effects on an intensive farming activity.~~

Decision Reasons:

- The rule can be read to mean that all the features need to be on a lot, which is incorrect and is consistent with Village Zone.

Plan chapter

Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.4 Subdivision > 16.4.7 Title boundaries – contaminated land, notable trees, intensive farming and aggregate extraction areas

Summary of Decision Requested

Delete all provisions regarding contaminated land from Rule 16.4.7 (Title boundaries – contaminated land, notable trees, intensive farming and aggregate extraction areas);

AND

Add a new set of rules specifically relating to contaminated land that align with the Resource Management National Environmental Standard for Assessing and Managing Contaminants in Soil to protect Human Health (Regulations 2011), such as Sections 30 and 31 of the Wellington City Council Plan.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter considers it unacceptable and nonsensical to include contaminated land in with notable trees, intensive farming and aggregate extraction areas, significant amenity landscapes etc. as is proposed.
- The provisions set out within the rules contradict those detailed within the Resource Management (National Environmental Standard for Assessing and Managing Contaminants in Soil to protect Human Health) Regulations 2011 (NESCS) which overrides any planning provision.
- Regulation 5(5) of the NESCS specifies subdivision as an activity to which the standards applies where an activity that can be found on the Ministry for the Environment Hazardous Activities and Industries List (HAİL) has, is or is more likely than not to have occurred on a property. The regulations have a specific pathway to follow.
- In many cases it is through the subdivision application that a report investigating and identifying the contamination on a property is identified. This may include several areas, large or small irrespective of proposed subdivision boundaries. For subdivision to be enabled soil contaminant standards set by the NESCS or the site has to be satisfactorily managed. It is considered most appropriate for potentially contaminated land to have a separate rule that reflects the requirements of the NESCS.
- Sections 30 and 31 of the Wellington City Council Plan provide an example of this.

Summary of Decision Requested

Retain Rule 16.4.10 RD1 Subdivision – land containing heritage items, except for the amendments sought below.

AND

Amend Rule 16.4.10 RD1 Subdivision – land containing heritage items as follows:

(a) Subdivision of land containing a heritage item listed in Schedule 30.1 (Historic Heritage Items)

(b) Council's discretion is restricted to the following matters:

(i) Effects on heritage values;

(ii) Context and setting of the heritage item;

(iii) The extent to which the relationship of the heritage item with its setting is maintained within one lot.

AND

Amend Rule 16.4.10 RD1 Subdivision – land containing heritage items to be consistent with the equivalent rules in other zone chapters, including heritage items being retained in one lot.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports in part the restricted discretionary activity status of the rule relating to the subdivision of land containing heritage items and the associated matters of discretion, as these assessment criteria will assist to give effect to the related policy.
- An amendment is required to the assessment criteria to recognise that the retention of a heritage item and its setting is best achieved when they are located within the same lot.
- The inclusion of threshold creates a clear distinction for those administering the Plan as to when the activity becomes a non-complying activity.

Summary of Decision Requested

Amend Rule 16.4.11 (a) Subdivision – Road frontage, to decrease the width of the road boundary from 15m to 14m.

Decision Reasons:

- The requirement for smaller homes and lots must be accommodated for in the District Plan.
- The submitter has had experience in developments in Perth and very tasteful homes are being developed with a road frontage width of 12m. The homes are specifically designed to suit narrower sites and the design and usability of the home is not compromised.
- Smaller sites allow more efficient use of often limited available land in city areas and there is a demand for them.
- Single occupant homes are now very common so it must be possible to build affordable small homes on small lots.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.4 Subdivision > 16.4.13 Subdivision creating reserves
Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 16.4.13(a) Subdivision creating reserves and make it a matter of discretion.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Roading infrastructure is expensive and the rule will result in additional costs for developers which may not be justifiable from an economic perspective. The enforcement of the rule may increase the cost of development which could be passed onto the purchasers. • This is an arbitrary standard which may not be relevant for all reserve types or developments. • Safety and surveillance of reserves may be achieved with less road frontage. • There is no analysis in the s32 stating why the 50% rule has been applied. While this may be a principle to follow it should not be enforced through a rule.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.4 Subdivision > 16.4.13 Subdivision creating reserves
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 16.4.13 (a) Subdivision creating reserves, by deleting the requirement for newly created reserves to have 50% of boundaries bordered by roads and replace instead with "all reserves to have public access".

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> To the submitter's knowledge there are no reserves in the district which have roads on 50% of their boundaries. Reserves which are used for the purpose of regular sports activity require parking and adequate road access but New Zealand's most iconic and frequented reserves are located on land identified as being of special significance because of location and/or natural beauty. Creating reserves within Structure Plan areas or newly created subdivisions should also, if possible, be based on the same principles. If land has an existing or established area of native bush or a particular feature, e.g. stream or wetland, it does not need to have adjoining roads on its boundaries to provide adequate access. The majority of the users could access by foot or would be prepared to walk a reasonable distance to access the walkway. There should not be a requirement for reserves to have road boundaries, only to be accessible to the public.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 16: Residential Zone > 16.4 Subdivision > 16.4.15 Subdivision of land containing mapped off-road walkways

Summary of Decision Requested Delete the requirement for walkways to be at least 3m wide and be constructed for shared pedestrian and cycle use in Rule 16.4.15 (a) (i) Subdivision of land containing mapped off-road walkways.

Decision Reasons:

- Much of the Waikato terrain is very undulating so many public walkways are located in bush and traverse very hilly and undulating ground, along streams and rivers or adjacent to wetlands, e.g. Bridle Veil Falls walkway.
- 3m is very wide and natural areas are not usually suitable for dual use by cyclists. Accessing by foot is often difficult due to the clay based soils and very wet climatic conditions in the Waikato.
- The priority for walkways should be that they are accessible and enjoyable for the public.
- The most popular walkway in Raglan goes from the top of Wainui Road down through the bush to Ngaranui Beach and is not suitable for cyclists. There is no public designated public parking and the walkway borders the road for only about 5m. The Bridle Veil walkway is of similar standard with only part of the track developed.
- Proposed rule will result in mundane walkways on flat ground, which is not what the public want.
- Very few areas in Raglan are of suitable terrain for cyclists and constructing a 3m walkway through bush areas and uneven terrain would be impossible, would interfere with the natural environment and would be financially prohibitive.
- Walkways should be developed and assessed on a one by one basis in consultation with the developer and/or public and not be subject to 'blanket' rules.

Amend Rule 16.4.16 C1 (a) Subdivision of land containing an Environmental Protection Area as follows:

(a) Subdivision of land containing an Environmental Protection Area must comply with all of the following as conditions of consent:

Decision Reasons:

- Supports the rule as development within close proximity to delineated EPAs needs appropriate recognition to facilitate natural process and mitigate any potential adverse effects of development on such areas.
- Considers that, from a developer's perspective, a planting and management plan may be prepared and submitted to Council as a condition of consent.
- Once the developer has the confidence of consent being issues for any particular project, detailed design plans can include the provision of landscape plans and planting specifications.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Waikato District Council Walking, Cycling and Bridle Trails Strategy is made relevant in provision 1.10.2.3 Waikato Region strategies and plans, however it is not implemented in the Proposed District Plan. Policy 4.1.8 Integration and connectivity recognises the need to provide "good access to facilities and services by a range of transport modes through the provision of integrated networks of roads, public transport, cycle and pedestrian routes." Policy 4.1.10 Tuakau, Policy 4.1.11 Pokeno, Policy 4.1.12 Te Kauwhata, Policy 4.1.14 Taupiri, Policy 4.1.15 Ngaruawahia, Policy 4.1.16 Horotiu and Policy 4.1.17 Te Kowhai all mention walking and cycling provisions, though means and locations are unclear. Policy 4.1.18 Raglan does not mention cycling and walking despite its large pedestrian and cycle use. Provision 1.4.2.2 states that parts of State Highway 1 will offer opportunities for some town centre improvements and cycle/walk ways. However, nowhere in the Proposed District Plan is it indicated that where some might be, may be a land use issue. Waikato District Council said that detailed rules for walk/cycle ways are not appropriate within a District Plan, yet there are detailed transport provisions. There is strong public support for harbour and coastal walkways. Encourage environmental tourism. The lack of progress indicated that opportunities are not taken with subdivisions and that more details need to be included in the District Plan.

Decision Reasons:

- There is no existing provision for Health and Safety signs – a new provision is sought by the submitter who opposes this omission.
- The submitter seeks a permitted activity rule in Chapter 17 to provide for health and safety required by legislation.
- The proposed policy framework does not exempt health and safety signage or signage required by legislation. It is not appropriate or necessary to require such signage to be assessed against the Proposed District Plan signage provisions and therefore a dedicated permitted activity rules is required.
- If further clarification of what is considered of what is considered as 'health and safety' signs is required then a definition that includes any signs required by other legislation, should be adopted.

Summary of Decision Requested

Amend Chapter 17: Business Zone to add a statement of purpose and anticipated outcomes of corresponding zone or subzone, and where appropriate make links to health and wellbeing considerations.

Decision Reasons:

- Currently there are no statements of purpose or descriptions for any of the zones or the intended outcomes to be achieved, leading to a reliance on objectives, policies and explanations within Section B of the Plan, which are based under generic heading topics with little zone based commentary.
- There is an opportunity to clarify the purpose of a zone and increase understanding of outcomes, and appropriate types of activities for the different environments.
- The amendments would assist with a clear understanding of the purpose and character of the various zones.

It's been KiwiRail's policy to seek restricted discretionary activity status for non-compliance with its noise and vibration performance standards. The criteria allow for a bespoke consideration of site specific effects.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 17: Business Zone > 17.1 Land Use – Activities > 17.1.2 Permitted Activities
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 17.1.2 Permitted Activities – P1 Commercial activity and P2 Commercial services to clarify which particular activities are appropriate for each zone.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• These rules allow for commercial activity and commercial services as permitted activities in both the Business and Business Town Centre zones.• Allowing the same activities to occur in both zones creates unnecessary and inappropriate competition between the Town Centre and Business Zones, and does not promote a supportive, complimentary role for them.• This is not consistent with the policy approach set out in Section 4.5, which seeks to encourage a wide range of commercial activities in both zones, the town centres focusing on retail, administration, commercial and civic centre activities, the Business Zone discouraging small scale retail and focusing on large format retail.• The submitter seeks clarification about the rationale behind the rules, and is concerned that they do not give proper effect to the 'WRPS' Policy 6.16 or the policy framework for these zones contained in Section 4.5: of the Proposed Plan.

Summary of Decision Requested	Add "Relocatable Home Park" to Rule 17.1.2 Permitted Activities, to include 'Relocatable Home Park' AND Add a definition to Chapter 13 Definitions, that describes a "Relocatable home park".
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Building much smaller, building on trailers and with the intent that houses could be moved if the owner wanted to relocate is a mechanism for providing affordable housing that is not currently addressed by the District Plan.

- Land remains one of the most expensive components, a future option is that land ownership be retained by the developer and only the dwellings would be owned by purchaser(s).
- Developments could be created to provide suitable flat site, power, potable water and waste amenities to the site ready for connection.
- Some shared facilities of communal gardens and recreation areas could be a pre-requisite for such developments.
- Rule change necessary to create activity as permitted and provide good planning objectives so such developments are of a good standard, enhance town and building amenities and provide affordable options for those desiring smaller homes in village environment.
- Housing developments have a focus on providing good quality homes which meet the needs of individual communities at a cost that enables those at all income levels to afford a decent place to live are supported in the consent and development processes.
- Clearly housing affordability throughout District needs to be supported.

- The rules should be expanded to provide for emergency services training and management activities in order to better achieve the sustainable management purpose of the At and better enable Fire and Emergency New Zealand to achieve its statutory function by facilitating firefighting and emergency response.

Add the conditions from Rule 17.1.3 RD1 to the new rule.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports the provision for multi-unit housing as it gives effect to the strategic direction outlined in Section A and Chapter B 4.1. The provision for multi-unit development supports variety in the future housing stock to help achieve policies 4.1.2, 4.1.5, 4.2.16 and 4.2.17.
- Multi-unit development of up to five units should be a Permitted Activity. This will allow for infill development and avoid unnecessary Resource Consent costs and time delays where and effects can be managed through permitted standards.
- Provision for low rise apartments close to town centre gives effect to the directive in Policy 4.2.17(a) Enable a variety of housing types in the Residential Zone where it is connected to public reticulation, including:

Summary of Decision Requested	Add a new activity to Rule 17.1.2 Permitted Activities for "multi unit development".
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Raglan has a shortage of quality tourism accommodation. Many Waikato and Auckland residents own baches or homes in Raglan that are only used occasionally, mainly on weekends, in the summer months. These properties are under-utilised and as many are on large blocks on land the grounds and properties need on-going maintenance which can be time consuming and expensive. Therefore, there is a need for construction of smaller, higher density, low maintenance units and apartments as an option for "weekenders." This would free up many properties in established residential areas. It is appropriate that multi-unit development be incorporated and encouraged within Business Zones, rather than Residential areas. When a property has multiple residents, it can create on-going noise problems. If numerous multi-unit apartments are located within Residential areas the level of people movement and noise could ruin the enjoyment of life for the other residents. It is often difficult in Residential areas to accommodate adequate visitor parking for multi-unit developments as residential streets can become clogged up with visitor parking.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 17.1.3 as no provision is made for emergency service facilities. As no provision is made under this rule, emergency service facilities would instead default to non-complying activities under Rule 17.1.5. The default non-complying activity status is overly restrictive and inappropriate. Fire and Emergency New Zealand consider that emergency service facilities should be included as a restricted discretionary activity to provide for emergency services in the Business Zone for the following reasons: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Fire stations must be strategically located within and throughout communities to maximise their coverage and response times so that they can efficiently and effectively provide for the health and safety of people and communities by being able to respond to emergency call outs in a timely way, thus avoiding /mitigating the potential for adverse effects associated with fire hazard and other emergencies; The actual or potential effects of fire stations are minor and can be adequately predicted and subsequently managed by conditions of consent and subsequent matters for control; A Restricted Discretionary activity status better implements the Objectives and Policies of the Proposed District Plan. Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 17: Business Zone > 17.1 Land Use – Activities > 17.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend matter of Discretion (a)(i) in Rule 17.1.3 RD1 Restricted Discretionary Activities, as follows: (j) To the extent which the development is consistent with 4.5.3 Policy – Commercial purpose: Business Town Centre Zone, in strengthening those areas as the primary retail, administration, commercial service and civic centre for each town and with Town Centre Guidelines contained in Appendix 3;
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The 2006 Supporting Information for Lorezen Bay Business Zone said at 4.5.3 that "It is likely that a Service centre would comprise convenience shops such as a dairy or fruit and vegetable shop." • It was on that basis that the area was rezoned from Residential to Business. • By specifying a minimum lot size of 225m2 it is unlikely that such small shops are going to occupy the site. • A large supermarket is more likely, which would affect the viability of the Raglan CBD.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Submitter supports the provision for multi-unit development in the Business Zone to encourage this type of development to locate within 400m walking distance of public transport. • Compact urban forms that are well connected to community and commercial facilities are to be encouraged, given the public health and well-being benefits that accrue.

2 or more bedroom	58 m ²	2 1.5m
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Not all above ground apartments/units or apartment owners require or want balconies or exterior living court areas. • There should be an option when designing and constructing multi-level apartments to include (or not include) upper level balconies. • Apartment managers do not encourage and often do not permit socialisation by groups of people on balconies as it can cause noise nuisance for other residents. • A reasonable sized ground level communal outdoor area may be more practical than numerous individual 'living court' areas. • The market is the best judge of what is required to upper level living court areas should be an option, not compulsory.

P3

(a) Noise measured within any site in any zone other than the Business Zone, Residential Zone or Village Zone must meet the permitted noise levels for that zone.

-P4

(a) Noise levels must be measured in accordance with the requirements of NZS 6801:2008 "Acoustics Measurement of Environmental Sound."

(b) Noise levels must be assessed in accordance with the requirements of NZS 6802:2008 "Acoustics Environmental Noise."

-D1

(a) Sound that is outside the scope of NZS 6802:2008 or a permitted activity standard; and

(b) Sound Noise that does not comply with Rule 17.2.1.1 P1 or P2, P3 or P4.

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed noise limits are generally in accordance with guideline values and use current measurement and assessment standards, acoustical metrics, numerical values, assessment location and time-frames. However, the following issues have been identified:
 - Incorrect terminology has been used in conflict with the standards specified,
 - No provision has been made for sound sources outside the scope of NZS 6802.
 - The measurement and assessment standards are an integral part of the noise limits and cannot be a separate permitted activity standard,
 - Incomplete noise limits are specified for sound received in adjoining zones. A consistent approach has not been adopted for sound between zones.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The wider the planting strip is, the more it is likely to be neglected. • It is not practical to plant trees as they grow too high and when mature the roots can cause uplift in the paved areas and the tree branches drop and shed over the car park area. It is therefore more practical to plant either a suitable hedging variety or a row of low growing shrubs. • Maintenance of planted areas requires constant upkeep to keep weed free and looking attractive. It is very apparent that carparks district wide are often left in a very untidy state with weeds growing and rubbish being thrown into the landscape strip. • A 1m landscape strip is more than adequate to achieve an attractive landscape and provide separation between the road and carparks is easier to maintain and keep tidy in carpark areas.

Summary of Decision Requested Retain Rule 17.2.5.1 P1 Earthworks - General, except for the amendments sought below
AND
Amend Rule 17.2.5.1 P1 Earthworks - General as follows:
P1
a. Earthworks within a site must meet the following conditions:
i. Be located more than 1.5m from a public sewer, open drain, overland overland flow path or other public service pipe;
ii. Not exceed a volume of more than 250m³ and an area of more than 1000m² within a site;
iii. The height of the resulting cut, filled areas or fill batter face in stable ground, not including any surcharge, does not exceed 1.5m, with a maximum slope of 1:2 (1 vertical to 2 horizontal);
iv. Areas exposed by earthworks are re-vegetated to achieve 80% ground cover within 6 months of the commencement, or otherwise stabilised as soon as practicable at the completion of the earthworks;
v. Sediment resulting from the earthworks is retained on the site through implementation and maintenance of erosion and sediment controls;
vi. Do not divert or change the nature of natural water flows, water bodies or established drainage paths.
AND
Any consequential amendments or additional relief to give effect to the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports in part the General Earthworks rules for the Business Zone, except for the amendments sought.
- The submitter seeks the retention of Rules 17.2.5.1. P1 Earthworks - General, subject to ensuring that the separation distances required are clearly from public service pipes and not pipes per se, and clarifying that earthworks areas need to be stabilised appropriately (which may include re-vegetation, but which may also include an alternative form of reinstatement) in order to improve clarity and practical application.
- The submitter notes there is no specific Section 32 Report for earthworks. While earthworks are discussed within the Section 32 report for Infrastructure, this relates to earthworks associated with subdivision activities only.
- The submitter seeks that P1 (a) (i) only applies to public infrastructure and will not capture earthworks within 1.5m of on-site service pipes (such as onsite storm water pipes within the forecourt of a service station).
- A 'service pipe' is not defined within the proposed definition and therefore earthworks undertaken within 1.5m of onsite stormwater infrastructure could be interpreted to require restricted discretionary activity consent.
- This is not considered appropriate in the context of earthworks within 1.5m of private service pipes (i.e. onsite stormwater pipes) or considered to be the intent of the proposed control.
- The submitter supports the requirement to re-vegetate groundcover within 6 months of the commencement of earthworks as P1(a) (iv).
- Earthworks undertaken in areas of hardstanding cannot be 're'-vegetated. Given there are no proposed controls to require the general reinstatement of areas disturbed by earthworks that are not vegetated, such areas are not required to be reinstated as a permitted activity.
- The submitter considers it appropriate to include additional wording to clause P1 (a) (iv) to ensure areas disturbed by earthworks without vegetation are still reinstated to avoid potential erosion and sediment issues effects.

a. The importation of infill material to a site must meet all of the following conditions in addition to Rule 17.2.5.1 P1:
i. Does not exceed a total volume of 500m³ per site and a depth of 1m (excluding backfill);
...
AND
Any consequential amendments or additional relief to give effect to the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter seeks the retention of Rules 17.2.5.1.P2 subject to amendments to ensure that any cut to the permitted depth can be backfilled as a permitted activity.
- P1 (a) (iii) permits the maximum permitted cut in stable ground to a depth of 1.5m. P2 (a) (i) permits the maximum permitted fill to be 1m. It could be interpreted that a 1.5m cut cannot be backfilled to ground level as a permitted activity and therefore restricted discretionary activity consent is required.
- The submitter seeks inclusion for clean fill that is used as backfill within P2 (a) (i) to reflect the intent of the rule.

Section C Rules > Chapter 17: Business Zone > 17.2 Land Use – Effects > 17.2.5 Earthworks > 17.2.5.4 Hazardous substances

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 17.2.5.4 P1 Hazardous Substances, as follows: 17.2.5.4 P1 Hazardous Substances (a) The use, storage or disposal of any hazardous substances must meet the following conditions: (i) The aggregate quantity of hazardous substances of any hazard classification on a site is less than the quantity specified for the Business Zone in Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances). (ii) The storage or use of radioactive materials is in approved equipment for medical and diagnostic purpose, or specified as an exempt activity or article in the Radiation Safety Act and Regulations 2017. (iii) Rule 17.2.5.4 (a), (i) excludes fire stations and associated fire service operations. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make further or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 17.2.5.4 as while fire stations and associated firefighting activities involve the use and storage of hazardous substances at quantities that are considered minor, it is possible that the permitted provisions may not enable for this, and could affect Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to operate as easily and smoothly as needed. • As such, Fire and Emergency New Zealand requests that the fire stations and associated firefighting activities are excluded from the permitted activity Rule 17.2.5.4 for the following reasons: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The 8.3 Classification (Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5) (Hazardous Substances)) has a relatively low limit in the Business Zone, and is quite low in other areas-lots of household products are eye corrosives from dishwashing powder to laundry powder. This would limit and potentially prevent Fire and Emergency New Zealand having a HAZMAT vehicle based in this zone because they carry neutralizing agents which are eye corrosives. A greater concern is that some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants and foams also have this classification and this limit could potentially require that Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a resource consent to hold a small amount or any of these chemicals on site, as a lower limit would be largely taken up by ordinary household chemicals used on site. 2. The 8.3A Classification is for eye corrosion. A person is only affected by this hazard class if they come into direct contact with a product with this classification. This hazard is also managed under the health and safety at work and HSN0 legislation usually via labeling and PPE requirements. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers that there is no logic in restricting the amount of these substances held as it relates to Fire and Emergency New Zealand operations, particularly if they are in enclosed containers for systems. 3. Some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants are solids rather than liquids and the reasons for the limits specified in the plan do not make sense for solids. Fire and Emergency New Zealand current main fire retardant is a powder but Fire and Emergency New Zealand are also looking at new foams which come in bricks. As such, the higher restrictions for waterways do not make sense for these products as they do not leak or flow. 4. Fire and Emergency New Zealand often requires the temporary storage of chemicals necessary for providing an emergency response, during an emergency and within a short period after the emergency i.e. there is a small grace period for example if Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a truck to remove a container which has firefighting chemicals in it, Fire and Emergency New Zealand may need to wait for a few working days after the emergency has finished for a contractor to do that work. Not providing for this could restrict Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to respond to bush or other major events, e.g. large acid spills and other HAZMAT events. This could also result in a breach of the RMA in order to bring in the necessary products to resolve the issue and prevent harm to people or the environment.

AND

Any consequential amendments or further relief to give effect to the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed provisions are opposed and the submitter seeks the deletion of all proposed hazardous substances controls relating to storage, use, disposal or transportation of hazardous substances at service station sites (as broadly defined) or refuelling sites.
- The submitter also supports the deletion of all rules pertaining to control hazardous substances where such controls are inappropriate, unnecessary, ineffective, inefficient and unable to be justified via a Section 32 analysis.
 - These rules are all designed to address risk associated with hazardous substances. Risk is appropriately managed via other legislation and the Section 32 Report fails to identify why additional controls are required.
 - The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 removed the explicit function of district and regional councils to control adverse effects of the storage, use, disposal, or transportation of hazardous substances under sections 30 and 31 of the Resource Management Act 1991 (RMA).
 - The changes came into effect on 19 April 2017 and are intended to ensure councils only place controls on hazardous substances where necessary to control effects under the RMA that are not covered by Hazardous Substance New Organisms Act 1996 or Health and Safety At Work Act 2015.
 - The purpose of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act is to protect the environment, and the health and safety of people and communities, by preventing or managing the adverse effects of hazardous substances and new organisms. The Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act covers a range of matters including:
 - a. site and building requirements for where a hazardous substance may be used, including requirements for storage and primarily requiring primary and secondary containment;
 - b. the safe transportation of hazardous substances;
 - c. emergency management requirements in relation to the substance in the event of a spill or other emergency; and
 - d. how the substance may be disposed of.
 - The Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 provides a framework to secure the health and safety of works and workplaces and integrates the regulation of workplace use of hazardous substances.
 - The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 followed the decision of the Independent Hearing Panel on the Christchurch Replacement District Plan. That decision was to reject Christchurch City Council's hazardous substance controls (which were based on an activity status table (AST) approach and to only retain controls relating to hazardous substances in close proximity to the National Grid.
 - The Ministry for the Environment considers that in most cases the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act and the Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 controls will be adequate to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse environmental effects of hazardous substances and that RMA controls may be used if existing HSNO or Work safe controls are not adequate to address the environmental effects of hazardous substances in any particularly case. The submitter strongly supports the Ministry for the Environment's position in this regard.
 - The submitter seeks that any proposed controls around hazardous substances do not duplicate those controls addressed under other legislation. Any duplication is considered unnecessary and inefficient.
 - The section 32 report for Hazardous Substances acknowledges the removal of Council's functions in regards to hazardous substances and recognizes the "Resource Management Plans should not be in conflict with HSNO requirements and should not repeat them".
 - The report further recognizes that "rationale for a higher level of protection through additional land use controls under the Act may be appropriate for substances both controlled by the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act or for issues which are not within the scope of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act, such as reverse sensitivity".
 - However there is a significant disconnect between the overview and purpose sections of the Section 32 Report and the regulatory provisions in the Proposed District Plan.
 - As an example, in regard to service stations the Section 32 Report concludes that, "the controlled activity status has been assigned to the storage and retail sale of fuel within service stations above a certain level in some zones to recognize that these substances are well managed through standards and industry practice. However, above these thresholds, the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered.
 - No rationale/analysis is provided within the section 32 report to justify why specific volume thresholds apply to service stations or why the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered reasonable if quantities are above those limits.
 - The Section 32 Report does not provide analysis to justify why hazardous substances associated with service stations are only addressed in certain zones and in what way the Council considers the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act to not adequately control potential adverse effects associated with hazardous substances at service station - for example, why the Council considers site design, layout and monitoring and reporting of incidents are matters that the Council should reserve control over.
 - In light of the Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 and controls under other legislation and the lack of rationale/analysis within the Section 32 Report for hazardous substances, it is considered the proposed hazardous substance controls are largely unnecessary and should therefore be deleted.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 17: Business Zone > 17.2 Land Use – Effects > 17.2.6 Notable trees > 17.2.6.2 Notable tree – trimming

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 17.2.6.2 P1 (a)(ii) Notable tree - trimming, to consider whether 10% removal of foliage as a permitted activity condition is the most appropriate measure, and the most appropriate percentage.

Decision Reasons:

- Consider whether 10% removal of foliage as a permitted activity is the most appropriate measure. The rule stipulates 10%, but this is relatively restrictive and somewhat subjective in terms of how this is measured (i.e. is it a count of all branches and leaves). The Operative District Plan: Waikato Section rules allowed for 15%.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 17: Business Zone > 17.2 Land Use – Effects > 17.2.7 Signs > 17.2.7.1 Signs – General
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 17.2.7.1 P2 Signs - general to exclude any type of signage on Heritage Items and Maaori Sites of Significance. AND Amend Rule 17.2.7.1 RD1 Signs - general to include signage on Heritage items and Maaori Sites of Significance. AND Add an advice note under this new rule to advise of the other heritage building related rules within the Chapter. AND Provide for any consequential amendments as required.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter cannot support the P2 Signs General where the zone rules that relate to signage, including on heritage items or Maori sites of significance are permitted activities with variations between the zones as to the permitted size and height of signage. While signs generally are not permitted in heritage buildings or Maaori sites of significance, a sign of 3m2 on a heritage building could be permitted in some zones if the sign was for identification or interpretation purposes. The generic, zoned based approach does not reflect the need to assess the suitability of a signage proposal against the specific heritage values of the individual building or site. The generic approach has the potential to cause adverse effects of historic heritage and Maaori sites of significance. To avoid adverse effects to heritage items and Maaori sites of significance it would be more appropriate for any signage on heritage items and Maaori sites of Significance to be elevated to a restricted discretionary activity level of assessment and subject to the matters of discretion already included (i.e. (vi) and (vii).

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Permitted limits for signage are too prescriptive and unrealistic. Seek an increase in respect of the area per sign face for free-standing signs and suggests a restricted discretionary activity status is appropriate. Assessment of signage in commercial zones needs to consider the importance of corporate branding for consistency and cohesion and consideration sites alongside the urban design aspirations within the district. Effects arising from signage can be appropriate assessed via a restricted discretionary activity assessment.

(vii) Any real estate sign shall be removed from display within 60 days of sale/lease or upon settlement, whichever is the earliest.

AND

Any consequential amendments and/or additional relief required to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The notified rules for real estate signs are too restrictive.
- Corner sites should be able to have additional sign opportunities without adversely affecting residential character and amenity.
- Allowance should be made for feature signs which are commonly used for properties going to auction or tender.
- Header signs should be able to be established on another sign (often on a high volume road) to direct purchasers to the site which is for sale (often on a low volume road).

AND

Any consequential amendments and/or additional relief required to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The signage rules are unnecessarily restrictive in terms of free standing sign size being limited to one sign per site at 3m².
- This does not take into account the use of a site for more than one activity and combined with the allowance for all other signs to be 1m² would create more visual clutter than allowing a larger free standing in the first instance.

The Proposed District Plan makes no attempt to indicate how much bush has been lost, or will be lost by these and other provisions in the Proposed District Plan. Screening with trees should be applied to improve and protect views from Raglan and its beaches. Much of the attraction of Raglan derives from its beaches and the north shore of the harbour having rural aspects.

- New subdivisions could diminish that attraction and an active policy of tree planting to establish belts of trees screening those views would help to protect the rural image.
- Alternatively, the Proposed District Plan could ban development which would detract from those views.

Although Rule 27.3.1 as notified correctly protects the proposed OLS from buildings, structures, trees and other vegetation, the corresponding height rules in other zones omits reference to 'trees'. It is critical that there is consistency amongst OLS provisions and that the provisions control 'trees' as well as buildings, structures and other vegetation. Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 17: Business Zone > 17.3 Land Use – Building > 17.3.4 Building setbacks
Summary of Decision Requested	Add a new rule to Rule 17.3.4 Building setbacks as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief):

Building setback - railway corridor

(g) any new buildings or alterations to an existing building must be setback 5 metres from any designated railway corridor boundary

AND

Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.

Decision Reasons:

- KiwiRail seeks that a 5 metre setback apply to all new building development adjacent to operational railway corridor boundaries (i.e. not just sensitive land uses).
- Ensuring all new structures in all zones are set back from the rail corridor allows access and maintenance to occur without the landowner or occupier needing to gain access to the rail corridor- potentially compromising their own safety. For these safety reasons setting back buildings from the rail corridor boundary is a means of ensuring people's health and wellbeing through good design.
- Construction of buildings in close proximity to the rail corridor has significant safety risk if it is not managed appropriately in accordance with relevant standards.
- A 5m setback allows for vehicular access to the backs of buildings (e.g. a cherry picker) and would also allow scaffolding to be erected safely. This in turn fosters visual amenity as lineside properties can then be regularly maintained. A setback is the most efficient method of ensuring intensification does not result in additional safety issues for activities adjacent to the rail corridor, whilst not restricting the ongoing operation and growth of activity within the rail corridor.
- The proposed provisions would require any development within the setback to obtain consent with matters of discretion relating to:
 - (i) location, design and use of the proposed building or structure as it relates to the rail network
 - (ii) impacts on the safe operation, maintenance and development of the rail network
 - (iii) construction and maintenance management.

Amend Rule 17.3.4.1 Building setbacks - Zone boundaries as follows:

i. ~~7.5~~3m from rear and side boundaries adjoining any:

A. Residential Zone

B...

(g) Any building that does not comply with Rule 17.3.4.1 P1.

(b) The Council's discretion shall be limited to the following matters:

i. Height, design and location of the building relative to the boundary.

ii. Privacy on other site

iii. Effects on amenity values of adjacent property.

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan to make consequential or alternative relief to give effect to the specific amendments sought.

Decision Reasons:

- A 3m side and rear yard is a more appropriate separation distance than the 7.5m as notified, when considering how best to manage the interface with sensitive activities yet retain an efficient use of a business zoned site.
- 7.5m yard setback from residential zones is excessive.
- The Auckland Unitary Plan suggests a side and rear yard to residential zones of 3m.
- Considering a height to boundary control also applies a 3m setback is considered suitable and allows for the efficient use of the commercial sites.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There are adequate rules in place within the current Building Code and District Plan to protect adjacent residential properties from excessive noise levels and disturbance from Business areas. Many Business zoned lots are small and if located adjacent to a Residential Zone the 7.5m setback requirement for side and rear boundaries would render much of the site unusable. A 4m separation would allow a wide driveway or storage area between the Business and Residential zones and still enable compliance. When purchasing a residential dwelling, the potential buyer has an option of not purchasing a dwelling adjacent to a business area if they are genuinely concerned about any possible impact.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 17: Business Zone > 17.3 Land Use – Building > 17.3.4 Building setbacks > 17.3.4.2 Building setbacks - Water bodies
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 17.3.4.2 Building setbacks - waterbodies, to match Rule 24.3.6.3 Building Setback - water bodies; AND Amend Rule 17.3.4.2 Building setbacks - waterbodies, as follows: P1(a)(ii) ... from the bank of any named river ,... P3. A building must be set back a minimum of 10m from the bank of a perennial or intermittent named or unnamed stream.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • These are not consistent with other zones or the existing Waikato District Plan - Franklin Section provisions; a building must be set back a minimum of 10 metres from the bank of a perennial or intermittent stream. • It is important to also define a stream to avoid confusion with the definition of a river: the RMA defines a river as "a continually or intermittently flowing body of fresh water; and includes a stream and modified watercourse." If a watercourse is named "Stream" then it should be subject to the appropriate setback by the Plan.

The restrictive no-complaint covenant is limited to the effects that could be lawfully generated by industrial activities at the time the agreement to covenant is entered into. (i) Location, form, scale, style, materials and appearance; ~~and~~
(ii) Effects on heritage values
(iii) Effects on the setting of the heritage item.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports that additions and alterations are a restricted discretionary activity.
- The existing restricted discretionary activity should be amended to include any alteration or addition to a heritage building to ensure that any potential to negatively impact on the building is captured through the resource consent process.
- Further amendments are also required to address relevant matters to achieve an appropriate level of assessment.

Summary of Decision Requested Delete Rule 17.3.8.3 PI All heritage items – Alterations or additions.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter has concerns regarding the permitted activity rule related to alterations or additions.
- Concerned that that only protecting the significant physical features or specified facades of buildings has the potential for adverse effects on the heritage values of the entire building

- Works that are located out of public view or that do not involve significant features could have the potential to adversely affect or undermine heritage values.
- The rule ignores the intrinsic heritage values of the whole of the heritage items.
- Alterations and additions under this rule as a permitted activity could cumulatively impact on the overall building, not just the significant features or specified facades.
- In addition it is incorrect to assume that works that are located out of public view or that do not involve significant features are unimportant and do not have the potential to adversely affect or undermine heritage values.
- Any alterations or additions should be assessed through a resource consent process to consider the holistic impact of the proposed works on the historic heritage item, ensuring minimal loss of heritage fabric, and that the design, form, scale, workmanship, location of works and the curtilage and setting are respected.

Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 17.3.8.5 PI All heritage items – All site development.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The submitter cannot support the permitted activity rule. • While the parameters of the rule are clear for a permitted activity, it is unclear how this rule effectively protects each heritage item and its setting from the adverse effects of the proposed activity in every specific instance, as the nature of the site development is not defined and the special features of the heritage items varies from the whole item in some instances to particular facades or specific features for others.

- The protection of heritage items from potential adverse effects of site development would be better achieved through the case by case analysis of a restricted discretionary activity resource consent assessment.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 17: Business Zone > 17.3 Land Use – Building > 17.3.8 Heritage > 17.3.8.5 All heritage items – All site development

Summary of Decision Requested Retain Rule 17.3.8.5 RD1 All heritage items – all site development, except for the amendments sought below.
AND
Amend Rule 17.3.8.5 RD1 All heritage items – all site development as follows:
~~(a) Any activity that does not comply with a condition for a permitted activity. Site development is a restricted discretionary activity.~~
(b) Discretion is restricted to:
(i) Effects on the values, context and setting of the heritage item
(ii) Location, design, size, materials and finish
(iii) Landscaping
(iv) ~~The relationship of the heritage item with the setting, including the area between the front of the heritage item and the road.~~

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports in part the restricted discretionary activity as this rule allows for the appropriate level of assessment of the possible impacts that site development could have on the heritage values of the heritage item and its setting.
- The trigger for the rule will be the activity of site development itself, rather than not meeting the permitted activity performance standards.
- It is considered that all of the setting is important therefore this aspect should be deleted to ensure the entire setting is equally considered.

Summary of Decision Requested

Add a new matter of discretion to Rule 17.4.1 General Subdivision as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief):

Reverse sensitivity effects, including on land transport networks

AND

Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.

Decision Reasons:

• The design, location and service arrangements for new development carried out in the subdivision process cannot be separated from the future use of the subdivided sites. New buildings, including those containing sensitive or noise sensitive activities, their location and the design and location of access ways may all have an influence on the ultimate impact development has on existing and planned infrastructure. The potential for reverse sensitivity effects is therefore a relevant consideration at this point in the development process.

• KiwiRail seeks the addition of matters of discretion relating to reverse sensitivity effects on land transport networks to the subdivision consent criteria in the listed zones.

Subdivision consent will be required first in order to construct an in-fill dwelling or multi-unit development. • The submitter considers that the minimum residential unit size to be high and will discourage any new residential development to occur. • The provision does not encourage sufficient housing choice and variety in residential built form to support changing demographics, lifestyles, rising housing costs, future housing demands and population growth in the district. • Amendments are required to enable and incentivise residential development in the district. • Reducing the minimum residential unit size will enable more units to be accommodated within a development. • The submitter seeks the deletion of the multi-unit development urban design guidelines from the Proposed District Plan, including any reference to such guidelines in a rule or policy approach.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There appears to be very little recognition in the Proposed District Plan that units and dwellings worldwide are downsizing. There must be options within a District Plan to provide for smaller homes and units people can afford and there is not. Often units only have one permanent occupant, regardless of the size of the unit. 100m² is a very large unit and larger than many standard homes, therefore it seems excessive and outside the standard so it should be reduced to be more in line with what people want and can afford. If people require larger units they can purchase them but the option should be there to purchase units of various sizes.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter supports in part the restricted discretionary activity status of the rule relating to the subdivision of land containing heritage items and the associated matters of discretion, as these assessment criteria will assist to give effect to the related policy. An amendment is required to the assessment criteria to recognise that the retention of a heritage item and its setting is best achieved when they are located within the same lot. The inclusion of threshold creates a clear distinction for those administering the Plan as to when the activity becomes a non-complying activity.

Summary of Decision Requested Delete Rule 17.5.7 P1 (a)(ii) Gross leasable floor area.

Decision Reasons:

- Submitter currently has a proposal before Council which includes development of approximately 2ha of Business zoned land they own and if they do not decide to subdivide the area into small lots but retain ownership off the total area this rule would prevent them from erecting more than two individual leasable units on the land. Therefore, the majority of the land would be underutilised when there is a dire shortage of Business Zoned land and Business premises in Raglan.
- There is no bare land available within the Business Zone in Raglan to accommodate any sizeable buildings or developments.
- The rule if implemented would substantially limit much needed development on the only Business Zone land available for new development in Raglan.
- There is no valid reason for preventing development of more than two individual units on Business Zoned land and no valid reason for limiting the size of leasable floor area for individual units.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Socialising and getting out to events, with music and dancing is an important part of a happy healthy community. • The submitter would like to see Council help those who want to create events as music is a big part of why people come to Raglan. • The submitter believes the noise limits in the the town centre should be raised and the restrictions around temporary events should be reduced.

- Views are an inherent part of retaining Raglan's seaside character.

- RMA s5 states purpose of RMA which includes reference to social, economic and cultural wellbeings, of which Raglan Naturally sets out that the Raglan community clearly expressed such wellbeings include protection of views.
- At the last plan revision, Council accepted views were important but change needed to occur via a variation which has not happened and thus needs to be a part of the plan.
- Excluding an important part of Raglan Naturally is to deny the value of public participation.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There is no existing provision for Health and Safety signs – a new provision is sought by the submitter who opposes this omission. • The submitter seeks a permitted activity rule in Chapter 18 to provide for health and safety required by legislation. • The proposed policy framework does not exempt health and safety signage or signage required by legislation. It is not appropriate or necessary to require such signage to be assessed against the Proposed District Plan signage provisions and therefore a dedicated permitted activity rules is required. • If further clarification of what is considered of what is considered as 'health and safety' signs is required then a definition that includes any signs required by other legislation, should be adopted.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Views are an inherent part of retention of Raglan's seaside Character. • The Raglan Naturally community plan contains six references to views as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◦ "Relaxed lifestyles, a tranquil harbour, safe swimming beaches, black sand, internationally renowned surf ad spectacular coastal views are characteristic – the Waikato District's only seaside resort." ◦ "What We Don't Want – Buildings blocking views of harbour, coast and mountain." ◦ "Priorities for Action – The retention of access to, and views of the harbour, coast, and mountain from within Raglan." ◦ "What We Don't Want – Loss of access to or views of the harbour from parked cars, large trees or buildings." ◦ "Safeguard coastal views from Wainui Reserve." ◦ "Safeguarding the Environment – Maintain the coastal and harbour views, e.g. do not allow the planting of big trees, or the building of high fences or large buildings that destroy existing views." • Section 5 of the RMA sets out the purpose (including District Plans) "protection of natural and physical resources in a way, or at a rate, which enables people and communities to provide for their social, economic, and cultural wellbeing." • Raglan Naturally sets out how the Raglan community has expressed its views on their well-beings. These very clearly include protection of views. • At the last Plan revision, the Council accepted views as important, but said any change would need to occur through a variation to the District Plan. That has not happened, so it should be a part of this plan. To exclude such an important part of Raglan Naturally in the district plan review is to deny the value of public participation in which over 10% of Raglan's population took part. • The plan protects views of the navigation beacons and district plans of other authorities, such as Auckland and Hastings show that protection of other views is possible. • A policy should protect views, e.g. Auckland's protection of volcanic view shafts. • Each chapter needs to apply Policy 3.3.3.

Decision Reasons:

- Currently there are no statements of purpose or descriptions for any of the zones or the intended outcomes to be achieved, leading to a reliance on objectives, policies and explanations within Section B of the Plan, which are based under generic heading topics with little zone based commentary.
- There is an opportunity to clarify the purpose of a zone and increase understanding of outcomes, and appropriate types of activities for the different environments.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • These rules allow for Commercial activity and Commercial services as permitted activities in both the Business and Business Town Centre zones. • Allowing the same activities to occur in both zones creates unnecessary and inappropriate competition between the Town Centre and Business Zones, and does not promote a supportive, complimentary role for them. • This is not consistent with the policy approach set out in Section 4.5, which seeks to encourage a wide range of commercial activities in both zones, the town centres focusing on retail, administration, commercial and civic centre activities, the Business Zone discouraging small scale retail and focusing on large format retail. • The submitter seeks clarification about the rationale behind the rules, and is concerned that they do not give proper effect to the WRPS' Policy 6.16 or the policy framework for these zones contained in Section 4.5: of the Proposed Plan.

Summary of Decision Requested	Add a new activity to Rule 18.1.3 to include the following as a Restricted Discretionary activity: (x) Emergency service facilities. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make further or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 18.1.3 as no provision is made for emergency service facilities. As no provisions is not made under this rule, emergency service facilities would instead default to non-complying activities under Rule 18.1.5. • The default non-complying activity status is overly restrictive and inappropriate. • Fire and Emergency New Zealand therefore seeks the inclusion of emergency service facilities as a restricted discretionary activity to provide for emergency services in the Business Town Centre Zone for the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Fire stations must be strategically located within and throughout communities to maximise their coverage and response times so that they can efficiently and effectively provide for the health and safety of people and communities by being able to respond to emergency call outs in a timely way, thus avoiding or mitigating the potential for adverse effects associated with fire hazard and other emergencies; 2. The actual or potential effects of fire stations are minor and can be adequately predicted and subsequently managed by conditions of consents and subsequent matter for control; 3. Restricted Discretionary activity status better implement the Objectives and Policies of the Proposed District Plan; 4. Restricted Discretionary activity status better achieves the purpose of the RMA and better enables Fire and Emergency New Zealand to meet its statutory obligations.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 18.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities and review the rules in consultation with 10 Baird Avenue, Te Kauwhata.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There are rules which contradict each other • The new rules do not lend themselves to current trends in developments the Town Centre is looking for. • 10 Baird Avenue is the submitters' residential home, and they would not be able to do anything that they regard as 'lifestyle block' ownership improvements (such as a barn for a tractor). • The Plan restricts development to business with residential only allowed above ground floor, but cannot be done unless the indicative road is made into a permanent road. This may not happen for a long time, as the submitter does not own the road, only have right of use. • The only choice under these new rules would be to sell now to someone who is happy as it is, or wants to land bank, or sit 'in limbo' waiting for someone to come and want to buy the block plus the neighbours block to develop into shops etc., which could be 7-20 years away. • The rules devalue the land.

The minimum dimensions in the Proposed District Plan are difficult to achieve, particularly on many narrow sites that occur in the District. Decision Reasons:

- The proposed noise limits are generally in accordance with guideline values and use current measurement and assessment standards, acoustical metrics, numerical values, assessment location and time-frames. However, the following issues have been identified:
 - Incorrect terminology has been used in conflict with the standards specified,
 - No provision has been made for sound sources outside the scope of NZS 6802,
 - The measurement and assessment standards are an integral part of the noise limits and cannot be a separate permitted activity standard,
 - There is an inconsistent approach for sound received in another zone.

Summary of Decision Requested Retain Rule 18.2.4.1 P1 Earthworks - General, except for the amendments sought below

AND

Amend Rule 18.2.4.1 P1 Earthworks – General as follows:

P1

a. Earthworks within a site must meet the following conditions:

i. Be located more than 1.5m from a public sewer, open drain, overland overland flow path or other public service pipe;

ii. Not exceed a volume of more than 250m³ and an area of more than 1000m² within a site;

iii. The height of the resulting cut, filled areas or fill batter face in stable ground, not including any surcharge, does not exceed 1.5m, with a maximum slope of 1:2 (1 vertical to 2 horizontal);

iv. Areas exposed by earthworks are re-vegetated to achieve 80% ground cover within 6 months of the commencement, or otherwise stabilised as soon as practicable at the completion of the earthworks;

v. Sediment resulting from the earthworks is retained on the site through implementation and maintenance of erosion and sediment controls;

vi. Do not divert or change the nature of natural water flows, water bodies or established drainage paths.

AND

Any consequential amendments or additional relief to give effect to the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports in part the General Earthworks rules for the Business Town Centre Zone.
- The submitter seeks the retention of Rule 18.2.4.1.P1 subject to ensuring that the separation distances required are clearly from public service pipes and not pipes per se, and clarifying that earthworks areas need to be stabilised appropriately (which may include re-vegetation, but which may also include an alternative form of reinstatement) in order to improve clarity and practical application.
- The submitter notes there is no specific Section 32 Report for earthworks. While earthworks are discussed within the Section 32 report for Infrastructure, this relates to earthworks associated with subdivision activities only.
- The submitter seeks that P1 (a) (i) only applies to public infrastructure and will not capture earthworks within 1.5m of on-site service pipes (such as onsite storm water pipes within the forecourt of a service station).
- A 'service pipe' is not defined within the proposed definition and therefore earthworks undertaken within 1.5m of onsite stormwater infrastructure could be interpreted to require restricted discretionary activity consent.
- This is not considered appropriate in the context of earthworks within 1.5m of private service pipes (i.e. onsite stormwater pipes) or considered to be the intent of the proposed control.
- The submitter supports the requirement to re-vegetate groundcover within 6 months of the commencement of earthworks as P1(a) (iv).
- Earthworks undertaken in areas of hardstanding cannot be 're'-vegetated. Given there are no proposed controls to require the general reinstatement of areas disturbed by earthworks that are not vegetated, such areas are not required to be reinstated as a permitted activity.
- The submitter considers it appropriate to include additional wording to clause P1 (a) (iv) to ensure areas disturbed by earthworks without vegetation are still reinstated to avoid potential erosion and sediment issues effects.

Point Number	378.92
Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 18: Business Town Centre Zone > 18.2 Land Use Effects > 18.2.5 Hazardous substances
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 18.2.5 Hazardous substances, as follows: (a) The use, storage or disposal of any hazardous substances where: (i) The aggregate quantity of hazardous substances of any hazard classification on a site is less than the quantity specified for the Business Town Centre Zone in Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances). (ii) Rule 18.2.5 (a) (i) does not apply to fire stations and associated fire service operations. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make further or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 18.2.5 as while fire stations and associated firefighting activities involve the use and storage of hazardous substances at quantities that are considered minor, it is possible that the permitted provisions may not enable for this, and could affect Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to operate as easily and smoothly as needed.

- Fire and Emergency New Zealand therefore requests that fire stations and associated firefighting activities are excluded from the permitted activity Rule 18.2.5 for the following reasons:
 1. The 8.3 classification (Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances)) has a relatively low limit in the Business Town Centre Zone, and is quite low in other areas- lots of household products are eye corrosives from dishwashing to laundry powder. This would limit and potentially prevent Fire and Emergency New Zealand having a HAZMAT vehicle based in this zone because they carry neutralizing agents which are eye corrosives. A greater concern is that some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants and foams also have this classification and this limit could potentially require that Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a resource consent to hold a small amount or and other these chemicals on site, as a lower limit would be largely taken up by ordinary household chemicals used on site.
 2. The 8.3A classification is for eye corrosion. A person is only affected by this hazard class if they come into direct contact with a product with this classification. This hazard is also managed under the health and safety at work and HSNO legislation usually via labeling and PPE requirements. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers that there is no logic in restricting the amount of these substances held as it relates to Fire and Emergency New Zealand operations, particularly if they are in enclosed containers for systems.
 3. Some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants are solids rather than liquids and the reasons for the limits specified in the plan do not make sense for solids. Fire and Emergency New Zealand current main fire retardant is a powder but Fire and Emergency New Zealand are also looking at new foams which come in bricks. As such, higher restrictions for waterways do not make sense for these products as they do not leak or flow.
 4. Fire and Emergency New Zealand often requires the temporary storage of chemicals necessary for providing an emergency response, during an emergency and within a short period after the emergency, i.e. there is a small grace period for example if Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a truck to remove a container which has firefighting chemicals in it, they may need to wait for a few working days after the emergency has finished for a contractor to do that work. Not providing for this could restrict Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to respond to bush or other major events, e.g. large acid spills and other HAZMAT events. This could also result in a breach of the RMA in order to bring in the necessary products to resolve the issue and prevent harm to people/the environment.

Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 18.2.5 – Hazardous Substances. AND Any consequential amendments or further relief to give effect to the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The proposed provisions are opposed and the submitter seeks the deletion of all proposed hazardous substances controls relating to storage, use, disposal or transportation of hazardous substances at service station sites (as broadly defined) or refuelling sites. • The submitter also supports the deletion of all rules pertaining to control hazardous substances where such controls are inappropriate, unnecessary, ineffective, inefficient and unable to be justified via a Section 32 analysis. • These rules are all designed to address risk associated with hazardous substances. Risk is appropriately managed via other legislation and the Section 32 Report fails to identify why additional controls are required. • The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 removed the explicit function of district and regional councils to control adverse effects of the storage, use, disposal, or transportation of hazardous substances under sections 30 and 31 of the Resource management Act 1991 (RMA). • The changes came into effect on 19 April 2017 and are intended to ensure councils only place controls on hazardous substances where necessary to control effects under the RMA that are not covered by Hazardous Substance New Organisms Act 1996 or Health and Safety At Work Act 2015.

- The purpose of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act is to protect the environment, and the health and safety of people and communities, by preventing or managing the adverse effects of hazardous substances and new organisms. The Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act covers a range of matters including:
 - a. site and building requirements for where a hazardous substance may be used, including requirements for storage and primarily requiring primary and secondary containment;
 - b. the safe transportation of hazardous substances;
 - c. emergency management requirements in relation to the substance in the event of a spill or other emergency; and
 - d. how the substance may be disposed of.
- The Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 provides a framework to secure the health and safety of works and workplaces and integrates the regulation of workplace use of hazardous substances.
- The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 followed the decision of the Independent Hearing Panel on the Christchurch Replacement District Plan. That decision was to reject Christchurch City Council's hazardous substance controls (which were based on an activity status table (AST) approach and to only retain controls relating to hazardous substances in close proximity to the National Grid.
- The Ministry for the Environment considers that in most cases the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act and the Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 controls will be adequate to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse environmental effects of hazardous substances and that RMA controls may be used if existing HSN0 or Work safe controls are not adequate to address the environmental effects of hazardous substances in any particularly case. The submitter strongly supports the Ministry for the Environment's position in this regard.
- The submitter seeks that any proposed controls around hazardous substances do not duplicate those controls addressed under other legislation. Any duplication is considered unnecessary and inefficient.
- The section 32 report for Hazardous Substances acknowledges the removal of Council's functions in regards to hazardous substances and recognizes the "Resource Management Plans should not be in conflict with HSN0 requirements and should not repeat them".
- The report further recognizes that "rationale for a higher level of protection through additional land use controls under the Act may be appropriate for substances both controlled by the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act or for issues which are not within the scope of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act, such as reverse sensitivity".
- However there is a significant disconnect between the overview and purpose sections of the Section 32 Report and the regulatory provisions in the Proposed District Plan.
- As an example, in regard to service stations the Section 32 Report concludes that, "the controlled activity status has been assigned to the storage and retail sale of fuel within service stations above a certain level in some zones to recognize that these substances are well managed through standards and industry practice. However, above these thresholds, the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered.
- No rational/analysis is provided within the section 32 report to justify why specific volume thresholds apply to service stations or why the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered reasonable if quantities are above those limits.
- The Section 32 Report does not provide analysis to justify why hazardous substances associated with service stations are only addressed in certain zones and in what way the Council considers the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act to not adequately control potential adverse effects associated with hazardous substances at service station - for example, why the Council considers site design, layout and monitoring and reporting of incidents are matters that the Council should reserve control over.
- In light of the Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 and controls under other legislation and the lack of rationale/analysis within the Section 32 Report for hazardous substances, it is considered the proposed hazardous substance controls are largely unnecessary and should therefore be deleted.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter cannot support the P2 Signs General where the zone rules that relate to signage, including on heritage items or Maaori sites of significance are permitted activities with variations between the zones as to the permitted size and height of signage. While signs generally are not permitted in heritage buildings or Maaori sites of significance, a sign of 3m2 on a heritage building could be permitted in some zones if the sign was for identification or interpretation purposes. The generic, zoned based approach does not reflect the need to assess the suitability of a signage proposal against the specific heritage values of the individual building or site. The generic approach has the potential to cause adverse effects of historic heritage and Maaori sites of significance. To avoid adverse effects to heritage items and Maaori sites of significance it would be more appropriate for any signage on heritage items and Maaori sites of Significance to be elevated to a restricted discretionary activity level of assessment and subject to the matters of discretion already included (i.e. (vi) and (vii).

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Permitted limits for signage are too prescriptive and unrealistic. Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There is no section 32 report which specifically addresses signage. The section 32 reports addressing the various zones do not include a specific section for signage. Signage that does not comply with the permitted activity criteria is considered Restricted Discretionary Activities. The submitter supports this activity status. The matters of discretion for signage which does not comply with the permitted activity criteria are inconsistent across the various zone chapters. There is not rationale provided by Council to justify these inconsistencies in the absence of a section 32 analysis. Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 18: Business Town Centre Zone > 18.2 Land Use Effects > 18.2.7 Signs > 18.2.7.2 Signs - Effects on traffic

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 18.2.7.2 P1 Signs – Effects on traffic as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief):

(a) Any sign directed at road land transport users must:

(iii) Not obstruct sight lines of drivers turning into or out of a site entrance and intersections or at a level crossing;

AND

Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.

Decision Reasons:

- Signs erected in the City should not have an adverse effect on the safe and efficient functioning of the land transport network, including railways, and the health and safety of road users. Traffic on the railway network will grow, and with more trains the issue of minimizing driver distraction is important to ensure the efficient running of the land transport network.
- Further, signs should be restricted where they breach the level crossing sightline areas developed from the NZTA Traffic Control Devices Manual 2008, Part 9 Level Crossings as sought in KiwiRail submission 67.
- It is appropriate to restrict and prevent the placement of signs within required sight lines for vehicles access and intersections, and within the sight lines required for rail crossings.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • KiwiRail seeks that a 5 metre setback apply to all new building development adjacent to operational railway corridor boundaries (i.e. not just sensitive land uses). • Ensuring all new structures in all zones are set back from the rail corridor allows access and maintenance to occur without the landowner or occupier needing to gain access to the rail corridor- potentially compromising their own safety. For these safety reasons setting back buildings from the rail corridor boundary is a means of ensuring people's health and wellbeing through good design. • Construction of buildings in close proximity to the rail corridor has significant safety risk if it is not managed appropriately in accordance with relevant standards. • A 5m setback allows for vehicular access to the backs of buildings (e.g. a cherry picker) and would also allow scaffolding to be erected safely. This in turn fosters visual amenity as lineside properties can then be regularly maintained. A setback is the most efficient method of ensuring intensification does not result in additional safety issues for activities adjacent to the rail corridor, whilst not restricting the ongoing operation and growth of activity within the rail corridor. • The proposed provisions would require any development within the setback to obtain consent with matters of discretion relating to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (i) location, design and use of the proposed building or structure as it relates to the rail network (ii) impacts on the safe operation, maintenance and development of the rail network (iii) construction and maintenance management.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire and Emergency New Zealand supports the height standard of 18.3.1, but an inclusion of a specific exemption for hose drying towers in order to appropriately provide for the operational requirements of Fire and Emergency New Zealand. • Fire stations are single storied buildings of approximately 8-9m in height and are typically able to achieve the height standards in a District Plan. Some fire stations also include a hose drying tower of between 12-15m in height. • Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers an exemption for associated structures better provides for the health and safety of the community by enabling the efficient functioning of Fire and Emergency New Zealand and is consistent with the typical height of similar network utility structures.

Amend Rule 18.3.2 P1 Daylight admission to consider an alternative height in relation to the boundary standard in the Business Town Centre Zone.

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan as consequential or additional relief as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission as necessary.

- The submitter generally opposes the daylight admission and seeks a change to the height control plane.
- The amendments sought will better provide for design flexibility and enable the delivery of centre intensification at a variety of different scales and typologies.
- Consideration should also be made to an alternative height in relation to boundary control within the Business Town Centre Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- Retailers and business need to be around anchor tenants for many reasons

 (ii) Extent to which operational and functional requirements dictate the necessity for a floor area over 500m².

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan to make consequential or alternative relief to give effect to the specific amendments sought.

Decision Reasons:

- Considers that the urban form component is already addressed by the restricted discretionary activity consent status for new buildings and the urban design controls.
- There is no need to go beyond restricted discretionary status for activities that exceed 500m² as an appropriately comprehensive assessment can still be made so long as the specific matters listed cover the recognised and relatable effects.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> This rule captures a "new building or the alteration of an existing building" and will be triggered irrespective of the extent or location of the alteration or new building. Non-compliance with the overlay rule triggers a full discretionary activity and this is inappropriate. It is possible to restrict the matters relevant and required to be considered and therefore should be considered a restricted discretionary activity. It needs to be recognised that there are some commercial activities that have a different form and function to that enshrined in the proposed approach, but which are still appropriately located in the business environment. The Z Pokeno truckstop is an established business that provides a function and facility to the public. The design requirements of a service station will not meet the verandah overlay standard. Summary of Decision Requested

Delete Rule 18.3.10.3 PI All heritage items – Alterations or additions.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter has concerns regarding the permitted activity rule related to alterations or additions.
- Concerned that that only protecting the significant physical features or specified facades of buildings has the potential for adverse effects on the heritage values of the entire building
- Works that are located out of public view or that do not involve significant features could have the potential to adversely affect or undermine heritage values.
- The rule ignores the intrinsic heritage values of the whole of the heritage items.
- Alterations and additions under this rule as a permitted activity could cumulatively impact on the overall building, not just the significant features or specified facades.
- In addition it is incorrect to assume that works that are located out of public view or that do not involve significant features are unimportant and do not have the potential to adversely affect or undermine heritage values.
- Any alterations or additions should be assessed through a resource consent process to consider the holistic impact of the proposed works on the historic heritage item, ensuring minimal loss of heritage fabric, and that the design, form, scale, workmanship, location of works and the curtilage and setting are respected.

Amend the Proposed District Plan as consequential or additional relief as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission as necessary.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter generally opposes the minimum residential unit size in Multi-unit development.
- The multi-unit subdivision provision is restrictive and discourages the desired urban uplift sought in the district.
- The submitter found that any type of in-fill housing development or multi-unit development will trigger a reason for consent.
- Subdivision consent will be required first in order to construct an in-fill dwelling or multi-unit development.
- The submitter considers the minimum residential unit size to be high and will discourage any new residential development to occur.
- The provision does not encourage sufficient housing choice and variety in residential built form to support changing demographics, lifestyles, rising housing costs, future housing demands and population growth within the district.
- Amendments are required to enable and incentivise residential development in the district.
- Reducing the minimum residential unit size will enable more units to be accommodated in a development and better utilisation of the site.
- The submitter seeks the deletion of the multi-unit development urban design guidelines from the Proposed District Plan., including any references to such guidelines in a rule or policy approach.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 19: Business Zone Tamahere > 19.2 Land Use - Effects > 19.2.4 Earthworks

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 19.2.4 PI(a) Earthworks General as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief):
(i) Be located more than 1.5m from infrastructure, including a public sewer, open drain, overland flow path or other service pipe
AND
Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.

Decision Reasons: • KiwiRail supports that earthworks are required to be setback from services and network systems. The rail track itself is most susceptible from adverse effects if adjacent earthworks are not adequately set back. KiwiRail seeks that rule relating to setbacks in certain zones should be amended to reflect that there should be an earthworks setback of 1.5m from infrastructure, to ensure that the efficient and effective operation of the existing network is maintained.

Plan chapter: Section C Rules > Chapter 19: Business Zone Tamahere > 19.2 Land Use - Effects > 19.2.5 Hazardous Substances

Submitter Number: 378 Submitter: Fire and Emergency New Zealand

Point Number 378.100
Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 19: Business Zone Tamahere > 19.2 Land Use - Effects > 19.2.5 Hazardous Substances

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 19.2.5 Hazardous Substances, as follows:
(a) The use, storage or disposal of any hazardous substance where:
(i) The aggregate quantity of any hazardous substance of any hazard classification on a site is less than the quantity specified for the Business Zone Tamahere in Table 6.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances);
(ii) The storage or use of radioactive materials is in approved equipment for medical and diagnostic purposes, or specified as an exempt activity or article in the Radiation Safety Act and Regulations 2017.
(iii) Rule 19.2.5(a)(i) excludes fire stations and associated fire service operations.
AND
Amend the Proposed District Plan to make further or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 19.2.5 as while fire stations and associated firefighting activities involve the use and storage of hazardous substances at quantities that are considered minor, it is possible that the permitted provisions may not enable for this, and could affect Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to operate as easily and smoothly as needed.
- Fire and Emergency New Zealand requests that fire stations and associated fire fighting activities are excluded from Rule 19.2.5 for the following reasons:
 1. The 8.3 classification (Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances)) has a relatively low limit in the Business Town Centre Zone, and is quite low in other areas- lots of household products are eye corrosives from dishwashing to laundry powder. This would limit and potentially prevent Fire and Emergency New Zealand having a HAZMAT vehicle based in this zone because they carry neutralizing agents which are eye corrosives. A greater concern is that some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants and foams also have this classification and this limit could potentially require that Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a resource consent to hold a small amount or and other these chemicals on site, as a lower limit would be largely taken up by ordinary household chemicals used on site.
 2. The 8.3A classification is for eye corrosion. A person is only affected by this hazard class if they come into direct contact with a product with this classification. This hazard is also managed under the health and safety at work and HSN0 legislation usually via labeling and PPE requirements. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers that there is no logic in restricting the amount of these substances held as it relates to Fire and Emergency New Zealand operations, particularly if they are in enclosed containers for systems.
 3. Some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants are solids rather than liquids and the reasons for the limits specified in the plan do not make sense for solids. Fire and Emergency New Zealand current main fire retardant is a powder but Fire and Emergency New Zealand are also looking at new foams which come in bricks. As such, higher restrictions for waterways do not make sense for these products as they do not leak or flow.
 4. Fire and Emergency New Zealand often requires the temporary storage of chemicals necessary for providing an emergency response, during an emergency and within a short period after the emergency, i.e. there is a small grace period for example if Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a truck to remove a container which has firefighting chemicals in it, they may need to wait for a few working days after the emergency has finished for a contractor to do that work. Not providing for this could restrict Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to respond to bush or other major events, e.g. large acid spills and other HAZMAT events. This could also result in a breach of the RMA in order to bring in the necessary products to resolve the issue and prevent harm to people/the environment.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 19: Business Zone Tamahere > 19.2 Land Use - Effects > 19.2.5 Hazardous Substances
Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 19.2.5 – Hazardous Substances. AND Any consequential amendments or further relief to give effect to the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The proposed provisions are opposed and the submitter seeks the deletion of all proposed hazardous substances controls relating to storage, use, disposal or transportation of hazardous substances at service station sites (as broadly defined) or refuelling sites. The submitter also supports the deletion of all rules pertaining to control hazardous substances where such controls are inappropriate, unnecessary, ineffective, inefficient and unable to be justified via a Section 32 analysis. These rules are all designed to address risk associated with hazardous substances. Risk is appropriately managed via other legislation and the Section 32 Report fails to identify why additional controls are required. The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 removed the explicit function of district and regional councils to control adverse effects of the storage, use, disposal, or transportation of hazardous substances under sections 30 and 31 of the Resource management Act 1991 (RMA). The changes came into effect on 19 April 2017 and are intended to ensure councils only place controls on hazardous substances where necessary to control effects under the RMA that are not covered by Hazardous Substance New Organisms Act 1996 or Health and Safety At Work Act 2015. The purpose of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act is to protect the environment, and the health and safety of people and communities, by preventing or managing the adverse effects of hazardous substances and new organisms. The Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act covers a range of matters including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. site and building requirements for where a hazardous substance may be used, including requirements for storage and primarily requiring primary and secondary containment; b. the safe transportation of hazardous substances; c. emergency management requirements in relation to the substance in the event of a spill or other emergency; and d. how the substance may be disposed of. The Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 provides a framework to secure the health and safety of works and workplaces and integrates the regulation of workplace use of hazardous substances. The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 followed the decision of the Independent Hearing Panel on the Christchurch Replacement District Plan. That decision was to reject Christchurch City Council's hazardous substance controls (which were based on an activity status table (AST) approach and to only retain controls relating to hazardous substances in close proximity to the National Grid. The Ministry for the Environment considers that in most cases the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act and the Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 controls will be adequate to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse environmental effects of hazardous substances and that RMA controls may be used if existing HSNO or Work safe controls are not adequate to address the environmental effects of hazardous substances in any particularly case. The submitter strongly supports the Ministry for the Environment's position in this regard. The submitter seeks that any proposed controls around hazardous substances do not duplicate those controls addressed under other legislation. Any duplication is considered unnecessary and inefficient. The section 32 report for Hazardous Substances acknowledges the removal of Council's functions in regards to hazardous substances and recognizes the "Resource Management Plans should not be in conflict with HSNO requirements and should not repeat them". The report further recognizes that "rationale for a higher level of protection through additional land use controls under the Act may be appropriate for substances both controlled by the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act or for issues which are not within the scope of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act, such as reverse sensitivity". However there is a significant disconnect between the overview and purpose sections of the Section 32 Report and the regulatory provisions in the Proposed District Plan. As an example, in regard to service stations the Section 32 Report concludes that, "the controlled activity status has been assigned to the storage and retail sale of fuel within service stations above a certain level in some zones to recognize that these substances are well managed through standards and industry practice. However, above these thresholds, the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered. No rational/analysis is provided within the section 32 report to justify why specific volume thresholds apply to service stations or why the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered reasonable if quantities are above those limits.

- The Section 32 Report does not provide analysis to justify why hazardous substances associated with service stations are only addressed in certain zones and in what way the Council considers the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act to not adequately control potential adverse effects associated with hazardous substances at service station - for example, why the Council considers site design, layout and monitoring and reporting of incidents are matters that the Council should reserve control over.
- In light of the Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 and controls under other legislation and the lack of rationale/analysis within the Section 32 Report for hazardous substances, it is considered the proposed hazardous substance controls are largely unnecessary and should therefore be deleted.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Fire and Emergency New Zealand supports the height standard of Rule 19.3.1, however the inclusion of a specific exemption for hose drying towers will appropriately provide for the operational requirements of Fire and Emergency New Zealand. Fire stations are single storied buildings of approximately 8-9m in height and are typically able to achieve the height standards in a District Plan. Some fire stations also include a hose drying tower of between 12-15m in height. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers the inclusion of an exemption for associated structures better provides for the health and safety of the community by enabling the efficient functioning of Fire and Emergency New Zealand and is consistent with the typical height of similar network utility structures.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There may be insufficient land at Horotiu for industrial purposes given market demand. • The Future Proof Housing and Business Development Capacity Assessment has found that industrial land demand in Waikato District is high. Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There is no existing provision for Health and Safety signs – a new provision is sought by the submitter who opposes this omission. The submitter seeks a permitted activity rule in Chapter 20 to provide for health and safety required by legislation. It is not appropriate or necessary to require such signage to be assessed against the Proposed District Plan signage provisions and therefore a dedicated permitted activity rules is required. Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Chapter 20: Industrial Zone to add a statement of purpose and anticipated outcomes of corresponding zone or subzone, and where appropriate make links to health and wellbeing considerations.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Currently there are no statements of purpose or descriptions for any of the zones or the intended outcomes to be achieved, leading to a reliance on objectives, policies and explanations within Section B of the Plan, which are based under generic heading topics with little zone based commentary. The amendments would assist with a clear understanding of the purpose and character of the various zones.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Non-industrial activity that does not undermine the integrity of the Industrial Zone, in terms of avoiding reverse sensitivity, and compatible, should be able to be assessed via a resource consent process. • Seeks that supermarkets be provided for as a restricted discretionary activity within the Industrial Zone and the assessment criteria appropriately address any potential effects on the amenity and vitality of town centres and reverse sensitivity effects on industrial activities.

Summary of Decision Requested	Add new matters of discretion relating to non-compliance with the 5m Building setback - railway corridor (sought elsewhere in other submission points) in Rule 20.1 Land Use Activities as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief): 1. Any characteristics of the proposed use that will make compliance unnecessary. AND Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • KiwiRail accepts that there will be at times situations where the proposed 5 metre Building setback - railway corridor rule cannot be met, or it is inappropriate to require compliance. • It is noted that some zones have restricted discretionary activity categories and some don't. It's been KiwiRail's policy to seek restricted discretionary activity status for non-compliance with its noise and vibration performance standards. The criteria allow for a bespoke consideration of site specific effects. • Application for resource consent under this rule can be decided without public notification. KiwiRail are likely to be the only affected person determined in accordance with section 95B of the Resource Management Act 1991.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 20: Industrial Zone > 20.1 Land Use – Activities > 20.1.1 Permitted Activities
Summary of Decision Requested	Add to Rule 20.1.1 Industrial Zone – Permitted Activities the following activities as permitted (as a minimum): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Hire Centres • Wholesale • Trade Supply outlet • Transport Depot • Garden Centres • Retailing of agricultural and industrial motor vehicles and machinery • Processing, storage, distribution and sale (wholesale or retail) of aggregates. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make consequential amendments or additional amendments to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Under the Proposed Plan, there is no activity distinction between those activities provided for in the Heavy Industrial Zone and the Industrial Zone where the listed permitted activities are the same. This is inconsistent with Policy 4.6.2 which seeks to provide for “different functions” within the zones, but also a “range of activities”. • The range of permitted activities is too constrained and does not take into account more land intensive activities of a lower amenity value, which should be located in an Industrial Zone rather than the Business Zone (where they are otherwise provided for as “commercial activities”). • The area of Business Zoned land nearby near Pokeno, where such activities could locate, is very limited (only around the Town Centre) and in close proximity to more services areas (i.e. residential). • These activities could reasonably locate in an Industrial Zone (and be compatible with surrounding activities). Currently they are not considered in P1-P6, under rule 20.1.1 and unless specifically provided for would therefore default to a Non-Complying Activity (under NC1).

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes the range of activities listed in Rule 20.1.1 as no provision is explicitly made for emergency services training and management activities, or emergency service facilities. • The rules should be expanded to provide for emergency services training and management activities and emergency service facilities in order to better achieve the sustainable management purpose of the Act and better enable Fire and Emergency New Zealand to achieve its statutory function. • Such activities are strongly compatible with an industrial environment.

P9 New buildings
Include activity specific conditions specifying that building must be related to industrial activity.
P10 Additions and Alterations to buildings
P11 Demolition of buildings

AND

Add the following terms to Chapter 13 Definitions :

- Mechanical workshop - to include Marine outboard servicing centre
- Ancillary yard

Decision Reasons:

- There is currently no provision to allow for a mechanical workshop within the Industrial Zone, nor is there provision within for an ancillary yard.
- The submitter's are a Marine Outboard Servicing Centre (including mechanical workshop) located specifically in the Industrial Zone because that is the most suitable area for their business to be situated, yet under the proposed rule framework this activity would be considered a Non-Complying activity.
- There is no provision for new buildings associated with industrial activities to develop on an industrial site, alterations to existing industrial premises to carry out or for demolition of buildings.

Summary of Decision Requested Add to Rule 20.1.1 Permitted Activities a new activity:

AND

Any other consequential amendments required to give effect to this relief.

Decision Reasons:

- Because community correction facilities are not listed, this would result in community correction activities being non-complying in the Industrial Zone, but it is an appropriate and compatible activity within the Industrial Zone.
- Industrial Zones provide suitable sites for community corrections activities, in particular the community work components where large sites with yard-based activities and large equipment and/or vehicle storage are often required.
- This rule should provide for community corrections activities in the Industrial Zone.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Supports the permitted activity status for the activities identified within Rule 20.1.1 for the Industrial zone for the activities and considers this is an efficient mechanism to achieve the objective of the zone and enable economic growth. A permitted activity status recognises and provides for a variety of industrial activities and the corresponding rules will ensure that the adverse effects are appropriately managed. Considers it necessary to provide for workers accommodation for people whose duties require them to live on site. Such activities are required from time to time to facilitate 24-hour operation of industrial activities as well as to provide safety and security that does not result in reverse sensitivity effects. Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Under the Proposed District Plan there is no activity distinction between those activities provide for in the Heavy Industrial Zone and the Industrial Zone whereby the listed permitted activities are the same. This is inconsistent with Policy 4.6.2 which seeks to provide for different functions within the zones but also a 'range of activities,' as the range of permitted activities is too constrained and does not take into account activities which are more land intrusive and of lower amenity value, which should be located in a Industrial Zone rather than the Business Zone. The area of Business Zoned land nearby in the vicinity of Pokeno is very limited and in close proximity to more services areas (i.e. residential). Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• The relevant objective and policy contained in Chapter 4: Urban Environment are relatively directive that industrial land should not be lost to non-industrial activities, therefore it is more appropriate to match this with a non-complying status in the rules.• Commercial activity should be directed to the town centres and business zones.• The Hamilton City District Plan has a strong emphasis on keeping Industrial zones for industrial purposes.• While it is not the expectation that adjoining districts have matching rules, in this instance, it would be preferable for a similar zoning approach be taken by Waikato District. It would seem appropriate there be some policy alignment to deliver on the Regional Policy Statement and Future Proof principles, by ensuring Hamilton remains the primary commercial hub of the sub-region.• In industrial areas in Hamilton, industrial and office activities are non-complying activities to support the 'centres based' approach to business areas within the City are not impacted.

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan to make alternative or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Submitter does not support the default non-complying activity status for activities. Instead POAL considers that a discretionary activity status be considered the default for activities that are not specifically provided for.
- Discretionary activity status will enable the district plan to respond to future developments and innovative methods, whereas the non-complying activity status will act as a bar to innovation and development.
- The default non-complying activity status is inconsistent with section 87B of the RMA, which provides for a default discretionary activity for activities not specifically provided for within a district plan.
- Submitter does not agree that all office activities should be provided for as a discretionary activity. Offices not ancillary to industrial activities are not compatible with an industrial environment and have the potential to result in reverse sensitivity effects and/or constrain the efficient operation of the industrial activities.
- Considers it appropriate for the Proposed District Plan to identify activities that it wishes to actively discourage within the Industrial Zone as they would be inappropriate or inconsistent with the outcomes intended through a non-complying activity status.
- Amendments will be consistent with the objectives and policies of the Industrial zone.
- This is an outcome consistent with the policies of the Industrial Zone that seek to maintain a sufficient supply of industrial land for industrial purposes.

Many industrial based business operate with shift work and/or require incoming and outgoing deliveries during off peak times. This trend is increasing given the need to minimise transport costs and delays from inadequate roading infrastructure. The restrictions in this rule may therefore hinder efficient operations by not enabling them to expand and adapt to markets. Amend Rule 20.2.2 C1 Landscape planting, as follows:

(a) Any new activity on a lot that has a side and/or rear boundary adjoining any Residential, Village, Country Living or Reserve Zone shall provide a ~~3m~~ 1m wide landscaped strip running parallel with the side and/or rear boundary; and

(b) Any new activity on a lot that contains, or is adjacent to, a river or a permanent ~~or intermittent~~ stream shall provide an 8m wide landscaped strip measured from the top edge of the closes bank and extending across the entire length of the watercourse.

Decision Reasons:

- Supports the inclusion of landscaping strips adjoining sensitive receiver and permanent waterways.
- The landscaping requirements should only apply to new developments as existing activities may not be able to comply with this rule.
- A 3m wide landscaped strip is unnecessarily wide and will result in a considerable loss of land that could otherwise be used for industrial development or car parking.
- Maintenance of this landscaped width also places an unreasonable burden and cost on the owner/operator.
- A 1m landscaped strip is more appropriate and would provide for a well maintained hedge in an urban setting. Applying this rule to intermittent streams is onerous and may raise concerns in regard to overland flows and potentially restrict development.

Will not support economic growth of the district's industry and does not provide for the efficient development of the industrial land resource. No justification has been provided in the section 32 analysis that supports the 8m landscape strip. To ensure consistency with the provisions of the Operative District Plan for the Horotiu Industrial Park, an amendment will require activities within 5m of Horotiu Road to provide a 5m wide buffer strip of planting to screen the Residential zone to appropriately manage adverse effects. The rule will constrain economic growth and reduce employment opportunities within the District.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Tuakau Proteins Limited supports the permitted noise levels in the Industrial Zone, but considers that it is necessary to include 'interface' permitted noise levels in the Industrial zone. As Tuakau Proteins Limited is located within the Industrial Zone but is the only industrial activity, the zoning changes at the site boundary to the adjacent Rural Zone. Therefore, although noisy activities are accepted in the Industrial Zone and higher permitted noise levels are provided, Industrial activities still need to fit within the Rural Zone's permitted noise levels, since the noise measured within any site in any zone other than the Industrial Zone and Heavy Industrial Zone, must meet the permitted noise levels for that zone. Tuakau Protein Limited must meet the Rural Zone permitted noise levels, which are much lower than the Industrial Zone's, which creates an issue when considering future growth of the site. Tuakau Protein Limited notes that other councils have included interface noise levels to manage such situations where noise levels need to be considered on sites which are located on the boundary of another zone. It is considered that this is appropriate to ensure the District Plan does not unreasonably restrict future growth of rural industry located on the boundary of the Rural Zone.

Add a new section 20.6 within Chapter 20 Industrial Zone, specifically providing for the Horotiu Industrial Park (see Schedule 2 of the submission for specific provisions).

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan to make alternative or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Due to the deletion of the Horotiu Industrial Park schedule, the noise requirements are more stringent due to the Country Living Zone and Residential Zone boundaries.
- The Horotiu Industrial Park is identified within the Waikato Regional Policy Statement as a regionally significant industrial node and its proximity to the state highway and rail networks is intended to operate 24 hours a day. The imposition of the noise limit will constrain the efficient and effective operation of the industrial node and be detrimental to the economy.
- No justification has been provided within the section 32 analysis to impose the noise limits.
- Ports of Auckland limited have commenced the construction of a new inland freight hub which has good road and rail connections and will improve access to overseas markets for Waikato based exporters and encourage investment in the district.
- The proposed noise limits will undermine the delivery and operation of the freight hub.
- It is critical for the operation of the Horotiu Industrial Park that the noise standards under the Operative District Plan are retained.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Rule 24B.19 of the Operative District Plan enables noise limits up to 75dBA of noise 24hours per day. Rule 24B.19 requires noise levels to be less when received by other zones. • Activities within Industrial zone which are near to other zone boundaries will need to constrain activities to achieve compliance with Rule 24B.19 of the Operative District Plan.

- Centralised Industrial activities are able to make higher noise levels over 24 hours as per Operative District plan Rule 24B.19.
- Rule 20.2.3.1 -P2 of the Operative District Plan seeks to reduce nighttime noise level limits from 75dB to 55dB between 10pm and 7am.
- Noise level limit changes may curtail industrial activities who were established because of current 24hour noise standard.
- Current landowners bought into industrial zoning knowing noise levels higher than other industrial environments.
- No justification in s32A analysis for noise level reduction limits in Proposed District Plan.
- It is not considered that 75dB noise level over 24hour period will increase external effects given adjoining zones will still need to comply with lower noise level limits such as the Living Zone.
- Define Horotiu Industrial Park in PDP and allow for current noise limits as per Rule 24B.19 of the Operative District Plan.

- The certificates of title that have frontage to Gateway Drive, Evolution Drive and Innovation Way.)

See submission for details of the rule.

OR

Any further relief or amendments as necessary to support the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Rule 20.2.3.1 P3 requires noise to comply with noise standards in each Zone other than the Industrial Zone. This approach is generally consistent with current Horotiu Industrial Park Rule 24.19.1 (b) and (c).
- The land adjoining Horotiu Industrial Park is proposed to adjoin Rural or Residential land.
- The Proposed District Plan will introduce new noise levels between 7pm and 10pm. The Operative District Plan has continuous noise standard from 7am to 10pm, which drops after 7pm.
- The Proposed District Plan reduces day time noise from 55dBA (L10) to 50dB (LAeq) and introduces a 40dB (LAeq) noise level for activities between 10pm and 7am.
- The change may curtail Industrial activities established because of Horotiu Industrial Park or due to noise levels permitted at adjoining sites.
- Request Horotiu Industrial Park be defined in Proposed District Plan with noise standards for adjoining sites being consistent with current Rule 24B.19 (b) and (c) of the ODP.

B. 50 dB (LAeq), 7pm to 10pm;

C. 45 dB (LAeq) and 75 dB (LAmax), 10pm to 7am the following day.

-P3

~~(a) Noise measured within any site in any zone other than the Industrial Zone and the Heavy Industrial Zone, must meet the permitted noise levels for that zone.~~

-P4

~~(a) Noise levels must be measured in accordance with the requirements of NZS 6801:2008 "Acoustics Measurement of Environmental Sound;"~~

~~(b) Noise levels must be assessed in accordance with the requirements of NZS 6802:2008 "Acoustic Environmental Noise;"~~

-D2

~~(a) Sound that is outside the scope of NZS 6802:2008 or a permitted activity standard; and~~

~~(b) Sound Noise that does not comply with Rule 20.2.3.1 P1 or P2, P3 or P4.~~

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed noise limits are generally in accordance with guideline values and use current measurement and assessment standards, acoustical metrics, numerical values, assessment location and time-frames. However, the following issues have been identified:
 - Incorrect terminology has been used in conflict with the standards specified,
 - No provision has been made for sound sources outside the scope of NZS 6802.
 - The measurement and assessment standards are an integral part of the noise limits and cannot be a separate permitted activity standard,
 - There is an inconsistent approach for sound received in another zone.
 - It is often appropriate to impose no intra-zonal noise limits on industrial zones, as otherwise noise limits can frustrate the fundamental purpose of the zone. Issues arising could be addressed under RMA s16.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 20: Industrial Zone > 20.2 Land Use - Effects > 20.2.4 Glare and Artificial Light Spill
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 20.2.4 PI Glare and Artificial Light Spill, as follows: Glare and artificial light spill must not exceed 10 lux measured horizontally and vertically within any other site: beyond the boundary of the Industrial Zone and the Heavy Industry Zone. Lighting associated with plant and machinery is excluded from this Rule. OR Add a new section 20.6 within Chapter 20 Industrial Zone, specifically providing for the Horotiu Industrial Park (see Schedule 2 of the submission for specific provisions). AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make alternative or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The lighting levels proposed are considered to be unnecessarily onerous, and do not facilitate the safe and efficient use of the industrial land resource for industrial purposes and activities that require night time illumination. Given the remoteness of the Horotiu Industrial Park to any sensitive residential receivers, it is considered that this rule should be amended so 10 lux standard only applied to sites that contain a dwelling beyond the boundary of the Industrial zone. As the objective of the Industrial Zone is to protect the amenity values of sensitive activities and ecosystem values beyond the boundary of the Industrial Zone, it is appropriate for the rule to relate to sites not zoned industrial. Clarification is also required to confirm that lighting associated with plant and machinery is excluded from this control.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The notified area, volume and depth limits are too low given that most industrial sites are typically large and require a high degree of land modification for the installation of services, stormwater retention devices for hard stand, the high percentage of building coverage and hard surfaces. If the Industrial Zone was subdivided into lots with a minimum area of 1000m² and average area of 2000m², this earthworks rule would likely be breached with every new development. For instance, a 1000m² site with 0.2m of topsoil would create 200m³ of earthworks for just the stripping of the topsoil. Controls on volume and areas are sufficient to manage environmental effects, so limit on excavation/fill depth are not needed.

Summary of Decision Requested

Amend Rule 20.2.5.1 P1 (a) Earthworks – General, as follows:

(a) Earthworks (excluding the importation of fill material) within a site must meet all of the following conditions:

(i) be located more than 1.5 m horizontally from any waterway, open drain or overland flow path;

(ii) not exceed a volume of more than ~~250~~500m³ and an area of more than 10,000m² over any single consecutive 12 month period;

~~(iii) not exceed an area of more than 1000-10,000m² over any single consecutive 12 month period.~~

(iv) the total depth of any excavation or filling does not exceed 1.5m above or below ground level;

(v) the slope of the resulting cut, filled areas or fill batter face in stable ground, does not exceed a maximum of 1:2 (1 vertical to 2 horizontal);

(vi) earthworks are set back at least 1.5m from all boundaries;

(vii) areas exposed by earthworks are revegetated to achieve 80% ground cover within 6 months of the commencement of the earthworks;

(viii) sediment resulting from the earthworks is retained on the site through implementation and maintenance of erosion and sediment controls; and

(ix) do not divert or change the nature of natural water flows, water bodies or established drainage paths.

Decision Reasons:

- The volume threshold in (ii) and area threshold in (ii) have been entered in error. They need to be corrected to enable significantly larger volumes of earthworks as permitted activities within the Industrial Zone. The rule needs to apply over a single consecutive 12 month period for both volume and area thresholds. This is also consistent with other zone chapters. The words "single" and "at least" provide clarity to the rule.

There is no justification for setting all earthworks back 1.5m from the boundary. This control is not within the Business Zone or Business Town Centre Zone. The definition of earthworks would render a post hole within 1.5m of a boundary as a restricted discretionary activity (i.e earthworks within 1.5m of a boundary). In the absence of a Section 32 Report justifying its inclusion, it is considered that this control is unnecessary and unjustified and should be deleted. The submitter supports the intent of the requirement to re-vegetate exposed areas within 6 months of the commencement of earthworks as per PI (a)(iv) – ie: to achieve stabilization of the exposed surface. However it is considered inappropriate to simply require areas exposed by earthworks to be re-vegetated. For example, earth-worked areas that are to be finished in hardstand will be stabilized, but will not be re-vegetated. Therefore, the submitter considers it appropriate to include additional wording to clause PI (a) (vii) to ensure areas disturbed by earthworks are stabilized (which may or may not include re-vegetation) to avoid potential erosion and sediment issues effect. PI (a) (iv) provides for the total depth of any excavation or filling at 1.5m above or below ground level. P2 (a) (ii) restricts imported fill material to 1m. This is contrary to the 1.5m maximum permitted depth provided through PI (a) (iv). Therefore the submitter seeks the maximum permitted depth of imported fill material to 1.5m (from 1m). The intent of the difference in levels is not known in the absence of justification via a Section 32 Report. The control is unnecessary and unjustified and should be deleted.

Buildings can be built up to the boundary in Industrial Zone resulting in automatic resource consents required for earthworks even if volume and area are met in clauses (a)(i) and (iii). It is unclear what environmental effect is proposed to be controlled as clause (a)(v) seeks to ensure appropriate fall is achieved, i.e. 1 vertical to 2 horizontal. This clause addresses stability issues for adjoining properties. Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 20: Industrial Zone > 20.2 Land Use - Effects > 20.2.6 Hazardous Substances
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 20.2.6 Hazardous Substances, as follows: (a) The use, storage or disposal of any hazardous substance where: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (i) the aggregate quantity of a hazardous substance of any hazard classification on a site is less than the quantity specified for the Industrial Zone in Table 5 I contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances). (ii) Rule 20.2.6 (a) (i) excludes fire stations and associated fire service operations. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make further or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 20.2.6 as while fire stations and associated firefighting activities involve the use and storage of hazardous substances at quantities that are considered minor, it is possible that the permitted provisions may not enable for this and could affect Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to operate as easily and smoothly as needed. • Fire and Emergency New Zealand requests that fire stations and associated firefighting activities are excluded from the Rule 20.2.6 for the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The 8.3 classification (Table 5. I contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances)) has a relatively low limit in the Business Town Centre Zone, and is quite low in other areas- lots of household products are eye corrosives from dishwashing to laundry powder. This would limit and potentially prevent Fire and Emergency New Zealand having a HAZMAT vehicle based in this zone because they carry neutralizing agents which are eye corrosives. A greater concern is that some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants and foams also have this classification and this limit could potentially require that Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a resource consent to hold a small amount or other these chemicals on site, as a lower limit would be largely taken up by ordinary household chemicals used on site. 2. The 8.3A classification is for eye corrosion. A person is only affected by this hazard class if they come into direct contact with a product with this classification. This hazard is also managed under the health and safety at work and HSNO legislation usually via labeling and PPE requirements. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers that there is no logic in restricting the amount of these substances held as it relates to Fire and Emergency New Zealand operations, particularly if they are in enclosed containers for systems. 3. Some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants are solids rather than liquids and the reasons for the limits specified in the plan do not make sense for solids. Fire and Emergency New Zealand current main fire retardant is a powder but Fire and Emergency New Zealand are also looking at new foams which come in bricks. As such, higher restrictions for waterways do not make sense for these products as they do not leak or flow. 4. Fire and Emergency New Zealand often requires the temporary storage of chemicals necessary for providing an emergency response, during an emergency and within a short period after the emergency, i.e. there is a small grace period for example if Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a truck to remove a container which has firefighting chemicals in it, they may need to wait for a few working days after the emergency has finished for a contractor to do that work. Not providing for this could restrict Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to respond to bush or other major events, e.g. large acid spills and other HAZMAT events. This could also result in a breach of the RMA in order to bring in the necessary products to resolve the issue and prevent harm to people/the environment.

Summary of Decision Requested

Delete Rule 20.2.6 – Hazardous Substances.

AND

Any consequential amendments or further relief to give effect to the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed provisions are opposed and the submitter seeks the deletion of all proposed hazardous substances controls relating to storage, use, disposal or transportation of hazardous substances at service station sites (as broadly defined) or refuelling sites.
- The submitter also supports the deletion of all rules pertaining to control hazardous substances where such controls are inappropriate, unnecessary, ineffective, inefficient and unable to be justified via a Section 32 analysis.
- These rules are all designed to address risk associated with hazardous substances. Risk is appropriately managed via other legislation and the Section 32 Report fails to identify why additional controls are required.
- The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 removed the explicit function of district and regional councils to control adverse effects of the storage, use, disposal, or transportation of hazardous substances under sections 30 and 31 of the Resource Management Act 1991 (RMA).
- The changes came into effect on 19 April 2017 and are intended to ensure councils only place controls on hazardous substances where necessary to control effects under the RMA that are not covered by Hazardous Substance New Organisms Act 1996 or Health and Safety At Work Act 2015.
- The purpose of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act is to protect the environment, and the health and safety of people and communities, by preventing or managing the adverse effects of hazardous substances and new organisms. The Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act covers a range of matters including:
 - a. site and building requirements for where a hazardous substance may be used, including requirements for storage and primarily requiring primary and secondary containment;
 - b. the safe transportation of hazardous substances;
 - c. emergency management requirements in relation to the substance in the event of a spill or other emergency; and
 - d. how the substance may be disposed of.
- The Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 provides a framework to secure the health and safety of works and workplaces and integrates the regulation of workplace use of hazardous substances.
- The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 followed the decision of the Independent Hearing Panel on the Christchurch Replacement District Plan. That decision was to reject Christchurch City Council's hazardous substance controls (which were based on an activity status table (AST) approach and to only retain controls relating to hazardous substances in close proximity to the National Grid.
- The Ministry for the Environment considers that in most cases the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act and the Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 controls will be adequate to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse environmental effects of hazardous substances and that RMA controls may be used if existing HSNO or Work safe controls are not adequate to address the environmental effects of hazardous substances in any particularly case. The submitter strongly supports the Ministry for the Environment's position in this regard.
- The submitter seeks that any proposed controls around hazardous substances do not duplicate those controls addressed under other legislation. Any duplication is considered unnecessary and inefficient.
- The section 32 report for Hazardous Substances acknowledges the removal of Council's functions in regards to hazardous substances and recognizes the "Resource Management Plans should not be in conflict with HSNO requirements and should not repeat them".
- The report further recognizes that "rationale for a higher level of protection through additional land use controls under the Act may be appropriate for substances both controlled by the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act or for issues which are not within the scope of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act, such as reverse sensitivity".
- However there is a significant disconnect between the overview and purpose sections of the Section 32 Report and the regulatory provisions in the Proposed District Plan.
- As an example, in regard to service stations the Section 32 Report concludes that, "the controlled activity status has been assigned to the storage and retail sale of fuel within service stations above a certain level in some zones to recognize that these substances are well managed through standards and industry practice. However, above these thresholds, the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered.

- No rational/analysis is provided within the section 32 report to justify why specific volume thresholds apply to service stations or why the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered reasonable if quantities are above those limits.
- The Section 32 Report does not provide analysis to justify why hazardous substances associated with service stations are only addressed in certain zones and in what way the Council considers the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act to not adequately control potential adverse effects associated with hazardous substances at service station - for example, why the Council considers site design, layout and monitoring and reporting of incidents are matters that the Council should reserve control over.
- In light of the Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 and controls under other legislation and the lack of rationale/analysis within the Section 32 Report for hazardous substances, it is considered the proposed hazardous substance controls are largely unnecessary and should therefore be deleted.

- Corner sites should be able to have additional sign opportunities without adversely affecting residential character and amenity.
- Allowance should be made for feature signs which are commonly used for properties going to auction or tender.
- Header signs should be able to be established on another sign (often on a high volume road) to direct purchasers to the site which is for sale (often on a low volume road).

- The submitter considers the maximum permitted height of signage in the Industrial Zone Heavy (i.e 15m) to similarly apply to the Industrial Zone, and therefore seeks the maximum height limit of the Industrial Zone be increased from 10m to 15m.
- There is no expressed reason why a sign (which meets the definition of building) should have to conform to a lower height than buildings per se.
- A prime sign is a standard and integral feature of service station sites and is important to ensuring the safe and efficient movement of traffic from the surrounding road network (as opposed to attracting attention from people across the street), it is considered that provision should be made for prime signs at service station sites in Industrial Zones.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Provision does not take into consideration site size and imposes a one size fits all rule. Acknowledge the purpose to avoid proliferation of signage while maintaining suitable visual, streetscape and amenity effects. Provision should enable increased signage as permitted activity when site size increases. Rule 20.4.1 of the PDP requires 1000m2 minimum for Industrial Subdivision. It would then follow that a site twice as large could have 6m2 signage for sites 2000m2 in size. This would not result in an unreasonable adverse effect when baseline is 3m2 per 1000m2. It is requested that the provision be amended to incrementally increase allowable signage on site as size of site increases. Would enable larger sites with larger buildings to have signage that reflects the size of activities.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Signs erected in the City should not have an adverse effect on the safe and efficient functioning of the land transport network, including railways, and the health and safety of road users. Traffic on the railway network will grow, and with more trains the issue of minimizing driver distraction is important to ensure the efficient running of the land transport network. Further, signs should be restricted where they breach the level crossing sightline areas developed from the NZTA Traffic Control Devices Manual 2008, Part 9 Level Crossings as sought in KiwiRail submission 67. It is appropriate to restrict and prevent the placement of signs within required sight lines for vehicles access and intersections, and within the sight lines required for rail crossings.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The current rules for vegetation clearance within Significant Natural Areas fails to adequately protect or manage biodiversity values present in these areas. It is important to appropriately manage indigenous vegetation clearance to prevent further fragmentation and loss in the Waikato District. P2 describes a maximum volume of Manuka and kanuka that may be removed per 12 months outside of the coastal environment. A volume of timber is dependent on the size of trees and their density where 5m3 may be clearance of an area of a few 5m2, where a few large trees have been harvested. The Proposed District Plan makes no attempt to indicate how much bush has been lost, or will be lost by these and other provisions in the Proposed District Plan. Screening with trees should be applied to improve and protect views from Raglan and its beaches. Much of the attraction of Raglan derives from its beaches and the north shore of the harbour having rural aspects. New subdivisions could diminish that attraction and an active policy of tree planting to establish belts of trees screening those views would help to protect the rural image. Alternatively, the Proposed District Plan could ban development which would detract from those views.

Summary of Decision Requested	Add a clause to Rule 20.3.1 - P1 Building height that enables building height within Horotiu Industrial Park to be consistent with that provided for in Rule 24B.22 of the Operative District Plan. Horotiu Industrial Park comprises the following titles: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Lot 1 DP 390831 (364687), Lot 18 DP 494347 (723133), Lot 1 DPS 61620 (SA50B/598), Lot 2 DPS 61260 (SA50B/599), Lot 3 DPS 61260 (SA50B/600), Lot 16 DP 494347 (723131), Lot 17 494347 (723132), Lot 1 DP 499692 (742155) and Lot 2 DP 499692 (822899). OR Any further amendments or relief as necessary to support the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Northgate Developments Ltd and Northgate Industrial Park owns significant portion of land within Horotiu Industrial Park located west of Great South Road and south of Horotiu Road, Horotiu. Northgate developed Northgate Business Park that has access via Gateway Drive, Evolution Drive and Innovation Way. Land remaining Industrially zoned under PDP. Horotiu Industrial Park zoning and framework established as a result of an appeal to the previous Waikato District Plan. Consent order agreement enforced by Environment Court. Horotiu Industrial Park provisions provided as a permitted activity in Chapter 24B of the ODP subject to timing of land release, scale of activities and management of potential effects. Provisions provide Industrial development as Permitted activity given compliance with performance standards that govern timing land release, scale of activities and management of potential external effects such as noise, bulk, height, setbacks, landscaping and traffic. Rule 20.3.1 -P3 of PDP specifies 15m maximum building height. Rule differs from provisions for Horotiu Industrial Park as per Rule 24B.22 of the ODP which enables/restricts development to; 25m maximum height when located over 400m from Horotiu Road provided 15m maximum height for 15% of site for Stages 1, 2, 3A and 3B, and up to 15m or 10m when located within 50m of Horotiu Road or within 50m of Stage 3C boundaries as per Rule 24B.22.1(a) of the ODP. Operative provisions demonstrate the closer development to external boundaries of Horotiu Industrial Park the more stringent height is. Buildings 15-25m can be accommodated within Horotiu Industrial Park. Rule changes may curtail Industrial activities in Horotiu Industrial Park which have been bought due to higher height limits. All current landowners bought sites knowing height requirements. Consistent with amenity values for area. Requested Horotiu Industrial Park be defined in PDP while retaining existing height rules in Rule 24B.22 of the ODP. Northgate would accept further relief/amendments to the PDP to support the Northgate position.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 20.3.3 – Height - Buildings, structures and vegetation within an airport obstacle limitation surface as follows: P1 Any building, structure, tree or other vegetation must not protrude through an airport obstacle limitation surface as shown on the planning maps. NCI Any building, structure, tree or other vegetation that does not comply with Rule 20.3.3. P1 AND Amend the Proposed District Plan for any consequential relief required to give effect to this submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The OLS (as notified) is necessary to ensure compliance with Civil Aviation Circular AC139-7 Aerodrome Standards and Requirements for Code I aerodromes operating on a VFR and an IFR (non-air transport) basis. The extent of the OLS is described in Chapter 29 – Appendix 9. Rules are also provided in the PWDP to protect the OLS from being breached by buildings, structures and vegetation. Although Rule 27.3.1 as notified correctly protects the proposed OLS from buildings, structures, trees and other vegetation, the corresponding height rules in other zones omits reference to 'trees'. It is critical that there is consistency amongst OLS provisions and that the provisions control 'trees' as well as buildings, structures and other vegetation. It is proposed that the relevant rules in each chapter are amended to align with the (correct) wording in Chapter 27, Rule 27.3.1.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 20: Industrial Zone > 20.3 Land Use - Building > 20.3.3 Daylight Admission
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 20.3.3 Daylight admission to increase height from 2.5m to 3m. AND Amend Rule 20.3.3 Daylight Admission to specifically exclude roads from any daylight admission plane. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make consequential amendments or additional amendments to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There is no justification to reduce the height to boundary recession plane, to a height that is lower than the previous Franklin provisions when the maximum heights have been kept the same. There is no reason to apply a daylight recession plane against roads in the Industrial Zones as these are areas are generally of a lower amenity and less have pedestrian traffic, therefore there is no reason to apply a daylight restriction against the road network.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 20: Industrial Zone > 20.3 Land Use - Building > 20.3.4 Building setbacks
Summary of Decision Requested	Add a new rule to Rule 20.3.4 Building setbacks as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief): Building setback - railway corridor (a) any new buildings or alterations to an existing building must be setback 5 metres from any designated railway corridor boundary AND Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • KiwiRail seeks that a 5 metre setback apply to all new building development adjacent to operational railway corridor boundaries (i.e. not just sensitive land uses). • Ensuring all new structures in all zones are set back from the rail corridor allows access and maintenance to occur without the landowner or occupier needing to gain access to the rail corridor- potentially compromising their own safety. For these safety reasons setting back buildings from the rail corridor boundary is a means of ensuring people's health and wellbeing through good design. • Construction of buildings in close proximity to the rail corridor has significant safety risk if it is not managed appropriately in accordance with relevant standards. • A 5m setback allows for vehicular access to the backs of buildings (e.g. a cherry picker) and would also allow scaffolding to be erected safely. This in turn fosters visual amenity as lineside properties can then be regularly maintained. A setback is the most efficient method of ensuring intensification does not result in additional safety issues for activities adjacent to the rail corridor, whilst not restricting the ongoing operation and growth of activity within the rail corridor. • The proposed provisions would require any development within the setback to obtain consent with matters of discretion relating to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (i) location, design and use of the proposed building or structure as it relates to the rail network (ii) impacts on the safe operation, maintenance and development of the rail network (iii) construction and maintenance management.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Port of Auckland Limited's inland freight hub site is bound by an unnamed tributary of the Te Rapa Stream. The Proposed District Plan has removed the 3m qualifying bed width applied in the Operative District Plan. • Does not support rule 20.3.4.2 in its current format as it has the potential to constrain future developments within the inland freight hub. • The imposition of the building setback requirement has the potential to constrain the efficient developments of the significant regional industrial node. • Seeks as a minimum that the Operative District Plan's qualifying standard is applied to this rule.

Section C Rules > Chapter 20: Industrial Zone > 20.3 Land Use - Building > 20.3.4 Building setbacks > 20.3.4.2 Building setback – waterbodies

Summary of Decision Requested

Amend Rule 20.3.4.2 P1 (a) Building setback - Waterbodies as follows:

(a) Any building must be setback a minimum of 30 from:

(i) the margin of any:

A. Lake over 4ha; and

B. Wetland; and

C. River bank, other than the Waikato River and Waipa River

...

AND

Amend Rule 20.3.4.2 Building setback to require the following setback for managed wetlands to match the amendments sought for other zones:

10m from a managed wetland

AND

Any consequential amendments.

Decision Reasons:

- A wetland as defined under the RMA is broad reaching and covers many features.
- Having a nominal setback applied to such a wide variation of water features is inappropriate and introduces significant inefficiencies which is contrary to Part 2 of the RMA and the sustainable management of natural and physical resources.
- A lake can constitute a large array of waterbodies and therefore a starting point of 4ha should be used before the setback applies.

Decision Reasons:

- Concerned that that only protecting the significant physical features or specified facades of buildings has the potential for adverse effects on the heritage values of the entire building
- Works that are located out of public view or that do not involve significant features could have the potential to adversely affect or undermine heritage values.
- The rule ignores the intrinsic heritage values of the whole of the heritage items.
- Alterations and additions under this rule as a permitted activity could cumulatively impact on the overall building, not just the significant features or specified facades.
- In addition it is incorrect to assume that works that are located out of public view or that do not involve significant features are unimportant and do not have the potential to adversely affect or undermine heritage values.
- Any alterations or additions should be assessed through a resource consent process to consider the holistic impact of the proposed works on the historic heritage item, ensuring minimal loss of heritage fabric, and that the design, form, scale, workmanship, location of works and the curtilage and setting are respected.

AND

20.4.6 Subdivision - within the National Grid Corridor

RD L

(a) The subdivision of land within the National Grid Corridor must comply with all of the following conditions:

(i) All allotments intended to contain a sensitive land use must provide a building platform for the likely principal building(s) and any building(s) for a sensitive land use located outside of the National Grid Yard, other than where the allotments are for roads, access ways or infrastructure; and

(ii) The layout of allotments and any enabling earthworks must ensure that physical access is maintained to any National Grid support structures located on the allotments, including any balance area.

(b) Council's discretion is restricted to the following matters:

(i) The subdivision layout and design in regard to how this may impact on the operation, maintenance, upgrading and development of the National Grid;

(ii) The ability to provide a complying building platform outside of the National Grid Yard;

(iii) The risk of electrical hazards affecting public or individual safety, and the risk of property damage;

(iv) The nature and location of any vegetation to be planted in the vicinity of National Grid transmission lines.

(a) The subdivision of land containing a gas transmission pipeline is a restricted discretionary activity.

(b) Council's discretion shall be restricted to the following matters:

(ii) The ability for maintenance and inspection of pipelines including ensuring access to the pipelines.

(iii) Consent notices on titles to ensure on-going compliance with AS2885 Pipelines-Gas and Liquid Petroleum-Parts 1 to 3.

(iv) The outcome of any consultation with First Gas Limited.

AND

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan to make consequential amendments or additional amendments to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The 20% restriction on rear sites creation results in inefficiencies of land resources (which are already scarce), as it will significantly reduce the amount of land available for industrial activities (and other similar uses).
- These types of areas are generally of a "lower amenity" than town centre or residential areas, and subject to less (if any) pedestrian thoroughfare, there is no reason to restrict the number of rear lots created via subdivision.

The new rule will read: CL (g) Subdivision within the Horotiu Industrial Park is a controlled activity where it complies with all of the following conditions: (i) every allotment in the Horotiu Industrial Park area has a net site area of at least 500m², excluding access allotments or utility allotments which shall have a minimum net site area of 100m²; (ii) prior to any subdivision or development of the Stage 3A areas on earth bund is constructed generally in the location of the form and height shown on Figure 20.6(B); (iii) any subdivision of land adjoining Horotiu Road includes a minimum 5m wide landscaping strip adjoining Horotiu Road (excluding access) to be planted and maintained with indigenous species that will achieve a height of at least 5m within 5 years and sufficient density to visually screen the land from the Residential Zone; (iv) any subdivision of land adjoining the designated boundary of the Waikato Expressway includes landscape planting and maintenance of indigenous species that will achieve an average height of 3m within 5 years and of sufficient density to visually screen the industrial activity from the Expressway in combination with any existing or proposed landscaping within the Expressway designation. (b) Control is reserved over: (i) amenity values; (ii) construction and maintenance of bund area; (iii) planting and maintenance of bund area. OR Add a new section 20.6 within Chapter 20 Industrial Zone, specifically providing for the Horotiu Industrial Park (see Schedule 2 of the submission for specific provisions). AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make alternative or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.

Delete Rule 20.4.1 RD1(a)(iii) General Subdivision in relation to the 20% restriction on rear lots.

AND

Any consequential amendments and/or additional relief required to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The restriction on 20% rear sites creates inefficiencies of land resources
- It will significantly reduce the amount of land available for industrial activities (and other similar uses).
- These types of areas are generally of a "lower amenity" than town centre or residential areas and subject to less pedestrian throughfare.
- There is no reason to restrict the number of rear lots created via subdivision.

Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 20.4.1 RD1 (a)(iii) General subdivision requiring no more than 20% rear lots to be created. AND Any additional or consequential relief to give effect to the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The 20% restriction on rear sites creation results in inefficiencies of land resources, which are already scarce, as it will significantly reduce the amount of land available for industrial activities. • These areas are generally of a lower amenity than town centre/residential areas and subject to less pedestrian thoroughfare therefore there is no reason for such restrictions.

Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 20.4.1 RD1 (a)(ii) Subdivision General. OR Any further relief or amendments as necessary to support the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Rule 20.4.1 (a) (ii) - RD1 imposes an averaging requirement of 2000m2 for subdivision within Industrial Zone being twice the size of minimum net site area enabled by clause (a)(i), reduces development potential. • It is unclear the effect of averaging standard trying to achieve when minimum lot size is 1000m2. • If issue was around suitable lot sizes and shapes to accommodate future land uses an alternative approach would be minimum shape factor requirements. • The lot size required for Industrial land is based on market demand as land is bought per m2 rate. • Purchasers set lot sizes based on what is most cost effective. Industrial subdivision follows sale and purchase agreements. • If subdivision standards require double minimum lot size as an average, it will lead to inefficient use of Industrial land.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The design, location and service arrangements for new development carried out in the subdivision process cannot be separated from the future use of the subdivided sites. New buildings, including those containing sensitive or noise sensitive activities, their location and the design and location of access ways may all have an influence on the ultimate impact development has on existing and planned infrastructure. The potential for reverse sensitivity effects is therefore a relevant consideration at this point in the development process. • KiwiRail seeks the addition of matters of discretion relating to reverse sensitivity effects on land transport networks to the subdivision consent criteria in the listed zones.

Summary of Decision Requested Retain Rule 20.4.5 RD1 Subdivision of land containing a heritage item, except for the amendments sought below.
AND

Amend Rule 20.4.5 RD1 Subdivision of land containing a heritage item as follows:
(a) Subdivision of land containing a heritage item listed in Schedule 30.1 (Historic Heritage Items)
(b) Council's discretion is restricted to the following matters:
(i) Effects on heritage values;
(ii) Context and setting of the heritage item;

AND

Amend Rule 20.4.5 RD1 Subdivision of land containing a heritage items to be consistent with the equivalent rules in other zone chapters, including heritage items being retained in one lot.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports in part the restricted discretionary activity status of the rule relating to the subdivision of land containing heritage items and the associated matters of discretion, as these assessment criteria will assist to give effect to the related policy.
- An amendment is required to the assessment criteria to recognise that the retention of a heritage item and its setting is best achieved when they are located within the same lot.
- The inclusion of threshold creates a clear distinction for those administering the Plan as to when the activity becomes a non-complying activity.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend the Land Use provisions in Chapter 21 Industrial Zone Heavy to reflect the intentions of Policy 4.6.2 Provide Industrial Zones with different functions, Policy 4.6.4 Maintain industrial land for industrial purposes as proposed and Policy 4.6.5 Recognition of industrial activities outside of urban areas.

Point Number	341.7
Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy
Summary of Decision Requested	Retain Chapter 21 Industrial Zone Heavy as notified, including the proposed structure and approach.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A Heavy Industrial zoning is proposed for the TGHL owned Huntly and Meremere Power Stations sites within the Proposed Plan as notified. Policy 4.6.2 of the Proposed Plan describes the Heavy Industrial Zone as providing 'for a range of industrial and other compatible activities that generate potentially significant effects on more sensitive zones, including relatively high levels of visual impact from buildings and associated parking and loading spaces, outdoor storage, lighting, noise, odour and heavy traffic, subject to appropriate separation distances.' Further to the comments above regarding the Rural Zone provisions, TGHL support the more 'activity based' structure and approach to Chapter 21 for the Heavy Industrial Zone. For ease of interpretation, TGHL also support the specific Heavy Industrial Zone chapter when compared to the lengthy combined Industrial Chapter in Operative Plan.

Organisation:	'Oil Companies'
Point Number	785.54
Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy
Summary of Decision Requested	Add a new Permitted Activity Rule to Chapter 21 – Industrial Zone Heavy as follows: PX Any Healthy and Safety signage required by legislation. AND Add an additional definition (if necessary) of 'health and safety' sign as follows: Health and Safety sign means any sign necessary to meet other legislative requirements (e.g. HSNQ/Work-safe). AND Any consequential amendments or additional relief to give effect to the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> There is no existing provision for Health and Safety signs – a new provision is sought by the submitter who opposes this omission. The submitter seeks a permitted activity rule in Chapter 21 to provide for health and safety required by legislation. The proposed policy framework does not exempt health and safety signage or signage required by legislation. It is not appropriate or necessary to require such signage to be assessed against the Proposed District Plan signage provisions and therefore a dedicated permitted activity rules is required. If further clarification of what is considered as 'health and safety' signs is required then a definition that includes any signs required by other legislation, should be adopted.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy
Summary of Decision Requested	Add new provisions to Chapter 21 Industrial Zone Heavy to include energy efficiency policies and rules (see submission for wording)
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Proposed District Plan only makes passing reference to climate change and says nothing about coal, gas and oil's effect on global warming. It is disappointing that Stage 2 of the Proposed District Plan is to be published in 2019 and that is not possible to consider it in context with this part of the Plan. Section 1.9.5 reflects the Resource Management Act requirements around climate change and renewable energy.

Point Number	923.118
Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Chapter 21: Heavy Industrial Zone to add a statement of purpose and anticipated outcomes of corresponding zone or subzone, and where appropriate make links to health and wellbeing considerations.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Currently there are no statements of purpose or descriptions for any of the zones or the intended outcomes to be achieved, leading to a reliance on objectives, policies and explanations within Section B of the Plan, which are based under generic heading topics with little zone based commentary. There is an opportunity to clarify the purpose of a zone and increase understanding of outcomes, and appropriate types of activities for the different environments. The amendments would assist with a clear understanding of the purpose and character of the various zones.

Summary of Decision Requested	Add a new Restricted Discretionary Activity to Rule 21.1 Land Use - Activities as follows: Establishment of a residential activity or use within 20m of a gas transmission pipeline. Establishment of a residential activity or use within 60m of the gas network (other than a gas transmission pipeline). Establishment of a sensitive land use (excluding residential activities within 60m of the gas network. AND Add a new matter of discretion to Rule 21.1 Land Use - Activities as follows: (a) The extent to which the development will avoid or mitigate conflict with the gas network. AND Any consequential amendments and other relief to give effect to the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> In order to protect the gas network inclusive of delivery points the submitter seeks to include a minimum setback between a delivery point and sensitive land use. The submitter seeks to include an additional matter over which Council's discretion shall be limited under RD1 (b) to address potential reverse sensitivity effects on the gas network inclusive of delivery points.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy > 21.1 Land Use – Activities
Summary of Decision Requested	Add new matters of discretion relating to non-compliance with the 5m Building setback - railway corridor (sought elsewhere in other submission points) in Rule 21.1 Land Use Activities as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The size, nature and location of the buildings on the site. 2. The extent to which the safety and efficiency of rail and road operations will be adversely affected. 3. The outcome of any consultation with KiwiRail. 4. Any characteristics of the proposed use that will make compliance unnecessary. AND Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • KiwiRail accepts that there will be at times situations where the proposed 5 metre Building setback - railway corridor rule cannot be met, or it is inappropriate to require compliance. • It is noted that some zones have restricted discretionary activity categories and some don't. It's been KiwiRail's policy to seek restricted discretionary activity status for non-compliance with its noise and vibration performance standards. The criteria allow for a bespoke consideration of site specific effects. • Application for resource consent under this rule can be decided without public notification. KiwiRail are likely to be the only affected person determined in accordance with section 95B of the Resource Management Act 1991.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes the range of activities listed in Rule 21.1.1 as no provision is explicitly made for emergency services training and management activities, and emergency service facilities. • The rules should be expanded to provide for emergency services training and management activities, and emergency service facilities in order to better achieve the sustainable management purpose of the Act and better enable Fire and Emergency New Zealand to achieve its statutory function by facilitating firefighting and emergency response. • Such activities are strongly compatible with an industrial environment.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Industrial activities should be incentivised to locate in Industrial Zones by way of a permitted activity status. • Waste management facilities that do not dispose of waste to land (i.e. landfill, managed fill, cleanfill) should be permitted in the Heavy Industrial Zone. • Recycling of materials is no different to the processing of materials. • The effects of waste management processes and facilities are within the anticipated outcomes for the Heavy Industrial Zone and should be provided for in that zone.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Currently rule 21.2.2 aims to ensure landscape planting is provided as a controlled activity where an industrial site adjoins a Residential, Village, Country Living, Reserve Zone or a river or stream. Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy > 21.2 Land Use Effects > 21.2.3 Noise > 21.2.3.2 Noise – Huntly Power Station

Amend Rule 21.2.3.2 P2, P3, P4 and RD1- Noise- Huntly Power Station as follows:

P2

Sound measured in accordance with NZS 6801:2008 and assessed in accordance with NZS 6802:2008 must not exceed:

~~(a) Noise measured at the following noise limits at any point within a notional boundary within in the Rural Zone must not exceed:~~

~~(i) 55 dB LAeq(15min), dB (LAeq) 7am to 10pm; and~~

~~(ii) 45 dB LAeq(15min), dB (LAeq) and 75 dB (LAmax), 10pm to 7am the following day;~~

~~(iii) 75 dB LAFmax, 10pm to 7am the following day;~~

~~(b) The permitted activity noise limits for the zone of any other site where sound is received, other than in the Rural Zone.~~

~~P3~~

~~(a) Noise measured within any site in the Residential Zone must meet the permitted noise levels for that zone.~~

~~P4~~

~~(a) Noise levels must be measured in accordance with the requirements of NZS 6801:2008 "Acoustics Measurement of Environmental Sound;"~~

~~(b) Noise levels must be assessed in accordance with the requirements of NZS 6802:2008 "Acoustic Environmental Noise;"~~

~~RD1~~

~~(a) Sound that is outside the scope of NZS 6802:2008 or a permitted activity standard; and~~

~~(b) Sound noise that does not comply with Rule 21.2.3.2 P1, or P2, P3 and P4;~~

~~(c) Council's discretion...~~

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed noise limits are generally in accordance with guideline values and use current measurement and assessment standards, acoustical metrics, numerical values, assessment location and time-frames. However, the following issues have been identified:
 - Incorrect terminology has been used in conflict with the standards specified.
 - No provision has been made for sound sources outside the scope of NZS 6802.
 - The measurement and assessment standards are an integral part of the noise limits and cannot be a separate permitted activity standard.
 - There is an inconsistent approach for sound received in another zone.
 - A location has been specified "at" rather than "at any point within" a notional boundary.

Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy > 21.2 Land Use Effects > 21.2.3 Noise > 21.2.3.2 Noise – Huntly Power Station

Amend Rule 21.2.3.2 P2- Noise-Permitted Activities- Huntly Power Station as follows

~~(a) Noise measured at the notional boundary of any dwelling house existing as at 25 September 2004 within any site in the Rural Zone does not exceed:~~

~~(i) 55 dB (LAeq), 7am to 10pm~~

~~(ii) 45 dB (LAeq) and 75 dB (LAmax), 10pm to 7am the following day.~~

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter is supportive of including specific noise rules for Huntly Power Station.
- The wording of Permitted Activity Rule 2 and Rule 3 differs from the Operative District Plan in that it refers to noise measured within any site in the Residential Zone or at the notional boundary within any site in the Rural Zone. This means that if sites change within either zone, the noise standard that the Huntly Power Station is expected to meet will change, particularly within the Rural Zone.
- Development outside of the Huntly Power Station site could compromise operation of the Station as it is difficult to alter the current operating noise environment around the Station.
- The submitter therefore recommends that the present rule framework providing for the existing noise emissions remains in place and protects the significant infrastructure from potential noise and reverse sensitivity effects.
- The submitter does not consider the Section 32 Report provides adequate justification as to why these changes to the permitted activity rules have been made.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 21.2.5.1 P1 Earthworks General, as follows: (a) Earthworks (excluding the importation of fill material) within a site must meet all of the following conditions: (i) be located more than 1.5 m horizontally from any waterway, open drain or overland flow path; (ii) not exceed a volume of more than 250 500m³ and an area of more than 10 000m² over any single consecutive 12 month period; (iii) not exceed an area of more than 1000 m² over any single consecutive 12 month period; (iv) the total depth of any excavation or filling does not exceed 1.5m above or below ground level; (v) the slope of the resulting cut, filled areas or fill batter face in stable ground, does not exceed a maximum of 1:2 (1 vertical to 2 horizontal); (vi) earthworks are set back at least 1.5m from all boundaries; (vii) areas exposed by earthworks are revegetated to achieve 80% ground cover within 6 months of the commencement of the earthworks; (viii) sediment resulting from the earthworks is retained on the site through implementation and maintenance of erosion and sediment controls; and (ix) do not divert or change the nature of natural water flows, water bodies or established drainage paths.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The volume threshold in (ii) and area threshold in (iii) have been entered in error. They need to be corrected to enable significantly larger volumes of earthworks as permitted activities within the heavy Industrial Zone. The rule needs to apply over a single consecutive 12 month period for both volume and area thresholds. This is also consistent with other zone chapters. The words "at least" provide clarity to the rule.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy > 21.2 Land Use Effects > 21.2.5 Earthworks > 21.2.5.1 Earthworks – General

Summary of Decision Requested Retain Rule 21.2.5.1 P1 Earthworks - General, except for the amendments sought below;

AND

Amend Rule 21.2.5.1 P1 Earthworks – General as follows:

P1

(a) Earthworks (excluding the importation of fill material) within a site must meet all of the following conditions:

...

~~(vi) earthworks are set back 1.5m from all boundaries;~~

(vii) Areas exposed by earthworks are re-vegetated to achieve 80% ground cover within 6 months of the commencement, or stabilised as soon as practicable at the completion of the earthworks;

(viii) Sediment resulting from the earthworks is retained on the site through implementation and maintenance of erosion and sediment controls; and

(ix) Do not divert or change the nature of natural water flows, water bodies or established drainage paths.

AND

Any consequential amendments or additional relief to give effect to the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter seeks the retention of Rules 20.2.5.1.P1 and 21.2.5.1.P1 subject to the deletion of the setback from boundaries standard and to clarify that earthwork areas must be stabilized, which may or may not include re-vegetation.
- There is no justification for setting all earthworks back 1.5m from the boundary. This control is not within the Business Zone or Business Town Centre Zone.
- The definition of earthworks would render a post hole within 1.5m of a boundary as a restricted discretionary activity (i.e earthworks within 1.5m of a boundary).
- In the absence of a Section 32 Report justifying its inclusion, it is considered that this control is unnecessary and unjustified and should be deleted.
- The submitter supports the intent of the requirement to re-vegetate exposed areas within 6 months of the commencement of earthworks as per P1 (a)(iv) – ie: to achieve stabilization of the exposed surface.
- It is considered inappropriate to simply require areas exposed by earthworks to be re-vegetated. For example, earth-worked areas that are to be finished in hardstand will be stabilized, but will not be re-vegetated.
- Therefore, the submitter considers it appropriate to include additional wording to clause P1 (a) (vii) to ensure areas disturbed by earthworks are stabilized (which may or may not include re-vegetation) to avoid potential erosion and sediment issues effect.
- P1 (a) (iv) provides for the total depth of any excavation or filling at 1.5m above or below ground level. P2 (a) (ii) restricts imported fill material to 1m.
- This is contrary to the 1.5m maximum permitted depth provided through P1 (a) (iv).
- The submitter seeks the maximum permitted depth of imported fill material to 1.5m (from 1m). The intent of the difference in levels is not known in the absence of justification via a Section 32 Report.
- The control is unnecessary and unjustified and should be deleted.

Summary of Decision Requested Delete Rule 21.2.5.1 P2 – Earthworks – General.

AND

Any consequential amendments or additional relief to give effect to the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Rule 21.2.5.1.P2 permits earthworks for the purpose of creating a building platform for residential purposes within the Industrial Zone Heavy.
- Residential activities are non-complying activities in this zone (a status that the Oil Companies support) and therefore it is not considered appropriate to include a permitted activity rule for residential activities within the zone.

Summary of Decision Requested Retain Rule 21.2.5.1 P3 Earthworks - General, except for the amendments sought below;

AND

Amend Rule 21.2.5.1.P3 – Earthworks – General, as follows:

a. Earthworks for purposes other than creating a building platform for residential purposes within a site, using imported fill material (excluding cleanfill) must meet all of the following conditions:

i. not exceed a total volume of 500m³;

ii. not exceed a depth of 1.5m;

iii. the slope of the resulting filled area in stable ground must not exceed a maximum slope of 1:2 (1 vertical to 2 horizontal);

iv. fill material is setback 1.5m from all boundaries;

v. areas exposed by filling are re-vegetated to achieve 80% ground cover within 6 months of the commencement, or stabilised as soon as practicable at the completion of the earthworks;

vi. sediment resulting from the filling is retained on the site through implementation and maintenance of erosion and sediment controls; and do not divert or change the nature of natural water flows, water bodies or established drainage paths.

AND

Any consequential amendments or additional relief to give effect to the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter seeks the retention of Rule 21.2.5.1.P3 subject to clarification that earthwork areas must be stabilized, (which may or may not include re-vegetation) and an increase in depth of fill allowed from 1m to 1.5m.
- The submitter supports the intent of the requirement to re-vegetate groundcover within 6 months of the commencement of earthworks as per P3 (a) (v) – ie: to achieve stabilization of the exposed surface.
- However, it is considered inappropriate to simply require areas exposed by earthworks to be re-vegetated. For example, earth-worked areas that are to be finished in hardstand will be stabilized, but will not be re-vegetated.

- Therefore, the submitter considers it appropriate to include additional wording to clause P3 (a)(v) to ensure areas disturbed by earthworks are stabilized (which may include re-vegetation) to avoid potential erosion and sediment issues effects.
- P1 (a) (iv) provides for the total depth of any excavation or filling at 1.5m above or below ground level. P3 (a) (iii) restricts imported fill material to 1m. This is contrary to the 1.5m maximum permitted depth provided through P1 (a) (iv).
- Therefore the submitter seeks the maximum permitted depth of imported fill material to 1.5m (from 1m).
- The intent of the difference in levels is not known in the absence of justification via a Section 32 Report. The control is unnecessary and unjustified and should be deleted.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy > 21.2 Land Use Effects > 21.2.6 Hazardous substances
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 21.2.6 Hazardous Substances, as follows: (a) The use, storage or disposal of any hazardous substance where: (i) the aggregate quantity of hazardous substance of any hazard classification on a site is less than the quantity specified for the Heavy Industrial Zone in Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances). (ii) Rule 21.2.6 (a), (i) excludes fire stations and associated fire service operations. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make further or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 21.2.6 as while fire stations and associated firefighting activities involve the use and storage of hazardous substances at quantities that are considered minor, it is possible that the permitted provisions may not enable for this, and could affect Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to operate as easily and smoothly as needed. • Fire and Emergency New Zealand requests that fire stations and associated firefighting activities are excluded from the Rule 21.2.6 for the following reasons: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The 8.3 classification (Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances)) has a relatively low limit in the Business Town Centre Zone, and is quite low in other areas- lots of household products are eye corrosives from dishwashing to laundry powder. This would limit and potentially prevent Fire and Emergency New Zealand having a HAZMAT vehicle based in this zone because they carry neutralizing agents which are eye corrosives. A greater concern is that some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants and foams also have this classification and this limit could potentially require that Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a resource consent to hold a small amount or and other these chemicals on site, as a lower limit would be largely taken up by ordinary household chemicals used on site. 2. The 8.3A classification is for eye corrosion. A person is only affected by this hazard class if they come into direct contact with a product with this classification. This hazard is also managed under the health and safety at work and HSNO legislation usually via labeling and PPE requirements. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers that there is no logic in restricting the amount of these substances held as it relates to Fire and Emergency New Zealand operations, particularly if they are in enclosed containers for systems. 3. Some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants are solids rather than liquids and the reasons for the limits specified in the plan do not make sense for solids. Fire and Emergency New Zealand current main fire retardant is a powder but Fire and Emergency New Zealand are also looking at new foams which come in bricks. As such, higher restrictions for waterways do not make sense for these products as they do not leak or flow. 4. Fire and Emergency New Zealand often requires the temporary storage of chemicals necessary for providing an emergency response, during an emergency and within a short period after the emergency, i.e. there is a small grace period for example if Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a truck to remove a container which has firefighting chemicals in it, they may need to wait for a few working days after the emergency has finished for a contractor to do that work. Not providing for this could restrict Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to respond to bush or other major events, e.g. large acid spills and other HAZMAT events. This could also result in a breach of the RMA in order to bring in the necessary products to resolve the issue and prevent harm to people/the environment.

Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 21.2.6 – Hazardous Substances. AND Any consequential amendments or further relief to give effect to the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The proposed provisions are opposed and the submitter seeks the deletion of all proposed hazardous substances controls relating to storage, use, disposal or transportation of hazardous substances at service station sites (as broadly defined) or refuelling sites. • The submitter also supports the deletion of all rules pertaining to control hazardous substances where such controls are inappropriate, unnecessary, ineffective, inefficient and unable to be justified via a Section 32 analysis.

- These rules are all designed to address risk associated with hazardous substances. Risk is appropriately managed via other legislation and the Section 32 Report fails to identify why additional controls are required.
- The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 removed the explicit function of district and regional councils to control adverse effects of the storage, use, disposal, or transportation of hazardous substances under sections 30 and 31 of the Resource Management Act 1991 (RMA).
- The changes came into effect on 19 April 2017 and are intended to ensure councils only place controls on hazardous substances where necessary to control effects under the RMA that are not covered by Hazardous Substance New Organisms Act 1996 or Health and Safety At Work Act 2015.
- The purpose of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act is to protect the environment, and the health and safety of people and communities, by preventing or managing the adverse effects of hazardous substances and new organisms. The Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act covers a range of matters including:
 - a. site and building requirements for where a hazardous substance may be used, including requirements for storage and primarily requiring primary and secondary containment;
 - b. the safe transportation of hazardous substances;
 - c. emergency management requirements in relation to the substance in the event of a spill or other emergency; and
 - d. how the substance may be disposed of.
- The Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 provides a framework to secure the health and safety of works and workplaces and integrates the regulation of workplace use of hazardous substances.
- The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 followed the decision of the Independent Hearing Panel on the Christchurch Replacement District Plan. That decision was to reject Christchurch City Council's hazardous substance controls (which were based on an activity status table (AST) approach and to only retain controls relating to hazardous substances in close proximity to the National Grid.
- The Ministry for the Environment considers that in most cases the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act and the Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 controls will be adequate to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse environmental effects of hazardous substances and that RMA controls may be used if existing HSNO or Work safe controls are not adequate to address the environmental effects of hazardous substances in any particularly case. The submitter strongly supports the Ministry for the Environment's position in this regard.
- The submitter seeks that any proposed controls around hazardous substances do not duplicate those controls addressed under other legislation. Any duplication is considered unnecessary and inefficient.
- The section 32 report for Hazardous Substances acknowledges the removal of Council's functions in regards to hazardous substances and recognizes the "Resource Management Plans should not be in conflict with HSNO requirements and should not repeat them".
- The report further recognizes that "rationale for a higher level of protection through additional land use controls under the Act may be appropriate for substances both controlled by the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act or for issues which are not within the scope of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act, such as reverse sensitivity".
- However there is a significant disconnect between the overview and purpose sections of the Section 32 Report and the regulatory provisions in the Proposed District Plan.
- As an example, in regard to service stations the Section 32 Report concludes that, "the controlled activity status has been assigned to the storage and retail sale of fuel within service stations above a certain level in some zones to recognize that these substances are well managed through standards and industry practice. However, above these thresholds, the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered.
- No rational/analysis is provided within the section 32 report to justify why specific volume thresholds apply to service stations or why the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered reasonable if quantities are above those limits.
- The Section 32 Report does not provide analysis to justify why hazardous substances associated with service stations are only addressed in certain zones and in what way the Council considers the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act to not adequately control potential adverse effects associated with hazardous substances at service station - for example, why the Council considers site design, layout and monitoring and reporting of incidents are matters that the Council should reserve control over.
- In light of the Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 and controls under other legislation and the lack of rationale/analysis within the Section 32 Report for hazardous substances, it is considered the proposed hazardous substance controls are largely unnecessary and should therefore be deleted.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy > 21.2 Land Use Effects > 21.2.6 Hazardous substances
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 21.2.6- Hazardous Substances as follows: Hazardous substance use, storage or disposal at any site within a Heavy Industrial zone shall be managed in accordance with the Safety at Work (Hazardous Substances) Regulations, and that any activity that does not comply with the Safety at Work (Hazardous Substances) Regulation is a discretionary activity. OR Amend Rule 21.2.6 P1- Hazardous substances as follows: (a) The use, storage or disposal of any hazardous substance where: (i) The aggregate quantity of hazardous substance of any hazard classification on a site is less than the quantity specified for the Heavy Industrial Zone in Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances); or (ii) The activity is located in the Heavy Industrial Zone at Huntly Power Station and is located at least 20m distance from the zone boundary, except in relation to existing water intake and outfall structures (where no setback applies).
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A range of hazardous substances are stored and used at Huntly Power Station, in compliance with the relevant Health and Safety at Work (Hazardous Substances) Regulations and the Health and Safety at Work Act (HSAW Act). • The submitter notes that the proposed hazardous substance rules represent a duplication of the requirements under these regulations and HSAW Act and would prefer that all control of such substances at Huntly Power Station site is exercised under the Regulations and HSAW Act, designed specifically for and is fit for that purpose. • Alternatively, the submitter seeks site specific provisions relating to the Huntly Power Station site to provide for such matters as operation of the gas reception area and operation of the water intake structures on the banks of the Waikato River.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Signage relating to way-finding, health and safety and other regulatory requirements is typically internal to the operation of a site. • These types of signs are generally sized to provide messages to users within a site and therefore have no external impact on the amenity values of the Heavy Industrial Zones.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The submitter cannot support the P2 Signs General where the zone rules that relate to signage, including on heritage items or Maaori sites of significance are permitted activities with variations between the zones as to the permitted size and height of signage. • While signs generally are not permitted in heritage buildings or Maaori sites of significance, a sign of 3m2 on a heritage building could be permitted in some zones if the sign was for identification or interpretation purposes. • The generic, zoned based approach does not reflect the need to assess the suitability of a signage proposal against the specific heritage values of the individual building or site. • The generic approach has the potential to cause adverse effects of historic heritage and Maaori sites of significance. • To avoid adverse effects to heritage items and Maaori sites of significance it would be more appropriate for any signage on heritage items and Maaori sites of Significance to be elevated to a restricted discretionary activity level of assessment and subject to the matters of discretion already included (i.e. (vi) and (vii)).

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The notified rules for real estate signs are too restrictive. • Corner sites should be able to have additional sign opportunities without adversely affecting residential character and amenity. • Allowance should be made for feature signs which are commonly used for properties going to auction or tender. • Header signs should be able to be established on another sign (often on a high volume road) to direct purchasers to the site which is for sale (often on a low volume road).

- There is no section 32 report which specifically addresses signage. The section 32 reports addressing the various zones do not include a specific section for signage.
- Signage that does not comply with the permitted activity criteria is considered Restricted Discretionary Activities. The submitter supports this activity status.
- The matters of discretion for signage which does not comply with the permitted activity criteria are inconsistent across the various zone chapters.

It is important to appropriately manage indigenous vegetation clearance to prevent further fragmentation and loss in the Waikato District. A volume of timber is dependent on the size of trees and their density where 5m3 may be clearance of an area of a few 5m2, where a few large trees have been harvested. Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy > 21.3 Land Use - Building > 21.3.1 Height - General
Summary of Decision Requested	Retain Rule 21.3.1 Height - General.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Fire and Emergency New Zealand supports height requirements of Rule 21.3.1 in that it provides for the operational requirements of Fire and Emergency New Zealand in relation to the height of buildings and structures associated with emergency service facilities. Fire stations are single storied buildings of approximately 8-9m in height and are typically able to achieve the height standards in a District Plan. Some fire stations also include a hose drying tower of between 12-15m in height. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers that the inclusion of an exemption for associated structures better provides for the health and safety of the community by enabling the efficient functioning of Fire and Emergency New Zealand and is consistent with the typical height of similar network utility structures.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Heavy Industrial Zones are where activities with the potential to create more adverse environmental effects are located within a district. The land values, activities and large buildings require a high degree of land use efficiency. Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy > 21.3 Land Use - Building > 21.3.4 Building setbacks

Add a new rule to Rule 21.3.4 Building setbacks as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief):

Building setback - railway corridor

(g) any new buildings or alterations to an existing building must be setback 5 metres from any designated railway corridor boundary

AND

Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.

Decision Reasons:

- KiwiRail seeks that a 5 metre setback apply to all new building development adjacent to operational railway corridor boundaries (i.e. not just sensitive land uses).
- Ensuring all new structures in all zones are set back from the rail corridor allows access and maintenance to occur without the landowner or occupier needing to gain access to the rail corridor- potentially compromising their own safety. For these safety reasons setting back buildings from the rail corridor boundary is a means of ensuring people's health and wellbeing through good design.
- Construction of buildings in close proximity to the rail corridor has significant safety risk if it is not managed appropriately in accordance with relevant standards.
- A 5m setback allows for vehicular access to the backs of buildings (e.g. a cherry picker) and would also allow scaffolding to be erected safely. This in turn fosters visual amenity as lineside properties can then be regularly maintained. A setback is the most efficient method of ensuring intensification does not result in additional safety issues for activities adjacent to the rail corridor, whilst not restricting the ongoing operation and growth of activity within the rail corridor.
- The proposed provisions would require any development within the setback to obtain consent with matters of discretion relating to:
 - (i) location, design and use of the proposed building or structure as it relates to the rail network
 - (ii) impacts on the safe operation, maintenance and development of the rail network
 - (iii) construction and maintenance management.

Having a nominal setback applied to such a wide variation of water features is inappropriate and introduces significant inefficiencies which is contrary to Part 2 of the RMA and the sustainable management of natural and physical resources. Decision Reasons:

- To address reverse sensitivity effects, the submitter seeks the inclusion of a new rule under the Subdivision rules within the Industrial zone.
- The addition of a new rule would make subdivision of a site containing a gas transmission pipeline a restricted discretionary activity.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 21: Industrial Zone Heavy > 21.4 Subdivision > 21.4.1 Subdivision - General

Summary of Decision Requested Add a new matter of discretion to Rule 21.4.1 Subdivision – general as follows (or similar amendments to achieve the requested relief):

Reverse sensitivity effects, including on land transport networks

AND

Any consequential amendments to link and/or accommodate the requested changes.

Decision Reasons:

- The design, location and service arrangements for new development carried out in the subdivision process cannot be separated from the future use of the subdivided sites. New buildings, including those containing sensitive or noise sensitive activities, their location and the design and location of access ways may all have an influence on the ultimate impact development has on existing and planned infrastructure. The potential for reverse sensitivity effects is therefore a relevant consideration at this point in the development process.
- KiwiRail seeks the addition of matters of discretion relating to reverse sensitivity effects on land transport networks to the subdivision consent criteria in the listed zones.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend the zoning for the property at 2324 River Road, Horsham Downs (Lot 3 DP 507442) from Rural Zone to Country Living Zone.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Refer the MGSL Plan Change Submission Report as attached for the reasons requested. By rezoning as Country Living Zone, the area will then be capable of contributing to the Waikato District's Future Proof Strategy Planning for Growth 2017 for additional 13,300-17,500 dwellings between 2018 and 2045. It is more important to use the land efficiently for future low density housing sites for accommodating future growth rather than to hold the area as a vacant rural small block of unproductive 'farm'. The site is surrounded by existing roads so therefore cannot be utilised as a rural run-off block by any adjacent farmers. Aligns with the purpose of the Country Living Zone aims to "provide for low density living in specific locations in rural areas." The size of the site will aid in preserving low density dwellings in accordance with the Country Living Zone rather than the purpose of the Rural Zone. This will accommodate low-density residential housing and a differing range of housing typologies between the country living areas located on the northern side of the Waikato River and newer residential areas on the Southern Side of the Waikato River. In addition, where there are new future employment focus areas (located south-west of the proposed site area), there is potential to provide additional housing on the proposed site area to be connected within close walking/cycling proximity of the future focused employment area to the south-west. Due to sand from the Waikato Expressway excavations, the ground conditions make it more appropriate that the subject Lot be rezoned as Country Living Zone without the Hamilton Urban Expansion Area Policy rather than a zone for intensified residential development (i.e. A Residential Living Zone or a Country Living Zone with the overlay). The adverse effects of rezoning the subject Lot is anticipated to be less than minor. Within An 800m pedestrian-shed analysis shows that there is one primary school (Horotui Primary School), suburban neighborhood node of Horotiu, new residential areas (located south-west of the identified area), Industrial Park and Heavy Industrial areas (employment opportunities), business areas (employment opportunities and daily commercial/retail activities), country living areas, reserve areas along the fringes of the Waikato River and rural areas (located around and north of the site area). During the construction of the Waikato Expressway, any "high class soils" were removed or distributed. The area is not entirely rural due to its locality in relation to the surrounding land use activities located to the south and south east in which includes new residential areas, other countryside living areas, new residential areas, small portion of business areas, local primary school, industrial park and heavy industrial areas. Water infrastructure is readily available and new stormwater and wastewater infrastructure would be established upon resource consent. - Views are an inherent part of retaining Raglan's seaside character.
- Raglan's community plan, 'Raglan Naturally,' contains 6 references to views.
- RMA s5 states purpose of RMA which includes reference to social, economic and cultural wellbeings, of which Raglan Naturally sets out that the Raglan community clearly expressed such wellbeings include protection of views.
- At the last plan revision, Council accepted views were important but change needed to occur via a variation which has not happened and thus needs to be a part of the plan.
- Excluding an important part of Raglan Naturally is to deny the value of public participation.
- Plan protects views of navigation beacons.
- Other authorities' district plans show protection of other views is possible, e.g. Auckland and Hastings.

Summary of Decision Requested

Retain Chapter 22: Rural Zone subject to ensuring alignment and giving effect to the submitter's 'Area of Interest' (shown in map attached to submission) and supporting objectives, policies, rules and methods. Objectives and policies are sought which ensure that land use within the 'Area of Interest' (shown in map attached to submission) is controlled and enabled at a rate which is consistent with and prioritises Hamilton City Council's strategic land use plans and urban growth strategies including avoidance of urban sprawl, inefficient use of land and infrastructure and non-rural land uses.

Decision Reasons:

- Sustainable management requires a cross boundary and integrated approach to these strategic land use issues.
- Objectives and policies are therefore required to ensure that land use within Hamilton's 'Area of Interest' is controlled and enabled at a rate which is consistent with Hamilton City Council's strategic land use plans and urban growth strategies that address the avoidance of urban sprawl, inefficient land use and infrastructure and non-rural land uses.

Summary of Decision Requested

Amend the zoning of the property at 62 Bluff Road, Pokeno, from Rural Zone to Heavy Industrial Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- Site purchased because of the Aggregate Extraction and Processing zoning in the Operative District Plan.
- Resource consent application for clean filling and topsoil/concrete recycling has been lodged in accordance with the level of effects and land modification anticipated in that zone.
- Given the pressure for growth and expansion in the northern part of the District, identifying suitable sites for the disposal of surplus material is a necessary part of enabling that growth.
- Clean filling and recycling activities can generate noise and dust effects and heavy truck movements.
- These activities are better placed in industrial areas where such effects are tolerated due to the lower expected levels of amenity and the absence of sensitive receivers (dwellings, accommodation, and educational facilities etc.).
- The subject site adjoins industrial activities to the north (proposed Heavy Industrial Zone) that contribute to the Pokeno economy and that of the wider region.
- Zoning of the site to Heavy Industrial would potentially allow for some expansion of industrial activities that border site to the north (Hynds, Synlait), and would enhance Pokeno as an 'Industrial Node'.
- Negotiations are currently being undertaken to obtain access to the site through to McDonald Road which is located within the proposed Heavy Industrial Zone and to also exchange land with another land owner in the proposed Heavy Industrial Zone to accommodate future industrial uses in this location.

Summary of Decision Requested

Add a new 'Specific Area' in Chapter 22 - Rural Zone, to provide for the Dilworth School - Rural Campus facility. See Appendix 2 of the submission for full details of provisions sought for the 'Specific Area'.

AND

Amend the Proposed District Plan for any further or other consequential relief required to give effect to the relief sought in this submission

Decision Reasons:

- Rural Zone provisions do not appropriately provide for the nature of activities that occur at the Rural Campus (including any intensification of those activities).
- While education facilities are a discretionary activity, the Proposed Rural Zone does not cater for any ancillary boarding or staff accommodation for a Rural Campus. Any development would be subject to an onerous resource consent process.

- Requests 'Specific Area' provided for to provide for education facilities, boarding and staff accommodation, and associated activities as Permitted activities within the site.
- Submission notes particular issues with proposed rules of the Rural Zone, namely:
 - Rule 22.3.1 Number of dwellings within a lot / Rule 22.3.2 Minor dwelling - Extent of accommodation in related to staff requirements and school roll and as such, one dwelling/minor dwelling will be inefficient.
 - Rule 22.3.6 Building coverage - Dilworth currently has building coverage of 8,500m² and only 3,050m² would be permitted under the proposed rules.
 - Rule 22.3.7 Building setbacks - building setback rules do not appropriately reflect the existing (and optimal future) layout of development within the Rural Campus site, which comprises multiple buildings within 25m of side boundaries and as such, site-specific setbacks have been requested (refer to Appendix 2 of the original submission).
 - Rule 22.3.7.2 P1(a)(vii) of the Proposed Plan, Dilworth site has a maximum width of 320m. concerned with the 'double-handling' effect of this rule, and with the significant constraints that this rule imposes on the development of the Rural Campus site should any neighbouring property be developed for intensive farming activities in the future, an intensive farming activity could be readily located more than 1km from the Rural Campus on a neighbouring site, yet Rule 22.3.7.2 P1(a)(vii) would still require a 300m setback for any new school building from the common boundary, or for an onerous and costly resource consent process.
 - It is not appropriate to impose a subsequent resource consent process on Dilworth to justify the appropriateness of any further development within the Rural Campus, particularly given the constraints to the size and shape of the site, and the large available land area within the neighbouring properties which enable adverse effects to be internalised to those sites.
- Submission also seeks rule exceptions. These are specified in Appendix 2 of the original submission (for example Rule 22.2.3.1). With respect to Rule 22.2.3.1
 - Earthworks, submission states:
 - There is no difference in terms of effects on the environment between earthworks for a rural or residential activity, and earthworks for the development of an established education facility in the rural environment and as such, most appropriately managed by specific earthworks rules in the Specific Area provisions that are sought.
- With respect to rule 14.12.1 P2 - On-site parking and loading, exception, the submission notes that the on-site parking requirements for the facility are atypical of an educational facility, such that the minimum parking and loading requirements for school activities, set out in Rule 14.12.1 P2, do not reflect the requirements of the facility and that it is appropriate that the parking requirements of the Rural Campus are left to Dilworth to determine and provide for, and therefore no minimum or maximum parking requirements should be imposed on the Rural Campus.
- With respect to rule 14.12.1 - P4, Traffic Generation, exception, the submission notes that a higher number of vehicle trips may be necessary and that the trip generation threshold, as it relates to the Rural Campus, does not effectively address an adverse effect on the environment. Traffic movement requirements of the Rural Campus are left to Dilworth to determine and provide for, and therefore no maximum traffic movement requirements should be imposed on the Rural Campus.

(i) effects on amenity values;

(ii) hours and days of operation;

(iii) noise levels, location of noise source, frequency, duration or other special characteristics of noise;

(iv) benefits derived from extracting the resource; and

(v) mitigation measures.

Decision Reasons:

- Agree that extractive industry should be a discretionary activity where it is not identified within the Aggregate Extraction Areas and Aggregate Resource Areas shown on planning maps.
- Where an Aggregate Extraction Area and Aggregate Resource Area is identified then extractive industry should be enabled subject to appropriate standards.
- This approach is adopted by the Franklin section of the Operative District Plan, Waipa District Plan and the Auckland Unitary Plan.
- There is no basis for adopting a more restrictive approach in the Proposed Waikato District Plan.
- The proposed amendment can be accommodated within the existing Rural Zone and there is no need to adopt a special purpose zone as asserted in the section 32 analysis.
- The duplication and inefficiencies from administering multiple zones as noted in the section 32 report as the only reason for rejecting this option does not exist.

Summary of Decision Requested

Add to Chapter 22 Rural Zone a new advisory note at the beginning of the Chapter, as follows:

(6) Any activity which is subject to National Environmental Standards are required to comply with the gazetted regulations. Where compliance with permitted activity provisions of those regulations cannot be achieved, resource consent is required to be obtained.

Council is responsible for observing and enforcing the provisions of any gazetted national environmental standard.

Where any activity is not provided for in the following section, the relevant National Environmental Standard needs to be referred to in order to determine whether resource consent is required.

In carrying out its responsibilities under the Act the Council does not wish to impose any control which would duplicate the controls imposed by the Ministry of Forestry or the Regional Council. The Council will therefore approve a resource consent application for any sustainable harvesting of indigenous vegetation which complies with the provisions of the Forests Act 1949 where any;

(a) habitats of threatened or at risk species are protected; and/or

(b) cultural sites, or areas with cultural values are protected; and/or

(c) significant indigenous vegetation is identified and protected.

(b) Be undertaken in accordance with Environmental Protection Authority approval conditions for the activity; and

(c) Provide evidence of the Environmental Protection Authority approval to Council.

(2) The consent holder must provide a bond to guarantee the performance of one or more consent conditions if required by the Council. This bond will be available to pay or reimburse any costs incurred by, or on behalf of, the Council to avoid, remedy or mitigate any adverse environmental effects and any other adverse effects to, or on, third parties (including economic effects), that become apparent during the exercise or after the expiry of consent.

(3) The consent holder must provide all of the following information when submitting a consent application:

(a) Details of the proposed containment measures for the commencement, duration and completion of the proposed activity;

(b) Details of the species, its characteristics, and lifecycle, to which the Genetically Modified Organism activities will relate;

(c) Research on adverse effects to the environment and economy associated with the activity should, genetically modified organisms escape from the activity area, and measures that will be taken to avoid, remedy or mitigate such effects;

(d) Evidence of research undertaken that characterises and tests the Genetically Modified Organisms, and the certainty associated with the accuracy of that information;

(e) A management plan outlining on-going research and how monitoring will be undertaken during, and potentially beyond, the duration of consent;

(f) Details of areas in which the activity is to be confined; and

(g) A description of contingency and risk management plans and measures.

AND

Add similar provisions to every zone chapter.

OR

Add a new district wide chapter addressing Genetically Modified Organisms.

AND

Any consequential amendments or additional relief as necessary to address the concerns raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Chapter 22 Rural Zone is shown as an example of the framework for application of GMO provisions.
- Prohibition of release of GMO is the cornerstone of the precautionary approach rule regime.
- The approach is justified until such time as GMOs can be proven to be used safely and contained in an outdoor context.
- Chapter 22 Rural Zone chosen as an example framework for application of GMO provisions.
- Uses of viable veterinary vaccines are provided for as a permitted activity so long they are administered under the supervision of a veterinarian at a specific dosage.
- Established through drafting of Auckland Unitary Plan provisions-conditions not complied with then such use if discretionary.
- Chapter 22 Rural Zone chosen as an example framework for application of GMO provisions.
- Field Trials meeting discretionary activity standards, with relevant EPA approvals allows full scope of effects to be understood and an opportunity to include appropriate conditions.
- Requirement for management plans and clear containment and risk management protocols.
- If viable veterinary vaccines are not applied according the appropriate conditions then such use goes from permitted (under Rule 22.1.2 Permitted Activities P13) to discretionary.
- Viable genetically modified veterinary vaccines can have higher risks if not administered correctly. An example of such risk is a GM veterinary vaccine distributed by way of edible food/plants, which cannot be supervised by a veterinarian, and may present high risks to the environment and health and safety of people. In this circumstance, council holds discretion by requiring controls or declining an application.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Chapter 22: Rural Zone for the Extractive Industry by adopting the Operative Waikato District Plan: Franklin Section rules for Aggregate Extraction.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • There are no rules in the Rural Zone that enable extractive industries. • This approach is contrary to Objective 5.4.1 and Policy 5.4.2 and does not give effect to Waikato Regional Policy Statement Policy 6.8- Access to Minerals.

- The Section 32 report (Rural) stated adopting the Franklin section rules is not appropriate because it results in duplication and inefficiencies from administering multiple zones. This is not an acceptable explanation.
- No reason to contravene the above objective, policy and intention of the Waikato Regional Policy Statement.
- Having all extractive industry activities as discretionary or non-complying activities, even within identified Aggregate Extraction Areas, is not acceptable.
- Franklin Section rules have been widely accepted by the industry.
- Council should rethink its stance on the proposed Rural Zone provisions and look to neighbouring councils, such as the Auckland Unitary Plan or Waipa District Plan.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Views are an inherent part of retention of Raglan's seaside Character. • The Raglan Naturally community plan contains six references to views as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ◦ "Relaxed lifestyles, a tranquil harbour, safe swimming beaches, black sand, internationally renowned surf and spectacular coastal views are characteristic – the Waikato District's only seaside resort." ◦ "What We Don't Want – Buildings blocking views of harbour, coast and mountain." ◦ "Priorities for Action – The retention of access to, and views of the harbour, coast, and mountain from within Raglan." ◦ "What We Don't Want – Loss of access to or views of the harbour from parked cars, large trees or buildings." ◦ "Safeguard coastal views from Wainui Reserve." ◦ "Safeguarding the Environment – Maintain the coastal and harbour views, e.g. do not allow the planting of big trees, or the building of high fences or large buildings that destroy existing views." • Section 5 of the RMA sets out the purpose (including District Plans) "protection of natural and physical resources in a way, or at a rate, which enables people and communities to provide for their social, economic, and cultural wellbeing." • Raglan Naturally sets out how the Raglan community has expressed its views on their well-beings. These very clearly include protection of views. • At the last Plan revision, the Council accepted views as important, but said any change would need to occur through a variation to the District Plan. That has not happened, so it should be a part of this plan. To exclude such an important part of Raglan Naturally in the district plan review is to deny the value of public participation in which over 10% of Raglan's population took part. • The plan protects views of the navigation beacons and district plans of other authorities, such as Auckland and Hastings show that protection of other views is possible. • A policy should protect views, e.g. Auckland's protection of volcanic view shafts. • Each chapter needs to apply Policy 3.3.3.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Proposed District Plan proposes that the Meremere Dragway remains zoned Rural. However, the Rural Zone fails to recognise nearly 50 years of use of the site for motorised activities, and does not identify all activities that may take place within a rural setting, subject to meeting appropriate performance standards, including recognising Meremere Dragway as a resource for non-motorised activities. • The proposed Rural Zone provisions do not adequately provide for the Meremere Dragway's social and economic contributions to the district, the region and the nation. • Appropriate provision should be made for the activities that are currently being undertaken on the site and future activities, which are not incompatible with the existing environment that includes Hampton Downs Motorsport Park, landfill and prison. • The Proposed District Plan does not take into account the industrial nature of the nearby landfill or the commercial nature of the prison complex and the Hampton Downs Motorsport Park. • The Proposed District Plan does not realise the potential of the Meremere Dragway as a multipurpose site, including for the provision of non-motorised activities. A number of organisations have approached the Meremere Dragway seeking to use the facility. • The Meremere Dragway is a specialist facility needed for the safe conduct of potentially harmful activities that may be inappropriate elsewhere. • The Meremere Dragway is an ideal location for motorsport activity that is not acceptable in an urban area. • The proposed approach of including the dragway in the rural Zone is contrary to Part 2 of the Resource Management Act, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ◦ It is contrary to Part 2 of the Resource Management Act. ◦ It does not promote sustainable or integrated management. ◦ It does not manage the use, development and protection of natural and physical resources. ◦ It does not avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse effects. ◦ It is not the most appropriate way to achieve the purpose of the Act. ◦ It does not meet section 32 of the Act. ◦ It does not represent sound resource management practice.

(a) Green or black cloth shall be used on vertical faces within 30m of the site boundary.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Tamahere Hospital and Healing Centre (Tamahere Hospital) is sited on approximately 3.8 ha of culturally historic whenua in the heart of Ngaati Hau, between Cambridge and Hamilton. Hospital delivers services from a kaupapa Maori perspective but also provide services to accommodate individuals seeking an alternative health approach. Subsequent to its initial construction, Ngaakau Tapatahi Trust, applied for, and obtained, multiple resource consents to accommodate the hospital's expansion. Consents were triggered because the hospital exceeded the maximum site coverage permitted in the Rural Zone (2% of the site area, or 500m², whichever is the larger, and/or because non-residential buildings are limited to a maximum of 400m² (hospital is already around 1400m²). Thus any form of physical development will trigger a resource consent requirement, irrespective of whether the hospital operates in accordance with original consent conditions. Recurring need for consents indicates Rural Zone provisions are not conducive to sustainable management of the facility. Inability to avoid RMA consent triggers is time-consuming and costly. The nature of the hospital's treatment philosophy means overdevelopment is not supported by the Trust excessive development would not eventuate. Requested change is consistent with purpose of RMA and ensures a physical resource, set aside for health care purposes, can meet the reasonably foreseeable needs of future patients.

PXX Rural contractors' depot

Activity specific conditions: Nil

AND

Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.

AND

Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- Rural contractors' depots present a low risk to the management of rural environments and these should be enabled as a permitted activity in the Rural Zone. Rural contractors' depots are relatively benign, from the perspective of effects on amenity values and quality of the rural environment. They generally present little environmental risk that cannot be managed within an appropriate permitted activity framework.
- Rural contractors need to co-locate in rural areas where their services are in demand by rural communities. Such facilities augment the social, cultural and economic wellbeing of rural communities. Rural communities tend to be more isolated from access to services than urban communities, and as such should not be subject to additional hardships otherwise caused by intensified isolation if rural contractors depots are discouraged from being able to co-locate in rural areas where their services are in demand.

AND

Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.

AND

Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed setback distances from site boundaries for buildings, pens or areas used for intensive farming are excessive, and will create unnecessary restrictions for land use. The proposed rule is overly complicated and requires a restricted discretionary resource consent as a minimum requirement in every instance. Intensive farming activities are an expected and anticipated activity in the rural zone.
- Setback distances are a blunt planning tool, an enabling approach which is effects based can better meet the dynamic and evolving needs of resource users and planners in the long term.
- The opportunity to avoid, remedy or mitigate potential adverse effects should be afforded to new intensive farming operations who could utilise any number of ways to internalise effects. A restricted discretionary activity status is appropriate if permitted activity conditions are unable to be met in the first instance. This is a consistent and widely accepted approach which provides some certainty for plan users whilst retaining control when necessary to assess the potential off site effects of an intensive farming operation.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The submitters had spoken with Waikato District Council regarding at least two residentially zoned properties having 15 or more short-term guests per night. However, the submitters were told that Council could investigate the complaints but not enter a property, nor had they any means to enforce the more than four persons per night rule. The submitters were told to bring this up at the next District Plan Review, hence this submission. • Most 'Airbnb' and 'bookabach' listings in Raglan allow over five people to stay per night. It should be simple to regulate this as all of these are non-complying activities are listed online. • This would allow the rules to be explained and therefore allow the Council to enforce these rules. • As it is important for commercial businesses to have fire service and building warrants checked every year, it should be important for property owners running similar businesses out of residentially zoned properties. • Raglan has a severe housing shortage for long-term tenants, but this can be helped by regulating the use of holiday houses, similar to what is done in Canada, European cities like Berlin, and other holiday towns in New Zealand like Queenstown. • It would be easier to ban the use of new houses or new ownership from short-term rental use than retrospectively introducing this to those already relying on the income (as long as these existing house stick to the under five-person rule.) • It should be possible for neighbours to complain if guest numbers and/or noise gets out of hand in a country living property as well.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Both 'Afforestation not in an Outstanding Landscape Area' and 'Forestry' are defined in the Plan and permitted activities in the Rural Zone. The National Environmental Standard for Plantation Forestry controls the planting and location of plantation forestry. Under regulation 14 of the Resource Management (National Environmental Standards for Plantation Forestry) (NES) Regulations 2017 an afforestation setback of at least 10m is required from an adjoining property (which includes the railway corridor). Afforestation means planting and growing plantation forestry trees on land where there is no plantation forestry, and where plantation forestry harvesting has not occurred within the last 5 years. This leaves a temporal gap under the NES where the replanting of trees within 5 years of harvest, closer than 10m to the adjoining property (e.g. railway corridor) appears to be permitted. This means that if replanting of a harvested forest occurs within 5 years, trees may be located closer than 10m to a property boundary. There is currently no rule in the Plan controlling this time period. There are also other forms of forestry which are not covered by the NES – such as woodlots and shelter belts less than 30m wide – which may have a safety impact on transport networks and sightlines. KiwiRail seeks a change to the forestry definition to cover these. KiwiRail has experienced safety issues with forestry and forest lots being too close to the rail corridor and therefore wish to ensure that a standard setback (consistent with the distance provided the NES) is imposed to reduce potential safety risks.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • NZPork opposes the 3% building coverage limitation. • There is a number of indoor piggeries (Intensive Pig Farming) that do not need the expansive farm land unrelated to the activity that this condition requires. • Producers must meet the requirements of both the Animal Welfare (Pigs) Code of Welfare 2010 and the PigCare™ program. This includes a minimum lying space allowance for growing pigs. • Pork production requires additional building areas for: grain milling, feed storage, plant and equipment rooms, and staff housing. • NZPork supports a setback regime for pigs in both intensive and extensive situations. • NZPork opposes the threshold numbers, which are arbitrary relative to effects. It is assumed this is 500 pigs at one time, which might mean 50 sows plus progeny. A medium sized farm with 400 sows would have 4800 pigs. • A more effective and efficient method would be to separately define Intensive and Extensive farming and to provide performance standards around each given the different effects. • NZPork supports reducing the overlap between the regional and local authority, and thereby reducing planning costs and timeframes. • Air quality is an important resource management issue and one that requires an integrated approach between regional and local authorities. Issues relating specifically to air quality (dust and odor), rather than general amenity or reverse sensitivity effects, are more appropriately addressed through the regional plan by the Waikato Regional Council as is currently the case. • The regional Council controls stock numbers for Extensive Farming through Plan Change 1. The justification for Waikato District Council to set a 500 pig per site threshold is not clear. • Within the Rural Zone, farming activities and their associated effects should generally be expected to occur and therefore there should be an element of tolerance for this activity type. This sentiment is expressed through the creation of an extensive farming definition and rendering this activity type as permitted. This allows those activities that cause little or no effect to occur without needing resource consent. • By having a definition for extensive and intensive farming, it provides clarity as to where a particular activity sits on the spectrum and if resource consent requirements have been triggered. There is a clear delineation between what could be considered an 'extensive' farm and an 'intensive' farm. An extensive farm would be considered to involve outdoor operations, with low stocking densities, grass cover being maintained, with low amounts of dust and odor being discharged from the activity. An intensive farm would primarily consist of an indoor high stock density operation.

Further failure of the 'development standards' (land use effects and building effects rules) mean automatic default to Non Complying. The proposed rules creates unnecessary restrictions on the ability to establish Intensive Farming operations on smaller land holdings. Standards that need to be met to achieve the Restricted Discretionary Activity include a setback of 300 meters for any building or yard from any site boundary (where the activity is deemed to be Intensive Farming). The impact of such restrictions would be that a small intensive farming operation would need to be located on approximately 40 hectares of land to avoid NON-COMPLYING status - this is not consistent with the Objectives and Policies for Intensive Farming. The proposed Rule creates unnecessary restrictions on the ability to establish Intensive Farming Operations on smaller land holdings and is counter intuitive to the nature of Intensive Farming Operations which normally take place on such smaller holdings and are non-reliant on the productive capacity of the land. There is no justification for the 300 meter yard separation in dealing with the effects of buildings or yards associated with Intensive Farming, where the policy acknowledges potential effects are odour, noise, and visual amenity, and where such effects are 'permitted' for other rural activities. (green houses, silage bins, normal farming practices). The proposed rule does not recognize the potential positive environmental effect of buildings housing animals (either temporarily or permanently) in effectively separating stormwater from animal effluent, increased productivity through reduced farm pugging.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 22.1.3 as no provision is made for emergency service facilities. As no provision is made under this rule, emergency service facilities would default to non-complying activities under Rule 22.1.5. • The default non-complying activity status is overly restrictive and inappropriate. • Fire and Emergency New Zealand seeks the inclusion of emergency service facilities as a restricted discretionary activity to provide for emergency services in the Rural Zone for the following reasons: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Fire stations must be strategically located within and throughout communities to maximise their coverage and response times so that they can efficiently and effectively provide for the health and safety of people and communities by being able respond to emergency call outs in a timely way, thus avoiding or mitigating the potential for adverse effects associated with fire hazard and other emergencies; 2. The actual or potential effects of fire stations are minor and can be adequately predicted and subsequently 3. managed by conditions of consent and subsequent matters for control; 4. Restricted Discretionary activity status better implement the Objectives and Policies of the Proposed District Plan. 5. Restricted Discretionary activity status better achieves the purpose of the RMA and better enables Fire and Emergency New Zealand to meet its statutory obligations.

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 22.1.3 RD1 (a) Restricted Discretionary Activities, as follows (or words to similar effect):

(a) Intensive farming and mineral or aggregate extractive industries that meet all of the following conditions:

(i) Land Use - Effects in Rule 22.2; [subject to proposed amendments]

(ii) Land Use - Building ion Rule 22.3; [subject to proposed amendments]

(iii) ...

AND

Delete Rule 22.1.5 D8 Discretionary Activities.

This relief is sought in the event that any part of the submission from point 691.1 to 691.15 is not accepted by WDC.

AND

Any consequential amendments or additional relief to address the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The Operative District Plan (Franklin Section) includes a chapter for aggregate extraction, which classifies aggregate extraction as either of Permitted, Controlled, Restricted Discretionary, and Discretionary, depending on the location of the activity (and the surrounding environment).
- The Proposed District Plan has dealt with this matter by applying overlays, one for 'Aggregate Extraction Areas' and one for 'Aggregate Resource Areas'. The application of these overlays will provide a certain level of protection for these types of activities (particularly if the changes proposed in these submissions regarding specific regulations for these areas are applied) however, the PDP has excluded the McPherson Quarry from both of these overlays. As a result, the Rural zoning of the McPherson Quarry leaves it without specific protection of its existing (or future) aggregate extraction activities.
- Rule 22.1.5 would unreasonably limit the ability of the McPhersons to expand their quarry footprint (which is a necessity when the available mineral/aggregate in a certain area has been exhausted) in that any expansion would require a resource consent as a Discretionary Activity. This means that Council has the ability to decline the application. This is unreasonable.
- The McPherson Quarry has operated from this site for over 60 years and the quarry is very much part of the existing environment.
- It is inherent in any quarry activity that in order to continue extracting the particular resource/mineral available (in this case aggregate), the footprint needs to expand over time.
- The extraction of minerals is a regionally significant activity that is protected by the RPS. In that sense, it is imperative that existing operations such as the McPherson Quarry are able to continue operating (and therefore, expand their footprint) as a quarry and that this ability is sufficiently protected by appropriate planning provisions in the Proposed District Plan.
- Based on the above, the McPhersons submit the proposed changes made to Rules 22.1.3 and 22.1.5 to ensure that extractive industries are identified as a Restricted Discretionary Activity in the Rural Zone.

AND

Amend Rule 22.1.3 RD1 (c)(ii) B Restricted Discretionary Activities to require any development occurring within that setback to have an enforced Council no complaints covenant applied.

Decision Reasons:

- The concern with inequitable distribution rules such as this is that they do not relate to real world operations and realistic assessment of effects.
- What happens if a consented activity with 500 pigs approved later wishes to expand to 550 pigs in the same location and is 1,320m setback, the setback per pig is just the same as 500 pigs at 1,200m.
- If the same operator starts a second pig farm at 1,200m setback it would have the same effect as a 1,000 pig operation at 1,200m setback.

 - (i) 300 metres from any site boundary;
 - (ii) From any boundary of a Residential, Village or Country Living Zone:
 - A. 1200 metres (500 or ~~less~~ fewer pigs); or
 - B. 2000 metres (more than 500 pigs);
 - (d) For freerange poultry farming, buildings and outdoor enclosures are set back at least:
 - (i) 100 metres from any site boundary; and
 - (ii) 500 metres from any boundary of a Residential, Village and Country Living Zone;
 - (e) For housed poultry and all other intensive farming, buildings and ~~adjacent yard areas~~ outdoor enclosures, are set back at least:
 - (i) 300 metres from any site boundary; and
 - (ii) 500 metres from any boundary of a Residential, Village and Country Living Zone.

A new retirement village or alterations to an existing retirement village that meets all of the following conditions:

- (b) The site is either serviced by or within 400m walking distance of public transport.
- (c) The site is either:

 - (ii) All other units – 10m² with a minimum dimension of 1.5 metres for each unit.
- (f) Building height does not exceed 8m, except for 15% of the total building coverage, where buildings may be up to 10m high.
- (g) The following Land Use – Effects rule in Rule 22.2 does not apply:
 - (i) Rule 22.2.7 (Signs).
 - (ii) The following Land Use – Building rules in Rule 22.3 do not apply:
 - (i) Rule 22.3.1 (Dwelling);
 - (ii) Rule 22.3.3 (Building Height);
 - (j) The following Infrastructure and Energy rule in Chapter 14 does not apply:
 - (i) Rule 14.12.1 P4(1)(a) (Traffic generation).

(a) Council's discretion is restricted to:

- (i) Integration of the retirement village into the rural landscape;
- (ii) Adverse effects on rural character and amenity;
- (iii) Connectivity to existing towns and villages, including connections to existing walkways, roading infrastructure and public transportation;
- (iv) Connectivity to public reticulated public water supply and wastewater, or provision of services on site;
- (v) Bulk and scale of the retirement village development;
- (vi) Reverse sensitivity effects;
- (vii) Effects on the roading network.

Decision Reasons:

- Retirement villages in the Rural Zone should be provided for on the boundaries of towns and villages provided they can be serviced by infrastructure in the future. Retirement villages provide opportunities for residential development (aged care) that is not only confined to the residential zone.

- Restricted Discretionary activity status is considered appropriate for new Retirement Village activities or alterations to an existing retirement village in the Rural Zone, including the proposed retirement village at 180 Horshams Downs Road.
- Conditions for a Retirement Village are proposed (based on activity specific conditions in Chapter 16 (Residential Zone)- Rule 16.1.2 (P3) which provide for 'A new retirement village or alteration to an existing retirement village' as a Permitted Activity in the Residential Zone).

Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.1 Land Use - Activities > 22.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities

Summary of Decision Requested

AMEND Rule 22.1.3 RD1(d) Restricted Discretionary Activities relating to free-range poultry farming, as follows:

(d) For free-range poultry farming, buildings and outdoor enclosures are set back at least:

(i) ~~400~~ 50 metres from any site boundary (other than a road boundary); and

(ii) 200m from a sensitive activity; and

(ii-iii) 500 metres from any boundary of a Residential, Village and Country Living Zone; and

(iv) a vegetated range area is maintained.

Decision Reasons:

- Amend the setbacks so that they apply from the nearest point of the intensive activity - which does not include the range areas (the submitter is seeking a change to the "farming" definition to recognise that the outdoor poultry are livestock and permitted).
- Amend the minimum setback from an internal boundary to be 50m from the nearest building associated with the activity and 200m in total for separation of farm building from sensitive activity.
- Road boundaries should be excluded because the road itself is a separation and any dwelling on the other side has a further separation

- The requirement for a vegetated range area ensures mitigation against the potential for dust to be created.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.1 Land Use - Activities > 22.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities

Summary of Decision Requested AMEND Rule 22.1.3 RD1(e) Restricted Discretionary Activities relating to Housed poultry farming, as follows"
 (e) For housed poultry, free-range poultry that does not comply with 22.1.3 RD1 (d), and all other intensive farming, buildings and adjacent yard areas are set back at least:
 (i) ~~300~~ 50 metres from any site boundary (other than a road boundary); and
 (ii) 300 metres from a sensitive activity; and
 (ii) 500 metres from any boundary of a Residential, Village and Country Living Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- 100m setback from the boundary is unreasonable and results in requirement for a very large property which is uneconomic and inefficient use of land.
- 50m setback from the boundary is reasonable if in combination with an overall 300m setback from a sensitive activity (includes a dwelling).
- Road boundaries should be excluded as the road itself has a separation and any dwelling on the other side has a further separation.

Point Number 821.19

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.1 Land Use - Activities > 22.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 22.1.3 RD1(a)(iii) Restricted Discretionary Activities relating to Intensive farming, as follows:
 (a) Intensive farming that meets all of the following conditions:
 (i) Land Use – Effects in Rule 22.2
 (ii) Land Use – Building in Rule 22.3
~~(iii) Building coverage does not exceed 3% of the site.~~
 ...

Decision Reasons:

- Submitter recognises that the building coverage for intensive farms has increased to 3% of the site but this may still not be enough for poultry farming.
- Given that visual effects and amenity effects (and other effects) are considered in relation to non-compliance with the performance standards we consider that any adverse effects from building coverage should be part of the Restricted Discretionary assessment for the activity. The buildings are intrinsic to intensive poultry farming activities.

Decision Reasons:

- It shall be a restricted discretionary activity with the discretion restricted to the consequences of non-compliance with relevant conditions.

Point Number 877.14

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.1 Land Use - Activities > 22.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities

Summary of Decision Requested Add small scale commercial/retail activities that may be ancillary to rural activities occurring on the site to Rule 22.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities. The submission refers to the Auckland Unitary Plan which has further definition and provision for similar activities. Examples include the following:

- Rural commercial services that support rural production activities;
- Small scale commercial activities ancillary to a primary rural activity, such as cafes on berry picking farms.
- Tourism activities and ancillary commercial or food and beverage activities,
- Small wedding venues
- Veterinary Clinics
- Boarding Kennels and Catteries
- Care Centres (less than ten people).

Decision Reasons:

- The Plan fails to provide opportunities for small-scale commercial/retail activities that may be ancillary to rural activities occurring on the site. These are examples of activities that should be provided in limited capacity in the Rural Zone.
- There are a range of small-scale activities that may support the rural economy and can be appropriately accommodated in the Rural Zone. For example, the District has some great tourism opportunities which rural landowners may want to draw upon however the Plan makes no provision for.
- Changing the Plan to allow for some more Restricted Discretionary Activities will give more clarity around the types of non-productive activities that may be acceptable in the Rural Zone and a reasonable expected to locate in this area.

Point Number 877.29

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.1 Land Use - Activities > 22.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities

Summary of Decision Requested Delete reference to free range poultry farming from Rule 22.1.3 RD1 Restricted Discretionary Activities.
 AND
Delete Rules 22.1.3 RD1(d)(i) and (ii) pertaining to setbacks for poultry farming.

AND

Add the assessment criteria/guidelines and effects of free range poultry farming as per the Franklin Section of the District Plan, particularly with regards to a more suitable setback as a permitted activity e.g. 20m.

Decision Reasons:

- Free-range poultry farming is a distinct activity that should not come under the definition of intensive farming. Refer to comments made elsewhere in the submission.
- Free-range poultry farming should not be subject to a 100m boundary setback. A 20m setback is adequate for a permitted free-range farming activity excluding grazing which should be allowed to occur in paddocks up to the boundary of a site as per any other permitted livestock activity.
- Free-range poultry farming should be treated the same as any other permitted livestock activity.
- There is no 100m site boundary condition in the Franklin Section of the Operative District Plan, only assessment criteria which provide a buffer area/guideline of 20m from the boundaries of a site. Any site boundary setbacks need to reflect this and the effects of the activity including the lower bird densities found in the free-range poultry industry.
- The submitter was unable to find section 32 justification of the 300m setback.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.1 Land Use - Activities > 22.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities

Summary of Decision Requested Add a new Restricted Discretionary Activity to Rule 22.1.3 Restricted Discretionary Activities as follows:

Establishment of a residential activity or use within 20m of a gas transmission pipeline.

Establishment of a residential activity or use within 60m of the gas network (other than a gas transmission pipeline).

Establishment of a sensitive land use (excluding residential activities within 60m of the gas network.

AND

Add a new matter of discretion to Rule 22.2.3.1 Restricted Discretionary Activities as follows:

(g) The extent to which the development will avoid or mitigate conflict with the gas network.

AND

Any consequential amendments and other relief to give effect to the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- In order to protect the gas network inclusive of delivery points the submitter seeks to include a minimum setback between a delivery point and sensitive land use.
- The submitter seeks to include an additional matter over which Council's discretion shall be limited under RD1 (b) to address potential reverse sensitivity effects on the gas network inclusive of delivery points.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.1 Land Use - Activities > 22.1.5 Discretionary Activities

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 22.1.5 D15 Discretionary Activities to include afforestation of significant natural areas as a discretionary activity.

Decision Reasons:

- In the Rural Zone "Afforestation of any part of an Outstanding or Natural Character Area or High Natural Character Area" is a discretionary activity.
- National Environmental Standard for Plantation Forestry Regulation 12 states that afforestation must not occur within a SNA or an outstanding natural feature or landscape.
- Regulation 16 (1) states that afforestation is a restricted discretionary activity if regulation 12 cannot be met. Regulation 6 provides certain circumstances in which a rule in a plan can be more stringent than the regulations. These include where a rule gives effect to NZCPS policies 11, 13, 15 and 22 and matters of national importance (Outstanding Natural Feature Landscape and SNA). Given this, it is considered that a discretionary activity status is available and appropriate to ensure that the WRPS and NZCPS are given effect to. However, it is noted that the drafting of D15 should include afforestation as a discretionary activity in SNAs also. As currently drafted it could be considered a permitted activity under 22.1.2 P8.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> NZPM does not oppose discretionary activity status for extractive activities in the Rural Zone to allow all potential effects and relevant matters to be assessed through the resource consent process. Consideration however should be given to a more lenient status for prospecting and exploration activities given these activities are of a smaller scale and have less adverse effects than extraction. NZPM notes prospecting and exploration are a permitted activity in the Rural Zone in Thames-Coromandel District Plan and there is no reason why these activities should have a much more stringent activity status under the Proposed Waikato District Plan.

Decision Reasons:

- Refer to submission for full suggestion.
- Activities within the Waste Management Facility definition are appropriate within the Rural Zone without Resource Consent.
- Cleanfill does not generate objectionable odour, contamination or high dust emissions unlike other activities that involve disposal of material to land.

 22.1.4.5 D5 Hazardous waste storage, processing or disposal excluding chemicals, fuel and other hazardous substances used for farming.
 AND
 Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.
 AND
 Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- Storage of agrichemicals used for farming should not be subject to this rule. To do so would subject farmers to undue cost and delay in having to seek resource consent for little or no environmental benefit. Farmers regularly use chemicals in pesticides, fungicides and herbicides for pest and weed control, and other chemicals for animal husbandry. They also need to maintain on-site fuel storage for farm machinery and fertiliser storage. The hazardous nature of handling and storage of such chemicals and substances is managed under other legislation and there is no need for the Council to regulate this in the Proposed District Plan.
- The submission corrects the numbering error 22.1.5, which is duplicated for discretionary and non-complying activities.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.1 Land Use - Activities > 22.1.5 Discretionary Activities

 AND
 Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.
 AND
 Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- The notified rule is unnecessarily restrictive for an activity which could provide positive economic and biodiversity outcomes. The rule prioritises amenity over and above these other important values and as such does not strike the right balance. Further the planning maps do not differentiate between high natural character and natural character areas, this creates uncertainty for plan users and has the potential to capture more areas than intended to be controlled in this manner.

- Conditional support will be extended to this rule if the definition is amended to incorporate submitter's relief sought. The exemptions to the definition are strongly supported but it is hard to understand what activities are hoped to be captured and controlled by this rule and for what purpose.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Land within the Urban Expansion Area needs to be protected from incompatible land use otherwise it will compromise future urban development. This aim is supported by the 2005 Strategic Agreement on Future Urban Boundaries between Hamilton City Council and Waikato District Council. The section 32 analysis offers no sound reasoning as to why the status of these activities is proposed to be non-complying (rather than prohibited as per the Operative Waikato District Plan). Under the Operative Waikato District Plan, the Urban Expansion Policy Area has a number of prohibited activities to ensure that the future development of the areas is not compromised. During the consultation of the draft district plan, the prohibited activity list was reviewed and amended in consultation with HCC staff, increasing the activity status of some activities to a stricter prohibited activity status within the area. The notified Proposed Plan has not retained the prohibited activity status with the exception of subdivision, where an extra lot is created, with all non-rural activities now either non-complying or discretionary activities. The section 32 offers no sound reasoning as to why the activity status has been changed. HCC strongly disagrees with approach and the assumption for how the different non-rural activities were 'allocated' either non-complying or discretionary status. Non-complying activities were because of adverse effects, reverse sensitivity and incompatibility with urban uses in the future. Discretionary activities were applied where the use would be compatible with future urban use. The submitter does not consider this approach satisfactory at all because such activities have the potential to impact on the future ability to comprehensively plan for the area as a whole.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 22.1 Land Use - Activities, by changing the activity status for non-rural activities in the Urban Expansion Area to prohibited.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Urban Expansion Area has been in place for some time as it reflects the strategic agreement between Waikato District Council and Hamilton City Council. It is important that this land is not compromised through fragmentation or establishment of non-rural activities. The existing prohibited rule therefore needs to be carried over from the Operative Waikato District Plan.

AND

Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.

AND

Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed amendment is required to provide better consistency with the planning approach prescribed in Objective 5.4.1 and Policy 5.4.2. Further the rule contains drafting flaws which render it unworkable. There are no areas identified in the planning map legend as High Natural Character Areas or Outstanding Natural Character Areas.
- The submitter wants to be clear that Farm Quarries are not to be subject to triggering resource consent under such provisions.

Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.

AND

Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed amendment is required to provide better consistency with the policy approach prescribed in Proposed District Plan. Whilst the submitter supports a forward looking plan, priority must be given to activities which can be expected and anticipated within the rural zone and are unable to be located elsewhere. Urban growth pressures must be addressed without an over reliance on ring-fencing and controlling legitimate activities within the rural zone. The submitter urges Council to contain the sprawling footprint of urban expansion using more innovative and modern planning techniques.

AND

Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.

AND

Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter opposes this type of 'catch all' rule which they believe is poor planning practice and inconsistent with a number of RMA provisions.
- Under RMA section 9 the use of land is presumed to be permitted unless it is restricted by a rule in a plan. The submitter appreciates that not every eventuality can be covered with the use of activity lists, however Section 17(1) establishes that every person has a duty to avoid, remedy or mitigate any adverse effect on the environment arising from an activity carried on by or on behalf of that person, whether or not the activity is in accordance with a rule in a plan.
- This duty to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse effects along with the enforcement options under Section 17(3) and option to notify a plan change or variation provide council with the appropriate opportunities to deal with unforeseen circumstances which may arise.

AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make any consequential amendments that are required to give effect to the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Retirement Villages are currently a non-complying activity under Rule 22.1.5 (NC5). Non-complying status is opposed. Retirement Village activities that are proposed at 180 Horsham Downs Road will provide an essential service for the local community. The establishment of a retirement village (and its future redevelopment or expansion) in the Rural Zone should be expressly provided for as a Restricted Discretionary Activity. Retirement village activities need to be excluded from Rule 22.1.5 NC5.

AND Any further relief and/or amendments necessary to support the relief as set out in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter has lodged a resource consent application with the Waikato District Council to establish and operate a retirement village at 650 Airport Road, 618 Airport Road, 608 Airport Road and 46 Tamahere Drive (LUC0023/19). The site is an ideal location for those who have lived in the rural environment and do not desire to live in an urban environment upon retirement. Consultation with surrounding landowners has been undertaken. The retirement village will be developed with minor and environmental effects. The aging population and concept of retirement villages is evolving, and this is recognised in the proposed retirement village. Retirement villages are currently a discretionary activity within the Operative District Plan and is a good fit for assessing proposed retirement villages. The objectives and policies for development in Rural Zones are similar in both the Operative and Proposed District Plans and therefore should retain the Discretionary activity status within the Proposed District Plan. The increasing importance of retirement villages supports the activity being recognised as a discretionary activity.

The Proposed District Plan makes no attempt to indicate how much bush has been lost, or will be lost by these and other provisions in the Proposed District Plan. Screening with trees should be applied to improve and protect views from Raglan and its beaches. Much of the attraction of Raglan derives from its beaches and the north shore of the harbour having rural aspects. New subdivisions could diminish that attraction and an active policy of tree planting to establish belts of trees screening those views would help to protect the rural image. Alternatively, the Proposed District Plan could ban development which would detract from those views.

- Waipa District Plan specifies a noise contour specific to Mystery Creek Events Centre.
- Careful restrictions placed on noise and event activity within the operative Waipa District Plan's Mystery Creek Events Zone and Mystery Creek Noise Contour, including limits on the number of events per year.
- Main basis of noise controls is the Mystery Creek Noise Contour.

Amend the Proposed District Plan to make consequential and additional amendments as necessary to give effect to the matters raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Submission states preference for rules currently in the Operative District Plan and as such, seek to add the new rule to define the effects anticipated and accepted and to safeguard both the industry as well as the surrounding properties (insofar as reasonable and practicable). Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.
AND
Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone.

- Decision Reasons:
- The submitter supports the intent of Rule PI(b) which is consistent with the stated policy approach and gives effect to reverse sensitivity principles. However, PI(c) is inconsistent with this approach and fails to appreciate the temporary nature of any adverse effects created from vehicles working at night and the necessity of the operation.
 - The submitter accepts that where possible unacceptable nuisance effects such as light spill should be contained within the property boundary. However, farming requirements and weather conditions mean that even with the best intention it is not always possible to avoid a level of nuisance effect. In such instances (which are generally intermittent and temporary) it is imperative that the Plan clearly allows for this to ensure the farm business is not unduly impacted upon.
 - An example is harvesting contractors and farmers working through the night to harvest crops due to short weather windows. Such effects are not unreasonable to expect in a rural area, and therefore this renders Rule 22.2.2PI(c) inappropriate. Submitter considers that it could result in creating unreasonable expectations of the amenity of the Rural Zone, and perpetuate reverse sensitivity issues with people, who are unaccustomed to a rural environment, complaining about normal farming activities and expecting those effects to be avoided or mitigated in every instance.
 - Farming in a rural area should be a permitted activity.

- (b) Rule 22.2.3.2 – Maaori Sites and Maaori Areas of Significance;
- (c) Rule 22.2.3.3 – Significant Natural Areas;
- (d) Rule 22.2.3.4 – Landscape and Natural Character Areas.

AND

Add new rule after Rule 22.2.3.1 Earthworks - General, as follows:

22.2.3.1A Earthworks within the National Grid Yard.

P1.

(a) The following earthworks within the National Grid Yard:

(i) Earthworks undertaken as part of domestic cultivation; or repair, sealing or resealing of a road, footpath or driveway;

(ii) Vertical holes not exceeding 500mm in diameter that are more than 1.5m from the outer edge of the pole support structure or stay wire;

(iii) Earthworks for which a dispensation has been granted by Transpower under New Zealand Electrical Code of Practice for Electrical Safe Distances 34:2001 ISSN 0114-0663.

P2.

(a) Earthworks activities within the National Grid Yard near National Grid support poles or any stay wires must comply with the following conditions:

(i) Do not exceed a depth of 300mm within 2.2m of the pole or stay wire; and

(ii) Do not exceed a depth of 750mm between 2.2m and 5m of the pole or stay wire.

P3.

(a) Earthworks within the National Grid Yard near National Grid support towers (including any tubular steel tower that replaces a steel lattice tower) must comply with all of the following conditions:

(i) Do not exceed 300mm depth within 6m of the outer edge of the visible foundation of the tower;

(ii) Do not exceed 3m between 6m and 12m of the outer edge of the visible foundation of the tower;

(iii) Do not compromise the stability of a National Grid support structure;

(iv) Do not result in the loss of access to any National Grid support structure; and

(v) Must be less than the minimum ground to conductor clearance distances in Table 4 of the New Zealand Electrical Code of Practice for Electrical Safe Distances 34:2001 ISSN 0114-0663.

RD1.

(a) Earthworks within the National Grid Yard that do not comply with one or more of the conditions of Rules 22.2.3.1A P1, P2 or P3.

(b) Discretion is restricted to:

(i) Impacts on the operation, maintenance, upgrading and development of the National Grid;

(ii) The risk to the structural integrity of the affected National Grid support structure(s);

(iii) Any impact on the ability of the National Grid owner (Transpower) to access the National Grid;

(iv) The risk of electrical hazards affecting public or individual safety, and the risk of property damage.

Decision Reasons:

- It must replicate the earthworks rule within the National Grid from Chapter 14 into Chapter 22 for increased clarity and usability of the Plan.

(a) Earthworks for:

...

(iv) A building platform for a permitted residential activity, including accessory buildings.

AND

Any consequential or additional amendments as a result of changes sought in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports the permitted activity status of ancillary farming earthworks noting the submission point seeks changes to the definition of "Ancillary Farming Earthworks".
- Creation of a building platform modifies the existing environment from which a resource consent will be assessed.
- It is likely to result in the land being stripped of its productive or high class soil.
- This is inconsistent with the objectives and policies of the Rural Zone which seek to protect High Class Soils.
- The submitter seeks that the rule specify that earthworks are permitted only for a building platform for a residential building and accessory buildings that could be undertaken as a permitted activity.
- This would prevent earthworks being undertaken for development that would otherwise require consent.
- This also provide greater protection of High Class Soils and land with productive potential.

AND

Any consequential or additional amendments as a result of changes sought in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- Creation of a building platform modifies the existing environment from which a resource consent will be assessed.
- The submitter seeks that the rule specify that earthworks are permitted only for a building platform for a residential building and accessory buildings that could be undertaken as permitted activities. This would prevent earthworks for inappropriate development, or development that would otherwise require consent.

Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.2 Land Use Effects > 22.2.3 Earthworks > 22.2.3.1 Earthworks – General

Summary of Decision Requested

Add a new permitted activity to Rule 22.2.3.1 Earthworks - General, as follows:

(a) Earthworks for purposes associated with horticultural activities using imported fill material or cleanfill must meet all of the following conditions:

(i) sediment resulting from the filling is retained on the site through implementation and maintenance of erosion and sediment controls; and

(ii) does not divert or change the nature of water bodies.

AND

Any consequential or additional amendments as a result of changes sought in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter supports the provision of cleanfill as a permitted activity and notes that the use of cleanfill can be managed through good management practice.
- The northern portion of the Waikato District typically has an undulating topography. It is also a significant location for horticultural activities. In order to maximise the productive potential of land in this area, it is common for fill to be imported to help contour the land to a slope appropriate for horticultural activities.
- Cleanfill is also used for other land management purposes such as drainage or track creation and maintenance.

Add a new Note to Rule 22.2.3.1 P2 Earthworks - General, as follows:

- Where earthworks are specifically for small dams and damming water as allowed by Rule 3.6.4.4 of the Waikato Regional Plan then (i) and (ii) do not apply.
- Where earthworks are specifically for the maintenance and enhancement of existing lawfully established damming of perennial water bodies, as allowed by Rule 3.6.4.5 of the Waikato Regional Plan, then (i) and (ii) above do not apply.

- AND/OR

Any alternative relief to address the issues and concerns raised in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The notified rule could severely curtail the size, construction, restoration, maintenance and enhancement of wetlands which would otherwise be permitted under the Waikato Regional Plan.
- Water flow is controlled by the Waikato Regional Council and is not a Waikato District Council function.

- Current permitted activity limits on earthworks in Rule 22.2.3.1(P2) could trigger resource consent for future development work either within the Campus area or on the Research Farm.
- Seeks to amend rule 22.2.3.1 P1 to permit earthworks incidental to an approved building consent.
- Would avoid unnecessary bureaucracy and cost associated with resource consent.
- Rule 22.2.3.1(P2) applies various limits to earthworks within a site. The way the rule are written, the limits would apply to the list of permitted activities in Rule 22.2.3.1 (P1), which could unnecessarily trigger resource consent for typical and accepted farming activities.
- Amendment is required to ensure the various limits do not apply to the list of permitted activities in P1.
- These activities are a fundamental requirement for being able to undertake efficient farming operation and an accepted element in the rural landscape.
- Earthworks are already regulated by the Regional Plan.
- A requirement for resource consent would impose unnecessary duplication and compliance costs onto typical farming operations.

AND

Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.

AND

Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone.

Decision Reasons:

- Strong support is extended to P1, the approach is consistent with the intent of Objectives 5.1.1 and 5.3.1 and related Policies.
- Earthworks for farming should be included as a permitted activity as there is little risk to the environment from undertaking such earthworks within the wide open spaces of rural areas. If these aren't provided for explicitly. The submitter is concerned that these sorts of earthworks could get caught by rules that trigger resource consent for certain types of other earthworks, which would put farmers through undue delay and cost hardship, for little or no environmental benefit.
- Earthworks associated with creating a building platform for non-residential purposes such as a farm implement shed within the rural zone should be permitted under this rule.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • These rules are overly restrictive, especially for larger properties as regards the constraints on volume and area in a 12-month period. • Due to finances, weather, maintenance requiring earthworks for maintaining/upgrading tracks, stock races, fencing etc. may be delayed for several years. When circumstances then allow, a larger than average volume and/or area may need be shifted in a year to bring infrastructure up to an acceptable standard. Other years no earthworks at all may get done. The proposed restrictions are too onerous, especially for larger farming properties. • Many tracks were put in decades ago when tractors were smaller. With larger and wider modern tractors, many races and tracks may need to be upgraded for health and safety reasons.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The notified rule is too restrictive for most of the maintenance and enhancement activities carried out by Auckland Waikato Fish and Game in wetlands, particularly with the proposal to change most of the wetland areas in Waikato District from Wetland Conservation Area to Significant Natural Area. Earthworks for ecosystem protection, restoration or enhancement need to be exempt from this rule. Furthermore, any change to natural water flows, water bodies or drainage paths is to be considered by Waikato Regional Council and this is not a district council function.

The District Plan should provide for or enable activities that can support in maintaining or enhancing these areas. If there were a disruption to the functioning of any track, then farmers need the ability to form alternative safe access to parts of their farm that needs access, including for the purpose of moving stock. A farmer cannot afford to wait four or more weeks to have to obtain resource consent to move stock that are trapped in a part of the farm where existing access has become disrupted or blocked. Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> These rules are overly restrictive, especially for larger properties as regards the constraints on volume and area in a 12-month period. Due to finances, weather, maintenance requiring earthworks for maintaining/upgrading tracks, stock races, fencing etc. may be delayed for several years. When circumstances then allow, a larger than average volume and/or area may need be shifted in a year to bring infrastructure up to an acceptable standard. Other years no earthworks at all may get done. The proposed restrictions are too onerous, especially for larger farming properties. Many tracks were put in decades ago when tractors were smaller. With larger and wider modern tractors, many races and tracks may need to be upgraded for health and safety reasons.

AND

Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.

AND

Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter understands that outstanding landscapes and features which meet certain criteria can be subject to land use controls for the purposes of managing adverse effects on the landscape values.
- The District Plan must focus on the values of the features and landscapes to recognise that landscapes across rural areas are changing all the time and that the working nature of the farming activities occurring in that space are part of that values system.
- To place arbitrary earthworks thresholds as the trigger for consent is a relatively blunt planning technique. The submitter is concerned that the size of earthworks allowed per site in any 12-month period is far too restrictive to have meaning for farming activities. Earthworks can be required for a number of reasons some of which are outside a farmers control for example to repair slip or flood damage. It is unduly onerous to require resource consent to mitigate damage from a natural event. Earthworks can be required to maintain and construct tracks and fencing which are a vital network through farms.
- The submitter appreciates why Council seeks to protect Outstanding Landscapes and understand these standards are being used to implement Chapter 3 Objectives. However, the goals can be achieved with reasonable permitted activity standards for activities which have, in part, contributed to the landscape values.
- The conditions need to fall within the jurisdiction of the district council.
- The submitter seeks that Significant Amenity Landscapes (SAL) references be deleted from these rules consistent with other relief sought in relation to SALs in this regard.

Amend the Proposed District Plan to provide other such relief and consequential amendments as to give effect to the relief sought in the submissions.

The conditions specifying volumes, depth and slope ((i)-(iv)) should be deleted from the maintenance of existing tracks, fences, or drains in these rules.
- The maintenance of these features as they are, and within the footprints already occupied, will ensure the characteristics that contribute to the significance of the area are not adversely affected. The conditions at (v)-(vii) provide standards for the reinstatement of earthworks, including re-vegetation, sediment control and natural water flow requirements. There is no reason to apply additional limitations on volumes, depth and setback of earthworks given the earthworks are for physical features already in place.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.2 Land Use Effects > 22.2.4 Hazardous substances
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 22.2.4 Hazardous substances, as follows: 22.2.4 Hazardous substances (a) The use, storage or disposal of any hazardous substances where: (i) The aggregate quantity of hazardous substances of any hazard classification on a site less than the quantity specified for the Rural Zone in Table 6.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances). (ii) Rule 22.2.4 (g) (i) excludes fire stations and associated fire service operations. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make further or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Fire and Emergency New Zealand opposes Rule 22.2.4 as while fire stations and associated firefighting activities involve the use and storage of hazardous substances at quantities that are considered minor, it is possible that the permitted provisions may not enable for this, and could affect Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to operate as easily and smoothly as needed. Fire and Emergency New Zealand requests that fire stations and associated firefighting activities are excluded from Rule 22.2.4 for the following reasons: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> The 8.3 classification (Table 5.1 contained within Appendix 5 (Hazardous Substances)) has a relatively low limit in the Business Town Centre Zone, and is quite low in other areas- lots of household products are eye corrosives from dishwashing to laundry powder. This would limit and potentially prevent Fire and Emergency New Zealand having a HAZMAT vehicle based in this zone because they carry neutralizing agents which are eye corrosives. A greater concern is that some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants and foams also have this classification and this limit could potentially require that Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a resource consent to hold a small amount or and other these chemicals on site, as a lower limit would be largely taken up by ordinary household chemicals used on site. The 8.3A classification is for eye corrosion. A person is only affected by this hazard class if they come into direct contact with a product with this classification. This hazard is also managed under the health and safety at work and HSNO legislation usually via labeling and PPE requirements. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers that there is no logic in restricting the amount of these substances held as it relates to Fire and Emergency New Zealand operations, particularly if they are in enclosed containers for systems. Some of Fire and Emergency New Zealand's fire retardants are solids rather than liquids and the reasons for the limits specified in the plan do not make sense for solids. Fire and Emergency New Zealand current main fire retardant is a powder but Fire and Emergency New Zealand are also looking at new foams which come in bricks. As such, higher restrictions for waterways do not make sense for these products as they do not leak or flow. Fire and Emergency New Zealand often requires the temporary storage of chemicals necessary for providing an emergency response, during an emergency and within a short period after the emergency, i.e. there is a small grace period for example if Fire and Emergency New Zealand need a truck to remove a container which has firefighting chemicals in it, they may need to wait for a few working days after the emergency has finished for a contractor to do that work. Not providing for this could restrict Fire and Emergency New Zealand's ability to respond to bush or other major events, e.g. large acid spills and other HAZMAT events. This could also result in a breach of the RMA in order to bring in the necessary products to resolve the issue and prevent harm to people/the environment.

AND

Any consequential changes needed to give effect to this relief.

AND

Any consequential amendments to Chapter 23: Country Living Zone to address areas of existing farmland zoned as Country Living Zone

Decision Reasons:

- Whilst the submitter understands the enabling intention of the Activity Table, they believe that tables of permitted quantities using HSNO classifications can be very difficult for resource users and council staff to interpret and determine where farm hazardous substances fit in. Agricultural chemicals and fertilisers can be made up of many substances and the permitted activity status is based on all the substances on the whole property.
- Where legislative controls or codes of practice exist, that there is no need for a District Council to require resource consent for the same activity.
- Hazardous substances are already controlled by the Hazardous Substances and New Organisms Act 1996 (HSNO Act) and agricultural chemicals are managed through NZS8409 and fertilisers in particular under Fertilisers (Subsidiary Hazard) Group Standards.
- Federated Farmers and Fert Research were involved in the development of Group Standards for fertilisers and agricultural chemicals. Group Standards for fertilisers are based on their hazardous substance classification: Corrosive HSR002569; Oxidising HSR002570; Subsidiary Hazard HSR002571; and Toxic 6.1 HSR002572. This demonstrates that fertilisers are already being appropriately managed, and this should be a consideration when any district plan provisions are developed.
- The submitter is concerned that the proposed rule may trigger a discretionary resource consent for fertiliser use, storage or disposal. Under Table 5.1 Rule 1 - Use, storage and disposal of hazardous substance sub-classes 1.4, 1.5, 1.6, 6.1D, 6.1E, 6.3, 6.4, 6.5, 9.1D, 9.2D, and 9.3 are exempt from this table. We ask then how is the use, storage or disposal of those exempt hazardous substances enabled when there is no ability to meet the permitted conditions of 22.2.4 P1 (a)(i).
- The most appropriate way to achieve a clear and concise planning system is to include exemptions to the rule.
- Please also note the incorrect Appendix is referenced within proposed Rule P1.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The proposed provisions are opposed and the submitter seeks the deletion of all proposed hazardous substances controls relating to storage, use, disposal or transportation of hazardous substances at service station sites (as broadly defined) or refuelling sites. • The submitter also supports the deletion of all rules pertaining to control hazardous substances where such controls are inappropriate, unnecessary, ineffective, inefficient and unable to be justified via a Section 32 analysis. • These rules are all designed to address risk associated with hazardous substances. Risk is appropriately managed via other legislation and the Section 32 Report fails to identify why additional controls are required. • The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 removed the explicit function of district and regional councils to control adverse effects of the storage, use, disposal, or transportation of hazardous substances under sections 30 and 31 of the Resource Management Act 1991 (RMA). • The changes came into effect on 19 April 2017 and are intended to ensure councils only place controls on hazardous substances where necessary to control effects under the RMA that are not covered by Hazardous Substance New Organisms Act 1996 or Health and Safety Act 2015. • The purpose of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act is to protect the environment, and the health and safety of people and communities, by preventing or managing the adverse effects of hazardous substances and new organisms. The Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act covers a range of matters including:

- a. site and building requirements for where a hazardous substance may be used, including requirements for storage and primarily requiring primary and secondary containment;
 - b. the safe transportation of hazardous substances;
 - c. emergency management requirements in relation to the substance in the event of a spill or other emergency; and
 - d. how the substance may be disposed of.
- The Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 provides a framework to secure the health and safety of works and workplaces and integrates the regulation of workplace use of hazardous substances.
 - The Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 followed the decision of the Independent Hearing Panel on the Christchurch Replacement District Plan. That decision was to reject Christchurch City Council's hazardous substance controls (which were based on an activity status table (AST) approach and to only retain controls relating to hazardous substances in close proximity to the National Grid.
 - The Ministry for the Environment considers that in most cases the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act and the Health and Safety At Work Act 2015 controls will be adequate to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse environmental effects of hazardous substances and that RMA controls may be used if existing HSN0 or Work safe controls are not adequate to address the environmental effects of hazardous substances in any particularly case. The submitter strongly supports the Ministry for the Environment's position in this regard.
 - The submitter seeks that any proposed controls around hazardous substances do not duplicate those controls addressed under other legislation. Any duplication is considered unnecessary and inefficient.
 - The section 32 report for Hazardous Substances acknowledges the removal of Council's functions in regards to hazardous substances and recognizes the "Resource Management Plans should not be in conflict with HSN0 requirements and should not repeat them".
 - The report further recognizes that "rationale for a higher level of protection through additional land use controls under the Act may be appropriate for substances both controlled by the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act or for issues which are not within the scope of the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act, such as reverse sensitivity".
 - However there is a significant disconnect between the overview and purpose sections of the Section 32 Report and the regulatory provisions in the Proposed District Plan.
 - As an example, in regard to service stations the Section 32 Report concludes that, "the controlled activity status has been assigned to the storage and retail sale of fuel within service stations above a certain level in some zones to recognize that these substances are well managed through standards and industry practice. However, above these thresholds, the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered.
 - No rationale/analysis is provided within the section 32 report to justify why specific volume thresholds apply to service stations or why the opportunity to consider potential adverse effects on the surrounding environment is considered reasonable if quantities are above those limits.
 - The Section 32 Report does not provide analysis to justify why hazardous substances associated with service stations are only addressed in certain zones and in what way the Council considers the Hazardous Substances New Organisms Act to not adequately control potential adverse effects associated with hazardous substances at service station - for example, why the Council considers site design, layout and monitoring and reporting of incidents are matters that the Council should reserve control over.
 - In light of the Resource Legislation Amendment Act 2017 and controls under other legislation and the lack of rationale/analysis within the Section 32 Report for hazardous substances, it is considered the proposed hazardous substance controls are largely unnecessary and should therefore be deleted.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter cannot support the P2 Signs General where the zone rules that relate to signage, including on heritage items or Maaori sites of significance are permitted activities with variations between the zones as to the permitted size and height of signage. While signs generally are not permitted in heritage buildings or Maaori sites of significance, a sign of 3m2 on a heritage building could be permitted in some zones if the sign was for identification or interpretation purposes. The generic, zoned based approach does not reflect the need to assess the suitability of a signage proposal against the specific heritage values of the individual building or site. The generic approach has the potential to cause adverse effects of historic heritage and Maaori sites of significance. To avoid adverse effects to heritage items and Maaori sites of significance it would be more appropriate for any signage on heritage items and Maaori sites of Significance to be elevated to a restricted discretionary activity level of assessment and subject to the matters of discretion already included (i.e. (vi) and (vii).

Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 22.2.8 P1(a)(ii) Indigenous vegetation clearance outside a Significant Natural Area.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A total of 1000m2 seems overly restrictive and could result in the land outside a Significant Natural Area being incapable of reasonable use as persistent invasive weeds (such as manuka, totara and tutu) encroach on pasture. It is not clear what "outside a Significant Natural Area" means and questions is it the whole farm or some defined area adjacent to the Significant Natural Area Questioned how the Waikato District Council can see to place restrictions on what can be done on the submitter's land beyond the specific Significant Natural Area No benefit economically and is likely to cause undue financial hardship Considers it theft when a plan, objective, policy or rule is out to remove the rights of ownership, or right of use as the landowner sees fit Does not believe the NZ Government promotes theft Uncertain who benefits from these designations Seeks to pursue a course of action through the NZ Police if the designations remain on the submitter's property due to restricting use of the property as a place of business and potentially lowering its value.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Additional uses must be provided for as permitted activities. The proposed amendments are practical, provide more certainty, avoid duplication and ensure the Council continues to meet RMA obligations. The thresholds will have a limiting effect on farming practice. It will potentially prevent further development of useful rural resources and trigger the need for resource consent for anticipated and expected activities within the rural zone which is contradictory to a number of objectives and policies within the Plan. The restriction on all indigenous vegetation clearance within 10 metres of a waterbody is problematic and potentially unduly onerous given the term 'waterbody' is not defined within the plan. This also makes it difficult to understand how the rule will be accurately monitored. Clearance for activities such as formation of fences, firebreaks, crossings, tracks and pest management should be expected to occur on farms and rural areas, and the submitter would like to see provision for those activities within the permitted activity framework.

(g) The disturbance, removal, damage or destruction ("modification") of naturally occurring indigenous vegetation by any network utility operator to ensure the safety and integrity of any network utility or to maintain access to the network utility.

h) The disturbance, removal, damage or destruction ("modification") of naturally occurring indigenous vegetation associated with the maintenance of existing access tracks, fence-lines and firebreaks and the construction of new fence-lines and firebreaks.

(i) Any activity involving disturbance, removal, damage or destruction ("modification") of indigenous vegetation and habitats necessary for the avoidance of imminent danger to human life or property.

(j) Activities are carried out subject to and in accordance with any specific covenants or other legal agreements entered into with the District Council, or Waikato Regional Council, or Department of Conservation, or QEII Trust.

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed rule is overly restrictive.
- It is mainly sheep and beef farms that would most likely wish to clear scrub as many years of lower financial returns have impeded their ability to keep their pastures clear. Much scrub they wish to clear is regenerated vegetation. They become captured by the height and age restrictions in clearing kanuka and manuka.

Decision Reasons:

- The online version of Rule 22.2.8 links the term "Indigenous vegetation clearance" to a more general definition of "vegetation clearance", which includes for example cutting of all forms of vegetation, indigenous or otherwise. This is not the intent of the rule and a link to a more specifically defined "Indigenous vegetation clearance" should be made in the rule.

The Proposed District Plan makes no attempt to indicate how much bush has been lost, or will be lost by these and other provisions in the Proposed District Plan. Screening with trees should be applied to improve and protect views from Raglan and its beaches. Much of the attraction of Raglan derives from its beaches and the north shore of the harbour having rural aspects. New subdivisions could diminish that attraction and an active policy of tree planting to establish belts of trees screening those views would help to protect the rural image. Alternatively, the Proposed District Plan could ban development which would detract from those views.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.3 Land Use - Building
Summary of Decision Requested	Add a new provision to Rule 22.3 Land Use - Building, as follows: Workers' accommodation is a permitted activity where it meets the following standards: (a) The relevant zone standards for yards, height, daylight protection and parking are complied with (b) Access - No additional formed accesses are to be created to any State Highway (c) Is associated with the horticultural activity (d) Comprises of a combination of communal kitchen and eating areas and sleeping and ablution facilities (e) Accommodates up to 12 workers (f) Complies with Code of Practice for Able Bodies Seasonal Workers, published by Department of Building and Housing 2008. AND Any consequential or additional amendments as a result of changes sought in the submission.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter seeks specific provision for workers' accommodation.
- The submitter seeks the insertion of a new rule to set the standards for workers' accommodation as a permitted activity, similar to those that have been adopted in the Proposed Opoiki District Plan.

Plan chapter Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.3 Land Use - Building

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Section 22.3 Landuse - Building to clarify what buildings are permitted and how this relates to the activities in Rule 22.1 - Land Use- Activities. This is to avoid any confusion, particularly in regards to Section 9 of the Resource Management Act.

Decision Reasons:

- This rule refers to permitted dwellings and minor dwellings but does not reference other buildings such as accessory buildings (eg garages and sleepouts) to dwellings/minor dwellings.
- It also does not reference buildings such as milking sheds or greenhouses that are associated with permitted farming activities.
- It is unclear if section 9 of the RMA applies here in that all buildings not listed under Rule 22.3 are Permitted as they will not contravene a district rule? There is no overriding activity status for any other building not listed in Rule 22.3 like there is under Rule 22.1 Land Use - Activities, so it is assumed that the buildings themselves are all permitted (subject to meeting the other standards in Rule 22.3). It is intended that an industrial or commercial building is a permitted land use in the Rural Zone as long as it meets the other standards in Rule 22.3, noting that the use of the building itself (i.e the industrial use/activity within the building) requires resource consent under Rule 22.1 Land Use - Activities.

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 22.3 Land Use - Building to provide clarification around what buildings are permitted and how this relates to the activities in Rule 22.1 Land Use - Activities.

Decision Reasons:

- This rule refers to Permitted dwellings and minor dwellings but does not reference other buildings such as accessory buildings (e.g. garages and sleep outs) to dwellings/minor dwellings.
- It does not reference buildings such as milking sheds or greenhouses that are associated with permitted farming activities
- There is no overriding activity status for any other building not listed in Rule 22.3 like there is under Rule 22.1, so it is assumed that the buildings themselves are all permitted.
- Amendments should be made to avoid any confusion, especially if their understanding of the applicability of Section 9 of the RMA and what Rule 22.3 allows for is incorrect.
- Submitter questions how an industrial or commercial building is permitted but the use of the building requires resource consent.

Summary of Decision Requested Amend Rule 22.3.1 P1(a) Number of dwellings within a lot to permit more than one dwelling on lots less than 40ha.

Decision Reasons:

- The rule unreasonably restricts development of small lots.
- The submitter has approximately 5500m2 lot across the road from the Hamilton City boundary at 83 Greenhill Rd, and wishes to build a new home with a decent floor space, and also retain the small 85ish m2 existing house which is in above average condition.

Summary of Decision Requested	Delete Rule 22.3.1 Number of dwellings within a lot; AND Add a more enabling provision. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan consequential or additional amendments as necessary to give effect to the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Based on the Council's own evidence there is no doubt that a significant resource management issue for the District is biodiversity loss, which continues to be at risk due to vegetation clearance, stock intrusion, animal and pest degradation, degradation of the margins for estuarine wetlands by stock. The submitter is concerned that the Proposed District Plan is largely focused on only protecting existing Significant Natural Areas and ignores restoring, linking and expanding indigenous biodiversity that does not qualify as Significant Natural Areas. There is no regulatory framework to increase indigenous vegetation and wetlands to a target vegetation cover of 30%, actively manage areas that can be considered Significant Natural Areas in the future, increase vegetation cover on steep and erosion prone land, incentivize fencing of riparian areas, incentivize the creation of new corridors, pest control, enrichment planting and restoration. No comprehensive research supports the claim that incentive-based planting in the district has resulted in sporadic, adhoc development. There appears to be no robust analysis of the success or failures of the limited amount of enhancement subdivision that has previously been undertaken in the Franklin part of the District that had these provisions. Several court decisions including Di Andre Estates Ltd v Rodney District Council, Arrigato Investments v Auckland Regional Council, Omaha Park and Cabra v Auckland Council are useful for establishing current best practice to meet the requirements of Part 2 of the RMA. Cabra v Auckland Council case law notes that the Council could not use the fact that there may be issues with weeds, or poor fencing, as a reason to oppose the inclusion of incentive provisions in the Plan, because it had the authority and responsibility to monitor consent conditions. There are a range of enforcement mechanisms available to a council, and the ability to recover costs from a consent holder, that mean managing compliance in these areas should not be onerous for a council. The court in the Cabra case has taken a far sighted and future oriented approach to the maintenance and enhancement of biodiversity. The Proposed District Plan does not give effect to the New Zealand Coastal Policy Statement. The Proposed District Plan does not give effect to the National Policy Statement for Freshwater Management. The Proposed District Plan does not adopt the vision of the Waikato River Settlement Act as there is not a strong emphasis in the vision on restoration. The Proposed District Plan does not give effect to the Waikato Regional Policy Statement. The submitter supports appropriate protection of high-class soils were practicable and where they are alternatives to using this land. Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 22.3.2 P1 (b)(i) Minor Dwelling, as follows: The minor dwelling must be located within 20m 150m of the dwelling;
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter commends having an actual separation distance stated as the Auckland Unitary plan just says 'in close proximity' which causes significant interpretation issues, however a minor dwelling 20m away from a main dwelling is far too close and does not allow for existing site restraints such as curtilage area, effluent disposal fields and other ancillary buildings. Everything in the rural area is at a much larger scale than residential environments and 150m is not far, so it will have no significant increase in potential adverse effects than 20m would. 150m will make a huge difference to the functionality of the rural property and will allow some degree of privacy between the main dwelling and minor dwelling.

Summary of Decision Requested

Amend Rule 22.3.2 P1(b)(i)-Minor dwelling as follows:

The minor dwelling must be located within ~~25m~~ 50m of the dwelling.

Decision Reasons:

- The submitter generally supports this provision, however, it impacts (along with other residential activities) on the identification of potentially affected persons for an application for a new intensive farming activity needs to be considered in relation to Rule 22.3.7.2(a)(vii).
- The submitter is also unable to find in Council's Section 32 report for the Rural Zone the justification for a 20m separation distance.
- There is no longer a requirement that the minor dwelling has to be occupied by a dependent relative, therefore a larger separation distance would provide enhanced privacy between residents of each dwelling.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter has serious concerns with the proposed planning approach. It is overly restrictive and will inappropriately capture farming relating buildings and structures such as stock yards. A permitted activity response with associated restricted discretionary activity rule is more consistent with the Proposed District Plan rules framework and the matters which Council should focus on are easily defined. The submitter understands the purpose of the rule is to manage the adverse effects of buildings and structures on Outstanding Natural Feature's (ONFs) and Outstanding Natural Landscape's (ONLs), however the proposed rule makes no distinction between development which is appropriate and that which may have inappropriate effects on the values of the ONFs and ONLs. The district's landscapes are inhabited by people and subject to human activity and change; they have never been static. The rural landscape in particular has been shaped by the activity of people and more recently farming activities over several generations, and will continue to be in future. Submitter supports the development of workable solutions for the management of ONFs and ONLs across the district. But there is no reason for normal rural activities such as construction of farm buildings and structures or placement of large tanks to be subject to the expense and time delays associated with discretionary resource consents. The submitter has concerns with both the use of the term 'Outstanding Natural Character' Area and 'High Natural Character Area' and the lack of consultation through which they have been incorporated into the proposed plan. The submitter requests that only natural features and natural landscapes that have demonstrable outstanding natural qualities are identified and mapped as Outstanding Landscapes or Features are therefore subject to this Rule.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.3 Land Use - Building > 22.3.4 Height > 22.3.4.1 Height - Building General
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 22.3.4.1 Height - Building General, to include the following: 22.3.4.1 Height - Building General The maximum height of any building must not exceed 10m, except hose drying towers up to 15m associated with emergency service facilities. AND Amend the Proposed District Plan to make further or consequential amendments as necessary to address the matters raised in the submission.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Fire and Emergency New Zealand supports the height standard in Rule 22.3.4.1, however an inclusion of a specific exemption will appropriately provide for the operational requirements of Fire and Emergency New Zealand. Fire stations are single storied buildings of approximately 8-9m in height and are typically able to achieve the height standards in a District Plan. Some fire stations also include a hose drying tower of between 12-15m in height. Fire and Emergency New Zealand considers that the inclusion of an exemption for associated structures better provides for the health and safety of the community by enabling the efficient functioning of Fire and Emergency New Zealand and is consistent with the typical height of similar network utility structures.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A 10m height limit is not sufficient for horticultural sheds. Horticultural sheds require additional height for bin storage and air flow for drying produce such as onions. Retain the property at 180 Horsham Downs Road, Horsham Downs as not having a Significant Amenity Landscape identified on it.

Decision Reasons:

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The OLS (as notified) is necessary to ensure compliance with Civil Aviation Circular AC139-7 Aerodrome Standards and Requirements for Code I aerodromes operating on a VFR and an IFR (non-air transport) basis. The extent of the OLS is described in Chapter 29 – Appendix 9. Rules are also provided in the PWDP to protect the OLS from being breached by buildings, structures and vegetation. Although Rule 27.3.1 as notified correctly protects the proposed OLS from buildings, structures, trees and other vegetation, the corresponding height rules in other zones omits reference to 'trees'. It is critical that there is consistency amongst OLS provisions and that the provisions control 'trees' as well as buildings, structures and other vegetation. It is proposed that the relevant rules in each chapter are amended to align with the (correct) wording in Chapter 27, Rule 27.3.1.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter supports Rule 22.3.4.4 PI Height – Building and vegetation in a battlefield view shaft area as this height range would allow for a reasonable sized building within the large viewshafts, yet is not so large that the entire battlefield could be obscured. It is appreciated that as a discretionary activity the assessment can be very broad. If a person wants to cover more than 500m2 they will be compelled to buy a block in excess of 3ha and have excess land that they may not have wanted. It will make blocks of less than 3ha worth less and encourage subdivision of larger blocks, which is a waste of land. It is not unusual for a good house to be in excess of 500m2 these days.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A building coverage of 850m² would provide for a dwelling, minor dwelling and sufficient ancillary buildings (such as implement sheds, storage sheds, workshops and farm buildings) on the submitter's property. The notified limits (the larger of 2% of the site area or 500m²) are not logical and have been carried over from previous district plan reviews. The rules for boundary setbacks and building height are sufficient to manage adverse effects for smaller properties where a large building coverage is not achievable.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter has sought that artificial crop protection structures be excluded from the definition of building. Should this be rejected, the submitter seeks that artificial crop protection structures be excluded from the building coverage rule. Artificial crop protection structures are open structures - any materials used are necessarily permeable to allow water through and to control temperature. As such, these structures do not impact on stormwater run-off. It is considered that the proposed limits are too restrictive for the rural environment. A number of large scale buildings are required to support ordinary farming activities. This is particularly relevant for rural industry activities such as pack houses and cool stores. The submitter purports that the presence of large scale buildings in the rural environment forms part of the rural character and amenity. The section 32 report comments that controls of height, setbacks and daylight admission are necessary to control the dominance of buildings on the landscape. However the report does not provide sufficient explanation for why a 500m² limit is applicable in this instance. The submitter contends that large scale buildings, such as storage sheds, cool sheds and packhouses are activities that are anticipated in the rural landscape.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Subsequent to the hospital's initial construction, Ngaakau Tapatahi Trust, applied for, and obtained, multiple resource consents to accommodate the hospital's expansion. Consents triggered because the hospital exceeded the maximum site coverage permitted in the Rural Zone (2% of the site area, or 500m2, whichever is the larger, and/or because non-residential buildings are limited to a maximum of 400m2 (hospital already around 1400m2). Thus any form of physical development will trigger a resource consent requirement, irrespective of whether the hospital operates in accordance with original consent conditions. Inability to avoid RMA consent triggers is time-consuming and costly. Over-development of the site will not occur due to philosophy and management by the Trust.

Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 22.3.7.1 Building setbacks, to promote a more efficient use of land and not prejudice future (more intensive) subdivision of non-productive rural land, including setbacks of 12m for lot sizes 4ha or smaller with boundaries that neighbour 1.6ha or smaller lots.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A 25m setback from boundaries, other than a road boundary, is unreasonable and would adversely impact on the ability for the submitter to use their land. • Two boundaries for the submitter's property adjoin properties that are less than 1.6ha. Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> This rule should be allowed to be infringed where the written consent of the owners and occupiers of the abutting site(s) have been obtained. This should be specified as per the Franklin section without the need to pay Council $350 to process a permitted boundary activity. A 25m boundary setback can be significant for a site under 1.6 hectares and can unduly restrict the use of the land. The 12m boundary setback referred to in other instances could be appropriate here as it is unclear as to what an extra 13m in an open rural landscape would achieve in relation to reducing reverse sensitivity effects from adjoining land. For example, 12m is still sufficient for a person on a property less than 1.6 hectares to establish screen planting or internal fencing to reduce potential effects. It is unclear as to why a habitable building on a property greater than 1.6 hectares needs to be 25m from every boundary other than a road boundary. While these properties are larger and have more room to accommodate the setback, we don't see why a 12m setback would not be adequate here similar to the reasons given above. Many existing dwellings, especially within the former Franklin District, will encroach into the new boundary setback. While these will have existing use rights it would mean any minor dwelling, extension to the existing dwelling or accessory building, within the curtilage area or the existing dwelling may not be able to comply with the permitted setback standards resulting in an increase in consents at additional costs to these land owners. The existing rural environment should be considered in the development appropriate boundary setbacks rather than applying the Operative Waikato Section Waikato District Plan standards which don't adequately reflect the existing environment or building setbacks. Council's Section 32 report for the Rural Zone (pg 84) states that larger setback are required if the neighbouring lot is over 6 hectares for reverse sensitivity reasons. However, there is no justification as to why 25m is an appropriate distance.

Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The submitter opposes building setback provisions that are proposed in Rule 22.3.7.1. Proposed building setback provisions do not provide certainty with respect to the proposed Retirement Village Development at 180 Horsham Downs Road. The provisions don't include a building setback from the Waikato Expressway. The provisions do not include any activity specific setbacks for a Retirement Village. Building setback provisions stated in Rule P1, P2, P3 and P4 and RD1 should not apply to a Retirement Village. Provisions in Rules P3 and P4 would currently apply to 80 Horsham Downs Road. The size and number of certificates of title is likely to change, as a result of the subdivision associated with the proposed Retirement Village. Existing building setback rules do not provide for Retirement village development. The building setbacks for a Retirement Village (P1-P4) should not refer to the size of the Record of Title. References to "habitable" and "non-habitable" buildings are not defined and not relevant to retirement villages.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.3 Land Use - Building > 22.3.7 Building setbacks > 22.3.7.1 Building Setbacks – All boundaries
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 22.3.7.1 Building Setbacks - All boundaries, by deleting P1 (a)(iii) and amending P1 (a)(iv) as shown below: P1 (a) A habitable building located on a site less than 1.6ha must be set back a minimum of: ... (iii) 25m from the boundary of an adjoining site that is 6ha or more; (iv) 12m from the boundary of an adjoining site that is less than 6ha.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The operative rule in the Franklin Section which requires a 10m setback has worked well. A 25m setback is too restrictive and not justified. There is no discernible difference between a 25m setback and 12m setback. A 25m setback restricts houses from being built on more appropriate sites.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.3 Land Use - Building > 22.3.7 Building setbacks > 22.3.7.1 Building Setbacks – All boundaries
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 22.3.7.1 P2 (a)(iii) Building Setbacks - All boundaries, as follows: P2 (a) A non-habitable building located on a Record of Title less than 1.6ha must be set back a minimum of: ... (iii) 12m from every boundary other than a road boundary.
Decision Reasons:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The proposed 12m setback is too restrictive for a non-habitable building and many people move to rural blocks so that they have space for a garage or shed.

Plan chapter	Section C Rules > Chapter 22: Rural Zone > 22.3 Land Use - Building > 22.3.7 Building setbacks > 22.3.7.1 Building Setbacks – All boundaries
Summary of Decision Requested	Amend Rule 22.3.7.1 P3 (a)(iii) Building Setbacks - All boundaries, as follows:

P3 (a) A habitable building located on a Record of Title 1.6ha or more must be set back a minimum of:

...

(iii) ~~25m~~ 12m from every boundary other than a road boundary.

Decision Reasons:

- The proposed 25m setback is too restrictive and not justified.
- Small rural blocks are usually created on undulating land with low class soils and a 25m setback will restrict the location of a dwelling.
